DOROTHY DALTON'S NEW ROLE QUITE DIFFERENT

After playing the part of a Canadian girl in the Fox Northwoods, wherein she used furs and dog sleds and lived the hazardous life of a game-hall denizen, pretty Dorothy Dalton, the famous "Thousand Faces" star, will appear in a strong dramatic drama entitled "The Making of Marcella," written by Joseph Franklin Poland and directed by E. William Hall under the supervision of Mr. Ince.

"The Making of Marcella" offers a decided contrast to "Tyrant Fear," her previous Paramount release. In her latest photoplay, Miss Dalton portrays the role of a modiste's model who becomes involved in another woman's plot to obtain a divorce with alimony. There is a deep love interest and the development of the story affords Miss Dalton ideal opportunities for the display of her manifold talents.

As is the case in all of her photoplays, Miss Dalton is finely supported in "The Making of Marcella," which will be displayed at the Arcade theatre today. The players in this picture are the most important that have been chosen for her support in a long time. These include: Thurston Hall, Jeanette Hansen, William Conklin, Milton Ross, Spottiswoode Aitken, Donald MacDonald, Buster Irving and others.

SHERRY'S

ETHEL BARRYMORE. America's foremost actress, Ethel Barrymore, was seen at her best in one of the most original and entertaining of comedy-dramas, "Our Mrs. McChesney," at the Sherry theatre yesterday to a large and thorough appreciative audience. Last evening today.

The picture deals with the adventures of a young traveling saleswoman, Emma McChesney, played by Miss Barrymore, and was adapted for the screen from the play of that name written by George V. Hobart and Edna Ferber, in which the clever actress had a long and successful Broadway run. Both the play and the picture were written from Edna Ferber's famous stories.

Emma McChesney, on the road for a manufacturer of petticoats, hears that her firm is on the verge of collapse and devises a scheme whereby she saves the situation and the business. She has a son, Jack McChesney, at college, who is giving her all sorts of trouble—she is wild and reckless and she decides among other activities to reform him. His romance with a chorus girl happens at the same time that the head of the firm falls in love with Jack's mother, and many complicated situations arise and much comedy is caused by the double love story. It all works out in the

BIG U. S. NAVY BASE

Not Establishment Maintained on Deno Coast.

Is Composite of Navy Department and of an American Navy Yard.

Here on this rugged Breton coast is a new naval establishment which is a sort of composite of the busy activity of the navy department at Washington and one of the big navy yards on the American seaboard. The American naval force 30 French waters has its headquarters here, with an executive staff quartered in one of the largest buildings of the city, fronting the Place President Wilson. American bluejackets are on guard at all the entrances and ready files of American naval officers and sailors cross the corridors on their various duties.

Besides the rest of the port itself, this is the naval-administration center for 300 miles of the French coast, divided into three districts, with a number of the chief ports into which the masses of American men and material are pouring.

Aside from the American transport fleet which comes and goes, there is a standing personnel of officers and men in these districts, with some eighty ships—destroyers, repair ships, converted yachts, mine-sweepers and naval tugs. The shore establishment is on the same extensive scale, with aerodromes for balloons and airplanes, great stacks of coal and mammoth tanks for fuel oil.

Naval headquarters is in constant wireless touch with the main range of the naval activity, along the 300 miles of front and far out to sea, where the convoys are steadily moving in and out.

It is a huge work this big establishment is carrying on. On the strictly naval side are the defensive and offensive operations—defense of American and other allied shipping across the Atlantic, and offensive in the war of extermination being made against enemy submarines.

Outside of the naval operations there is the steady march of a vast naval construction at all the ports along this 300 miles of sea front, repair plants, fuel stations, oil tanks, water works and all the requirements of a great naval establishment which is constantly expanding.

CLOSE HOLES IN MACARONI

Uncle Sam Must Save Cargo Space and That's Reason for Innovation.

New York.—They're gone and abolished the hole in macaroni in order to save cargo space. They've done it. This startling report has just leaked back from France, and it explains the recent strained ways of the great city's macaroni, vermicelli and spaghetti makers. Ho-ho-ho! Most unnatural!

However, Uncle Sam must save cubic miles of room on his stupendous transportation undertaking, Spauldett, without the vent, the hole, is just as good, tastes even more solid and saves, the discoverers of its former air escaping regional in great bulk, many cubic blocks of room. In the A. E. F. it goes under the name of "stiggies."

