Legislators Hear From U. S. Soldier in France Re Putting Ban on 'Smokes'

Members of the state legislature, during a lull in their business the other day, heard a rather free and vigorous statement of opinion from an American soldier on the cigarette question. The writer of the letter was evidently warmed up to his subject, for his expressions were not altogether calculated to allow consideration for the feeling of some of those who listened to the letter. He said, in part:

"There are going to be a lot of long-hairs at the session this year asking that an anti-cigarette bill be passed. They will try to get the legislation through before the soldiers get back. The cigarette has been one of the best friends the soldier has had over here. Call it a threat or whatever you want to, but the man who casts his vote against the cigarette in Oregon had better order his political tombstone, for it will be erected for him by the men who now wear O. D. on foreign soil, and mark this: We are not going to be dedicated to by a lot of old women who hung around the state house trying to pass anti-cigarette bills last year. I can hear the old sisters and brothers saying in the ears of the legislators, 'We must guard against the morals of our soldier boys when they return.' We have spent the last few months in countries much lower in morality than our own and have taken care of ourselves and emmer clean. We think we can get along back home without a lot of folks trying to direct us."

POCATELLO JURY CONVICTS JAMES

POCATELLO, Jan. 23.—Joe James was found guilty by a jury of the murder of Rose Johnson and sentenced to life imprisonment in the penitentiary. James pleaded that the shooting was accidental after he had interfered in a quarrel between Johnson and his wife. He admitted firing at Johnson but not at his wife. James testified that Rose Johnson was "his woman" as he had been giving her money for support. The jury was out an hour and fifteen minutes.

OLD AGE STARTS WITH YOUR KIDNEYS

Science says that old age begins with weakened kidneys and digestive organs. This being true, it is easy to believe that by keeping the kidneys and digestive organs cleansed and in proper working order old age can be deferred and life prolonged far beyond that enjoyed by the average person.

For over 200 years GOLD MEDAL Hanriem Oil has been relieving the weakness and disability due to advancing years. It is a standard old-time home remedy and needs no introduction. GOLD MEDAL Hanriem Oil is enclosed in odorless, tasteless capsules containing about 5 drops each. Take them as you would a pill, with a swallow of water. The oil stimulates the kidney action and enables the organs to throw off the poisons which cause premature old age. New life and strength increase as you continue the treatment. When completely restored continue taking a capsule or two each day. GOLD MEDAL Hanriem Oil Capsules will keep you in health and vigor and prevent a return of the disease.

Do not wait until old age or disease have settled down for good. At the first sign that your kidneys are not working properly, go to your druggist and get a box of GOLD MEDAL Hanriem Oil Capsules. Money refunded if they do not help you. Three sizes. But remember to ask for the original imported GOLD MEDAL brand. In sealed packages.

SHERRY'S

Madge Kennedy's existence in "The Fair Pretender," her latest Goldwyn production, is just one scrap after another. The charming Goldwyn star delights in the role, nevertheless, for Madge Kennedy of the screen is no different from Madge Kennedy of the stage. Her greatest successes in the spoken drama were achieved in "Over Night," "Twin Beds" and "Fair and Warmer"—plays in which she had roles demanding plenty of strenuous action.

Miss Kennedy, as Sylvia in "The Fair Pretender," finds herself in hot water right from the start. As a typist in a theatrical office it would seem but natural that she should aspire to become an actress. Often she tries to impress her employer with her historic talents. But one day while displaying them the employer's wife happens into the office and finds Sylvia a Juliet in her husband's arms. After a tussle with the enraged woman, Sylvia loses her job and has to seek cheaper living quarters.

She rents a place in a New York rooming house, where cooking by the occupants is regarded as a capital offense. One evening while snoring about as Gotham rooming-house keepers seem to delight in doing the landlady smells burning steak and traces it to Sylvia's room. Then ensues battle No. 2 for Miss Kennedy, from which she emerges a trifle the worse for wear.

Madge Kennedy gets all the action she wants in "The Fair Pretender," which comes to the Sherry theatre today.

ARCADE

The photoplay is adapted by Charles Maigne from the stage play by Edward Sheldon. It is a sociological drama and when presented on the speaking stage caused a sensation. The film version is a decided elaboration.

Elsie Ferguson, the star, is one of the most beautiful women in the world, and has been acclaimed by dramatic critics throughout the country as America's most accomplished actress.

Miss Ferguson's greatest success was achieved on the stage in "The Outcast," a role similar to the one she has in "The Song of Songs," which is a highly sympathetic role replete with emotional acting.

Joseph Kaufman, who has been responsible for many notable productions on the Paramount program, directed this photoplay. Mr. Kaufman has been particularly successful with plays of a similar theme, and in "The Song of Songs" both the star and the director have a subject which they have proven their superiority.

Miss Ferguson is conceded to be one of the best dressed women in New York, and in this picture she wears more than a score of different costumes, which should appeal particularly to the feminine portion of the audience.

Sumptuous setting and an excellent cast, a great stage and screen star, a talented director and a play of exceptional merit make "The Song of Songs" an extraordinary production.

ELSIE FERGUSON "The Song of Songs"

HELL HATH NO FURY LIKE A WOMAN'S SCORN

This is amply demonstrated when the other woman endeavors to injure the young girl after having been jilted. In "The Song of Songs" Elsie Ferguson, as Lily Kardos, plays the part superbly, even though she has to withstand the fury of the woman who has been scorned.

And a Sennett Comedy. Last time today: Dorothy Dalton in "The Kaiser's Shadow."
