The old method of smoking meat was expensive because the process caused material shrinkage. Meat is too valuable nowadays to waste, so we use

LIQUID SMOKE

This preparation is extracted from the smoke of hickory wood. It is concentrated smoke which can easily be applied with a brush. Meat smoked by this method does not shrink, so there's a saving in weight. It is easy and economical to use and gives a decidedly improved flavor to the meat. Buy a bottle now and have it on hand when hog-killing weather comes.

KAMELA ENJOYS PLEASANT DAYS OF SQUIRRELS

MILD WEATHER AND ONLY MAIL-BOX BY CHILLY BREEZES

People of District Spent Pleasant Evening at Dance. Many From Outside Attend.

KAMELA, Jan. 28.—(Special)—The past week we have enjoyed some very pleasant days, outside of a little wind. Saturday night a light frost fell for about an hour.

Mrs. Ray Fullmer and children arrived Saturday morning to join Mr. Fullmer, who is employed in railroad service here.

Mrs. John Cunliff returned from La Grande Saturday morning, after several days' visit there with her brother, John Euborg and family.

Mrs. C. A. Norden and son, Ruby, of Pendleton, spent the week end here looking after property interests.

Mrs. Wm. Cheff arrived from Pendleton Saturday visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Dudley Blackburn. Mrs. Blackburn accompanied her home.

Bert Watson, of La Grande, arrived Saturday to take up his work as engine wiper.

Mrs. Frank Henton spent several days visiting in La Grande last week. Del Cross transacted business in La Grande Saturday evening.

The hall was a scene of much enjoyment Saturday evening, when about seventy people of the community and neighboring towns gathered to spend the evening in dancing. Refreshments were served at midnight.

A very enjoyable time was had by everyone and all departed in the wee hours of the morning feeling that the evening had been well spent.

Among the outsiders who arrived Saturday evening to attend the social event were: Ward Manken and Charlie Ebell, of Pendleton; Florence Stanchfield and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Watters, of Meacham; Phyllis Shaw, Lena Gerber, Mr. and Mrs. Basil Collins, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hickey, of La Grande; Becca Williams and Ed Ayres of Gibbon.

O. W. Watch Inspector Young was in town Monday transacting business. Mr. and Mrs. John Cunliff and son, Robert left last night for Baker. They will visit Mrs. Cunliff's mother.

Mrs. J. D. Hamilton and daughter, Louise, of La Grande, was here between trains Sunday morning. She returned on No. 6 and accompanied by Mr. Hamilton who had been here working for several days.

Miss Lillian Katherine, of Pendleton, spent Sunday visiting with her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Claud Eby.

Giles Harndon, travelling salesman for the Tri-Blu Biscuit Co., is calling on his trade here today.

WINS LOVE OF FATHER; SAVES HIS FORTUNE

Primrose Went to Him in Hate Because He had Deserted Her Mother.

Hatred of her father, who deserted her mother when she was a baby, leads Primrose, who has not seen him since she was a child, to go into his aristocratic home in the guise of an untamed mountain girl. But her lovable qualities have their effect on the austere household despite her uncouth dress and actions and finally win the affection of all. This is the fascinating theme of "Wild Primrose," the Vitagraph Blue Ribbon feature, which will be the attraction in the Sherry theatre. Last showing today.

Gladys Leslie, irrepressible and dainty star, is Primrose. Also chapter No. 9 of the great western story, "A Fight for Millions," entitled "The Escape."

There are many everyday needs that you can save dollars on during the next three days. The Golden Rule sale closes Saturday. 1-29-19

Cured at a Cost of 25 Cents.

"Eight years ago, when we first moved to Mattoon, I was a great sufferer from indigestion and constipation," writes Mrs. Robert Allison, Mattoon, Ill. "I had frequent headaches and dizzy spells, and there was a feeling like a heavy weight pressing on my stomach and chest all the time. I felt miserable. Every morsel of food distressed me. I could not rest at night and felt tired and worn out all the time. One bottle of Chamberlain's Tablets cured me and I have since felt like a different person."—Adv.

The soda water business is nowadays almost a business within itself. We notice at Silverthorn's fountain they are always busy either with their soda water customers or in preparing material for the fountain use as they manufacture nearly everything they use—thereby giving their customers the best and freshest of everything. Their hot tamales, chili con carne, enchiladas, malted milk with whipped cream are always appreciated by all. Get 'em here. 1-27-19

RID COUNTY OF SQUIRRELS

WALLOVA FARMERS TO WAGE CAMPAIGN AGAINST RODENTS

Farmers Expect Mild Winter Will Cause Loss of Some Wheat, but Outlook is Good.

