JOHN D. SUTHERLAND DEAD.
SALEM, Jan. 14.—John D. Sutherland, for twenty-eight years connected with the state treasurer's office, died suddenly, without warning, while seated in a chair at his home last night. Mr. Sutherland was 61 years old. He was born in Canada April 12, 1859. He had been calling at the home of C. O. Rice, a neighbor, and returning home, he picked up a newspaper, which he was reading when he died. Mr. Sutherland was recently appointed to his position by O. P. Hoff, successor to T. B. Kay as state treasurer. Mr. Hoff announced today that Lester B. Davis will be his successor as cashier in the treasurer's office.

CAPRONI CARRY PASSENGERS
ROME, Jan. 14.—The problem of carrying passengers in airships is the subject of deep study on the part of Italian experts and the results so far are considered very satisfactory. It is hoped to start a regular mail and passenger service between the principal cities of Italy.

Two Caproni machines spreading about thirty-five metres of wings each (more than 11 feet) started from Ferrara for Rome. They covered the distance of 400 kilometers in three hours. Each plane carried twenty passengers. Crossing the Apennines they encountered a storm which they rode out easily.

TURKISH DEFENSE METHODS IN PALESTINE

This photograph illustrates some of the methods used by the Turks in their vain efforts to check General Allenby's advance on Palestine. Sharp steel stakes were driven into the ground and behind them were steel hoops, ditches and barbed wire entanglements.

FIRE IN OLD TOWN.

Mulholland Residence Property on C Street Destroyed.
A fire last night about 7:30 o'clock practically destroyed the house at 909 C street, occupied by Alex. Ferguson and owned by L. Mulholland. The family were sitting quietly in the downstairs part after dinner while the roof was ablaze and the flames had gained such a start before they discovered the blaze that the whole building was in their destructive grip before the fire brigade could arrive on the spot. Only a small part of the family's household effects was saved and they had no insurance on what was burned. The cause of the fire is attributed to a defective flue.

When a Nut Isn't.

The peanut isn't a nut at all, but a member of the pea, bean and clover family. It is a legume and gathers nitrogen from the air. Peanuts do not grow from roots, but on shoots which grow out from the plant above ground, bear a little sterile yellow blossom and then shoot directly into the ground, where they grow—that is, where peanuts begin to grow on them.—St. Nicholas.

MAY MEAN MUCH TO WORLD

Aviators Believe That Flying is Bound to Have Great Influence on the Minds of Men.
Flying, in the opinion of British aviators, is going to change the character of the world's thought. It will have a broadening influence and it will bring a fresher, clearer flow of ideas into the brains of men.

A man, the flyers argue, who has seen before him at the same time the cliffs of England, the long flat fields of Holland and the smiling countryside of Belgium and France is bound to think in a different way than a man whose horizon has always been bounded by bricks and mortar, or even by hill and dale.

Traveling may have made him think nationally, but flying will make him think far more largely. He will see England and France lying close to each other, separated only by a shining strip of water. He will see the green and brown mosaic of Belgium, which in its turn merges into the distant shadow of Holland, while, still further on, across the wide Scheldt he will see the distant lowlands sweep on over the rim of the world.

How will he regard petty spites between individuals and cliques then? The birdman asks. He can cover with his thumb from the heights a feverish city swarming with a million people. What will he think of those who live next to each other and will not speak? How mean and petty their quarrels and jealousies and hates will seem.

The true meaning of human intercourse and friendship will come home to him. He will gain an almost divine outlook upon the world. Dishonesty, civil strife, all will seem to him contemptible. Perhaps, say the aviators, this is the new view which will bring the millennium.

NOTHING DOING FOR JOSEPH

Might Be the Engineer, but Found He Had Little Control Over Steam Powers.
Meekly made up his mind that he wasn't going to be bossed any longer by his wife, so when he went home at noon he called out, imperiously: "Laura! Laura!"

Mrs. Meekly came out of the kitchen with perspiration on her face, her hands covered with war flour, and a rolling-pin in her hand.

