

SPECIAL SERVICES AT ISLAND CITY

As a part of the Centenary celebration the Island City church is holding a series of Evangelistic services under the leadership of Rev. Ira R. Aldrich, district superintendent.

BRITAIN WILL CARE FOR SOLDIERS GRAVES

LONDON. Beautification and care of thousands of cemeteries in every part of the world will be undertaken by Great Britain at one of her after-the-war duties.

Plans for the work already are being worked out by the imperial war graves commission which recently sent to France Sir Frederick Kenyon, director of the British Museum.

No private memorials will be permitted in the cemeteries. Headstones will be identical for men and officers alike as memorials of equal sacrifice.

It is planned to erect in each cemetery a cross and another monument which, it is proposed, will be "one great, fair stone of fine proportions, 12 feet in length, lying raised upon three steps, of which the first and third shall be twice the width of the second, and that each stone shall bear, in indelible lettering, some thoughts or words of sacred dedication."

Arrangements will be made in all cemeteries in which Indians are buried to conform to their east and west practices.

Although the majority of British soldiers fell in France and Belgium, cemeteries will number hundreds in other lands, some of which are Mesopotamia, Palestine, Syria, Egypt, Gallipoli, Malta, Mudros, Gibraltar, Rumania, Italy, Cyprus and China.

It is expected work of establishing the cemeteries will require several years. Because of the fact that thousands of Britishers were buried where they fell in France and Belgium, the work will be made most complex. In some cases it will be impossible to transfer the battlefield graves.

INCREASED PRUNE ACREAGE. ROSEBURG, Jan. 11.—According to the county Dept. of Agriculture, the prune orchards in the county will plant several hundred acres to prunes the coming year. This valley is recognized as one of the big prune sections now.

Need Animal Food.

It has been found that such animal food as milk, eggs and meat contain growth-producing substances in quantities sufficient for the rapid growth and development of the body. While these substances are found in certain vegetables and grains, they are in quantities so small that often in the ordinary diet sufficient quantities are not consumed to meet the needs of the growing body.

Concerning Snakes.

Poisonous snakes have diamond-shaped heads about four times larger at the jawbone than at the neck, according to World Wide Magazine. They also have blunt tails. Non-poisonous snakes have sharp heads which are nearly the same size as the neck and sharp tails. All snakes, however, are poisonous during the "shedding" period of seven days. They go blind two days before "shedding."

Lightning Calculation.

An eminent electrician has figured out the horsepower of a lightning flash. The amount of light given by a single lightning flash is sufficient to illuminate an area two miles square with an average illumination of one candle. To produce such an illumination, he estimates, the expenditure of 13,000 horse power for one second would be required.

Use for Prejudice.

Prejudice must serve some useful purpose since we all have it. Demos-trations valued distrust. When the argument of antecedent probability is shelved for all time there will be no partisans, no nations—only uncared-for cemeteries.

Naval Names Perpetuated.

Few of the famous British regiments still bear the names under which their early battle honors were won, but the navy—whose record of fame dates from a much earlier period than the army—has consistently followed the policy of perpetuating her famous names. The name of a famous battleship is handed down to a capital ship, while a famous frigate or sloop is perpetuated in a modern submarine or light cruiser.

Likes Hot Stuff.

The common green frog has been discovered to possess an insatiable greed for wasps. This extraordinary appetite does not seem to be in the least checked by an occasional sting. The perfecting color of the frog, which sits motionless upon leaves, no doubt decides the most wary of insects into a sense of security.

Two Suits for Matrons

To dress or not to dress, beyond the degree of formality that characterizes the handsome silk or wool suit—that is the question that is being answered every day. And suits, they say, are selling in greater numbers, as compared to other apparel, than ever. They are much advanced in price, too. It looks as if the handsome suit is destined to take the place of special afternoon and evening clothes, during the winter season at least and that velvet will run a close second to wool cloths. It cannot be much more expensive.

Aside from motives of patriotism, which call for a sacrifice of wool on the part of civilians, the velvet suit is the best choice for matrons. Its richness and durability, and the success with which it can be freshened up, after doing much service, recommend it to her. A very chic new model in velvet appears at the left of the two figures in the picture above. Like so many of the garments made for this winter, it looks like a combination of two styles, and one is liable to look twice before deciding whether it is an afternoon frock that resembles a suit, or a suit that wishes to play the part of a frock. Anyway, it is handsome and trimmed with a bit of fur in collar and sleeve bands. It is made of ponce velvet and in black or dark colors.

The figure at the right displays a suit pure and simple of velours, with collar and cuffs of Hudson seal. The coat has a paneled back making place for handsome hand embroidery and the narrow belt is enriched with a little work of the same kind. Buttons in precise rows at each side, hardly needed, nevertheless, are there, lending a flavor of general utility in case the suit must do double duty.

Use Your Furs. Detachable fur cuffs, collars that may be snapped, fastened down to form shawl collars or covers or wrapped around the throat scarf style, detachable vests and panels that fold up to form muffs are fashioned and worn by well-dressed women. The inventiveness of a woman on this point tells amazingly as to her aversion for suits, coats or one-piece dresses.
