HEAVY SNOW FALL IN JOSEPH LOCALITY

CHOKED FINE CAUSES MISUNDERSTANDING — ATTORNEYS INTERESTED IN WALLOWA JUDICIAL DISTRICT CASE.

JOSEPH, Feb. 7.—(Special)—The heavy snow which has come within the last few days is a boon to practically all concerned. The fields were nearly bare, causing farmers some uneasiness. Snow here means snow in the mountains, those who know reported that there was only three and one half feet of snow in the mountains some time ago, as compared with eleven feet last year. The new fall will add to this quite a lot making a good reserve for next summer.

Mrs. Oscar Bodmer is just recovering from a successful operation at a Portland hospital. Mrs. Bodmer is well known in this vicinity.

Supt. Strachan reports that the attendance of the grade schools is normal, there being little or no sickness of any kind to hinder the work.

Mrs. L. A. Gally came up from the county seat the first of the week to visit at the home of her daughter, Mrs. F. F. McCully.

A group of Joseph people spent a pleasant evening at the farm home of Ben Knapper last week.

The Joseph Ladies Aid of the M. E. church held a cooked food sale last Saturday which netted about $15 for the organization. On Saturday, February 15th, another will be held at the same place.

Mrs. R. G. Winston is quite ill at her home in South Joseph.

Elwin Kernan returned Wednesday from Camp Lewis. He received the service last June and now holds an honorable discharge.

Last Monday morning just as school was "taking up," Mrs. Mullin, teacher of the third grade discovered that the bricks were broken in the flue. She told the children that no school could be held that morning because the flue was broken. The children misunderstood and reported to their parents that school was closed because the flue had broken out again. It took some time to explain matters.

A. W. Schupp returned Sunday from a trip to Salem and Portland. While in Salem he was a visitor at the state house, where he went in the interests of the bill providing that Wallowa county be a separate judicial district. He was accompanied by A. S. Cooley of Enterprise.

Patriot Mullin returned Wednesday from Camp Lewis, where he was mustered out of the service.

SHOE CLERK TOO ROUGH.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Feb. 7.—Two've hundred and fifty dollars is too much to pay a woman just because a salesman handled her foot too roughly when squeezing it into a new shoe, according to the proprietors of a downtown shoe shop. They have asked that a verdict obtained by Gertrude Robertson be set aside.

HIGH SCHOOL TO PLAY BASKETBALL AT UNION

The first interscholastic basketball game of the season will be played tomorrow night when the local team will meet the Union high school at the latter town. The members of the team will drive over in machines, leaving here about 4 o'clock p. m., and they will be accompanied by several spectators. The following men have been selected to compose the team: Captain Lyman, Ash, Wright, Ledbetter, Kicette, Proctor and Stoddard.

The North Powder town team will play the high school in the local gym next Tuesday night and the Union team will play a return game on Friday night, which game probably will be the only one on the local floor this year. Baker disbanded their team and Penleton is just opening school after being closed on account of the flu, and it is not probable that games can be arranged with either of these schools.

NEW FLU CASES APPEAR.

Two new cases of Spanish influenza have been reported to the police department and placed under quarantine since yesterday. A card was put up late last night on the home of Ira Keeler, 2907 East Pennsylvania avenue, and Fred Basham's residence, 1417 X ave., was quarantined this morning. All the old cases of flu have been released from quarantine. No new cases of scarlet fever have broken out during the last few days.

RETURNED SOLDIER AND THE CITIZEN

The whole program of reconstruction and readjustment—

Is one that revolves around the question of labor.

What can we do to furnish employment to the returned and returning soldier—

And at the same time keep those who have employment at work also?

There is little use in asking Oregon manufacturers and employers—

To take on more men, if they are already loaded with their full requirements—

If our factories can sell only the goods being made—

And the demand does not increase for their products—

How can more people be given work?

It is a question that every citizen can answer and be of practical help.

Buy the goods that our Oregon factories are making—

Increase the demand for our products and the demand for men to make them increases at the same time.

Oregon manufacturers employ Oregon citizens and our factories are better in many ways—

Than any to be found elsewhere—

And to fail to buy the products is to discredit our citizens as being capable of turning out products equal to other places.

It is not a question of sympathy, jobs or subsidies—

It is simply a practical question that every citizen of Oregon has in his or her hands to answer and adjust.

If you want to really aid the movement to employ more men—

Then buy the goods that these men manufacture and thus increase the demand.

MAE MARSH SCREEN WAITRESS IN PLAY

Mae Marsh's versatility knows no bounds. Though younger than most stars of the screen, Miss Marsh has had years of experience in almost every conceivable role. But it remained for "All Woman," the latest Goldwyn production, to give her a part she had never anticipated playing—that of a country idler.

Miss Marsh, as Susan Sweeney, a New York factory girl, receives word while at work that she has inherited a half interest in a hotel in Ariondacks. Straightway she leaves her home and work to assume charge of the mountain hostelry. The place has for years been poorly managed, as a glimpse of the inn proves. Paint has been conspicuous by many years' absence, and in many other ways the hostelry appears cold and uninviting. But all this is changed very soon after Susan takes hold. She disintoxicates employees who for years have been more of a hindrance than a help, and shortly the place becomes one of the busiest spots in the mountains. The only bit of trouble she encounters is in finding a suitable waitress. But that fails to daunt Susan, and for a time she takes the job of serving her patrons herself. Miss Marsh makes a capital innkeeper in "All Woman", which appears at the Sherry theatre. A comedy and the Ford weekly. Last showing today.

Churns Better Butter In Less Time

Often the market price of butter does not really pay for the time and labor put in the milk house. Lallely-Light's power will change that. It churns better butter in less time. It does away with the hard work of churning. It gives a woman the time to look after other necessary work. In the woman's work alone, Lallely-Light will come close to paying for itself in a year's time. And it will surely pay for itself when the labor and time saved in the outside work are taken into account. You should know all about Lallely-Light, and if you will call on us next time you come to town, we will be glad to tell you all about it and show you how it works.