"What do you want with Laura?" she asked.

Meekly staggered, but braced himself up. "I want you to understand, madam,—and he tapped his breast dramatically,—that I am the engineer of this establishment, that I am—"

"Oh, you are, are you? Well, Joseph, I want you to understand that I—"

Joseph heard, and prayed that he might be passed Grade 1 when he went before the medical board.—London Tit-Bits.

Locating Ore Beds.

Beds of ore are stated to have been located at a distance of two and a half miles by the electrical method patented in the United States by Professor R. A. Fessenden. In the locality where the existence of valuable ores is suspected, a number of holes several miles apart are bored, then filled with water, and a Fessenden sound oscillator is immersed in one as a transmitting apparatus; the receiver submerged in each of the other holes being an Einthoven recording oscillograph. The holes may be five miles or more apart over the area being investigated. In the study of the oscillograph records, special attention is given to the relation between sounds received direct and those from echoes, and it is found possible to get a fair idea of the character of intervening masses of rock and of the position and distance of neighboring deposits of ore.

World's Greatest Soldier.

Physically, Foch is a little man, his inches are about those of Napoleon, and he has Grant's fondness for the cigar. Like Joffre, a southerner, he has frankness of speech which his old commander has never displayed. Unlike Petain his words are rarely caustic and he has many friends among all his allies. An old man, close to seventy, yet younger than Clemenceau, he was still handsome when the war began, but the strain has marked his face and only his eyes reveal an unshaken spirit.—Frank H. Simonds in Metropolitan.

CAPT. J. J. BROUGHTON PASSES THROUGH ENROUTE TO N. Y.

Captain John J. Broughton passed through La Grande last night on No. 13, enroute to New York. Mrs. Broughton arrived in the city several days ago and she with several of the captain's friends were at the train to meet him for a few minutes. Captain Broughton has been stationed at Vancouver barracks for the past eighteen months and his orders to report at New York carry no further information. Forty-nine other officers from Vancouver are also making a similar trip.

Captain Broughton was formerly foreman of the Geo. Palmer Lumber Company's box factory at this place and while a resident here made many warm friends who wish him well in his new work.

SINKS MANY HUN SUBS

French Marine Patrol is Doing Effective Service.
A report just issued by the French admiralty shows that during the month of July of this year, the aerial sea and coast patrols of the French marine covered a total of 485,330 miles.

This includes the work of the capture and navigating balloons, coast airplanes and seaplanes. Credit for the sinking of many submarines by French boats is given the aerial branch of the marine service because of its untiring work in ferreting out the sea pirates. The aerial patrol also discovered numerous groups of mines laid by German submarines in French waters.

During July, the report states, captive balloons were in action for 5,540 hours, dirigibles for 1,311 hours, airplanes and hydroaerons for 7,432 hours. During the months of June the aerial sea patrol covered 447,040 miles.

SPOILS HYMN OF HATE

Yank Shell Cuts Short Note Being Written by Hun.
A square hit from an American shell ended the hymn of hate a German non-commissioned officer was writing, in a dugout in a French village, to his sweetheart in Berlin. The letter was found near his body when the American troops occupied the town.

"Dear Frieda," the note read, "I am waiting for the time when this awful war will be over and I can come back and hold you in my arms. But first I hope it will fall to my lot to kill a dozen of these dirty American dogs who—"

The letter ended there. A shell had penetrated the dugout and blown the German to pieces.

Pearls at $35 Per Day.

Pearls at $35 a day is the computation made regarding the cost of upkeep of a single string of pearls which have been sold at auction in London.

Mme. de Falbe's pearls were sold for $237,000, the largest amount ever paid for any article of art or luxury sold at auction. Annual interest on the sum would be approximately $12,000 a year. If worn but on a few great occasions during a year, as is likely, they become more expensive than Caruso.

Hid Sugar in Pillow Slip.

Government investigators are after sugar hoarders at Pottsville, Pa., some of whom bought large supplies before the regulations went into effect. One woman was found to have 350 pounds of sugar concealed in pillow slips.