What will New York's hardpressed, unconventional and temperamental element do if veteran doughboys import a Vogue on their triumphant return of "wiggies," without holes, into all the city's places of red ink and this slippery savor?

and, however, and Ralph W. Ince, who directed Miss Barrymore in the production, deserves well-merited praise for the clever work shown in the play.

The cast which surrounds Miss Barrymore is in itself a list of noted players and includes such names as Runtley Gordon, who plays T. A. Bunk, Wilfred Lytell, Lucile Lee Stewart, John Daly Murphy, William H. St. James, Walter Percival, George Trimble, Sammy Cooper and Fred Walters.

A Fatty Arbuckle Comedy finishes the bill.

vention of these interested will be in the Green room of the Portland Chamber of Commerce December 12th, 13th and 14th. That the organization of a state chamber will be of benefit to Oregon is indicated in the report received, some of the writers of the state can Oregon be brought to a high state of development. No one in the union offers better opportunities for the investment of capital in farming, stock raising, wool growing, dairying and cattle raising. No sections are needed for irrigation systems, and communities already thus equipped may be given great aid through such an organization.

On the other hand, Oregon has hundreds of thousands of acres of leased-off and burned-over lands available for development, and a million or more acres of lands suitable for pasture await proper utilization. There are so many diversified opportunities in Oregon that only such an organization as is proposed properly can solve the manifold problems which will be presented from time to time.

In this connection, the suggestion comes from several persons that the State Chamber of Commerce should include an affiliated organization, the Dairyman's Association, the Wool Growers' Association, the Oregon Irrigation Congress, the Cattle Breeders' Association and a number of such organizations already established in this state, but now working independently, and to a degree, minus the incentive which might obtain were all such associations affiliated with a major association such as the State Chamber of Commerce.

One suggestion is that each of such associations continue with their present officers, but maintaining membership in the State Chamber, as one of the "sections" of that organization, as "The Wool Growers' Section of the State Chamber of Commerce." The general secretary of the state chamber, or Oregon chamber, whichever the convention adopts as the style of the proposed association, necessarily would keep in close touch with all the activities of each of the various associations of each of the various members of the major association. By thorough cooperation of all development associations, the Oregon Chamber of Commerce would accomplish it better and more expeditious fashion the work which will be delegated to it in the general plan for a higher development of the resources of Oregon.

Mrs. Christensen Gains 36 Pounds

Health Was Completely Shattered When She Began Taking Tanlac.

"Just give me Tanlac and you may have all the other medicines," said Mrs. C. W. Christensen, residing at 1814 South 44th street, Tacoma, Washington.

"Those who have not seen me since I began taking Tanlac," continued Mrs. Christensen, "would hardly know me on first sight. I have undergone such a change. Why, do you know I have actually gained thirty-six pounds. It hardly seems reasonable, but it's the truth. I had suffered from nervousness and frequent dizzy spells for seven years, and my sleep was so broken, and I was so tired that I hardly felt like getting up in the mornings. My back felt like it would break in two, it hurt me so badly and my kidneys bothered me all the time. Everything I would eat tasted bad and my stomach was so upset that I could not eat more than one meal a day, and that a very light one. Besides all this, about eighteen months ago, I was in an automobile accident, and have since almost a nervous wreck ever since. I thought my condition was bad enough before, but afterwards my health was completely shattered. The pains in my back were unbearable, my stomach got worse and I was in dreadful pain. I lost weight until I got down to only ninety-eight pounds, was hardly more than a frame, and was confined to my bed for several weeks.

"Finally a friend of my husband advised him to get me to try Tanlac, and my improvement commenced with the first bottle. I have been gaining in weight and strength ever since until now, my troubles are not only gone, but I feel just as strong and well as I ever did. I eat just anything and enjoy it and nothing hurts me a particle. My nerves are strong and steady and I sleep so well that I'm glad for night to come, and getting up time comes so early for me in the mornings. Tanlac has certainly brought health and happiness to me and I can't say too much in its praise."

Tanlac is sold in La Grande by Silthorn and Richardson Drug stores; in Union by L. A. Wright; in North Powder by L. A. Russell and in Elgin by Scott E. Harris.—Adv.