JOSEPH, Jan. 28.—(Special)—The fact that the fields of many Wallova county farms are practically bare is causing farmers some uneasiness, says Mac Hoke, county agriculturist. It is thought that the many freezings and thawings of the winter months may spoil some winter wheat. The loss, if there is a loss, will not be heavy, however, as this only applies to a small part of the county. Mr. Hoke also stated that the acreage in fall wheat was somewhat smaller this year, on account of the recent labor shortage. "The crop outlook was never better."

With the assistance of a large number of progressive farmers, the county agent has launched a campaign to free the county of ground squirrels. Sam Lovell of O. K. Galtch has been appointed chairman of the work and he has, in turn, appointed a chairman in the different districts of the county. W. E. Boner is in charge of the Joseph district. A meeting will be held at the Upper Prairie Creek school house at 7:30 P. m. on Saturday, February 8th, to discuss this important phase of the agricultural work. An expert on rodent extermination from O. A. G. will speak at the meeting. All who are interested are invited.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Spray were in from the Divide last week on business.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Ryson, of Webb City, Mo., arrived last week to make their home with their son, Andy, of Joseph.

Mrs. Lena Rush arrived the last of the week from Salem, accompanied by her children. They are visiting Mrs. W. W. Darnelle.

J. D. Kelly was in from Walla Walla last week transacting business.

F. H. Gauke returned Sunday from Portland where he visited his son, who has been discharged from the hospital, after having been there for some time, following an operation. He expects to return home soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvine McKenzie of La Grande, and Mrs. L. M. Duncan, of Joseph, were passengers on Saturday's incoming train. Mr. and Mrs. McKenzie are now visiting at Mrs. Duncan's home.

Odell Marr is up and around again after an illness of several weeks.

There have been no new cases of influenza reported in Joseph for many days.

S. A. Scott went to Lostine last Friday on business.

A. E. Brown, of Portland, was in town on business the last of the week.

B. F. Eckley was in from the Divide last week.

a total distance of sixty-five miles by squaw-pack, sled and automobile, is the interesting story told in the issue of the Elgin Recorder of January 23rd. The tale, exactly as it appeared in the Record, is as follows:

"Only one who has traveled the crumbling and dizzy trails paralleling Minam river can realize the almost hopelessness of one who falls ill twenty miles from the mouth of that stream, but that the position is not altogether hopeless was related to a Recorder representative in La Grande Sunday evening by Herman Tripper, former well-known young man of Cove but now the leading veterinary surgeon of Walla Walla. Tripper, who is associated in the cattle business with Guy Dutton of this city, left Walla Walla January 1 for the Dutton ranch to enjoy an outing of a few days and to aid Ranger Foreman of Cove in building a bridge across the Minam river at that location. Accompanying Tripper was L. C. Hale, a young man of Walla Walla, who had recently recovered from an illness contracted while attending W. S. C. at Pullman. The two arrived at their destination on January 6th, going in by way of Cove. A day or two later, Hale suffered an attack of rheumatism and within a short time was utterly helpless, being unable to sit up, to say nothing of riding a horse twenty or twenty-five miles to the nearest point to get medical aid. His condition was such that Tripper and Foreman decided to leave him there invited death. They went down to the forks of the Minam to where the logging camp of the Minam Lumber company is located and held a consultation with Superintendent P. S. Robinson and employes and it was decided to make an attempt to take the sick man down the river to the little village of Minam. Cold weather had prevailed several days and it was decided to transport Hale over the ice in a hand sled which was packed in for use at the logging camp. The next morning, January 13th, Tripper and Foreman succeeded in getting Hale down to the camp, a distance of three miles, using a squaw pack. At that point he was placed on the hand sled and three men of the camp volunteered to make the trip to Minam, a distance of from fifteen to twenty miles down the river. Although the river was frozen at that point it was believed that places would be encountered where carrying the diseased man would be necessary. The three husky loggers, each with a firm grip on the ropes of the sled, and with the assuring words, "we will get him there," started on their long trip and with shouts of encouragement from their fellows, they soon disappeared from view. Fortune favored the three loggers and their ill com-countered where carrying the latter had to be resorted to. They enjoyed a good rest and a lunch at Stockman's cabin. Refreshed, they resumed the trip and pulled in at Minam at 5 o'clock that evening, tired but happy in the knowledge that they had performed in good time the task they volunteered to do.

"Awaiting Hale at Minam was Elmer Fulk with an automobile, having been directed over the telephone that runs to Cove from the Minam ranger station to proceed there and meet the party. In exactly two hours after leaving Minam, Fulk reached the Hot Lake sanatorium, where Hale is now on the rapid road to recovery.

"In a perilous condition on the upper Minam at 7:30 a. m. January 13th and to be at Hot Lake sanatorium only thirteen hours later, after a 65-mile trip by squaw pack, sled and automobile is an experience Hale will relate for many a day."
