Because of the scarcity of the "flu" the ban has been partially lifted in Joseph, the schools only being closed.

LARGE FLOUR SHIPMENTS

PORTLAND—Due to the cancellation of orders for ships which have been used in transportation, and additional ships which will be sent to northwestern ports this winter being available, an unprecedented volume of business is expected by millers of Oregon and Washington district. At a meeting of the North Pacific Millers Association held in Portland this week it was determined that large consignments of flour would be sent to Europe during December and the early months of next year. An objection was filed with the grain corporation following the increased mill feed price which had been allowed by the Grain Corporation to the Nevada and Utah manufacturers. In case the objection is sustained manufcturers in the two plateau states will be prevented from selling their flour at Oregon ports at greatly reduced price.

Birds Speak a Language.

The birds and animals do not use a great many words or sounds, but they can certainly understand each other, writes George F. Burba in the Columbus Dispatch. That is, they are able to converse with each other to some extent. There isn't any doubt about it. They have their alarms of danger; they have their distress calls; they have their softer tones of affection.
