FIRST SEMESTER ENDS WITH GOOD SHOWING.

Despite Handicap Suffered by Long Period of Closing Schools Are Coming Right Along.

The first semester has closed and the second opened this morning. Naturally this has been a day of anxiety for the urchins of the city, or rather was until they received their promotion cards today telling them they could go up higher. Most of the children were made happy and only a very small percentage failed to make the grades necessary. And in nearly every instance the ones failing had been ill for a long period. Special coaching will be given to the ones behind in an endeavor to make the line-up an even one and an almost 100 per cent for the semester.

Into new classes and new books, studying new subjects and enjoying every moment of school life, is the story of La Grande's public schools this afternoon. Steadily the handicap of the closing period is being overcome and many of the teachers sincerely believe there will be by the end of the school year no marks left to show what a bad effect the flu had on the schools for a time last fall.

music and light refreshments will be served.

Canada, he says has experienced the mildest winter weather they have had for a good many years, and he was much impressed by the growth of western Canadian cities during the past few years.

Dr. A. N. Mayville returned yesterday from Walla Walla, where he had been in the St. Mary's hospital for the past three weeks. He announces that he will be ready to resume his practice in La Grande tomorrow. Dr. Mayville has very kind feelings for Dr. Sommers, of Walla Walla, congressman elect from Washington, who performed the operation which restored to him the sight of his left eye. The operation was a very delicate one as the cataract was inside the eye, being thus much more difficult to remove than the external growth which is the most common form of cataract. Dr. Mayville had been without the sight of the eye thirty-three years, since he was struck by a rock thrown by another boy. The other eye has been weakened greatly by the increased strain upon it, but he hopes that in a short time his vision will become normal again.

PIONEER GRAIN MAN

Marion Koger, Former Grande Ronde Resident, Died in Walla Walla.

Marion Koger, aged sixty-six years, died at his home in Walla Walla Sunday morning from heart trouble. He has been a resident of the northwest since his infancy and formerly made his home in Grande Ronde but for the past thirty-two years has been living in Walla Walla.

The deceased was born in Boone county, Iowa, February 12, 1853, and crossed the plains with his father, William P. Koger, before he was a year old. His father was a Baptist minister and was captain of the wagon train of sixty-four wagons with which he migrated from the east.

The family landed in Linn county, Oregon, and remained there nine years, but moved to Grande Ronde valley in 1864.

The deceased was a graduate of Columbia Commercial college of Portland. He went to the Walla Walla valley in 1884 and has lived there ever since. For many years he was agent for the Pacific Coast Elevator company at Dixie and was well known as a business man of that section.

He was a prominent member of the L. O. O. F., having passed through all the chairs of that lodge.

He was married to Sarah E. Burgess on December 8, 1884, and besides his wife he leaves four children: J. W. Koger, Mrs. J. A. Farthing and Mrs. S. A. Sanderson, of Walla Walla; and Ernest A. Koger, of the Ninety-first division A. E. F., now just returned to Camp Lewis.

He also leaves two brothers, Ben Koger, of Idaho and Silas W. Koger, the well known La Grande resident. Both of the brothers were called to Walla Walla to be in attendance at the funeral.

Dr. J. C. Mack of Portland is in La Grande this week attending to his business interests in the Grande Ronde valley.

SPRING OPENING AT THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

Owing to war conditions which have not yet returned to normal, only about a third of the new fiction ordered for the public library could be delivered at once. All books which were received have been catalogued and have been placed on the shelves. Please do not ask to have new fiction reserved for you, but give all comers a chance to select from the shelves.

The usual assortment of detective stories and western adventure stories offers little that is original or novel. The best of such stories are "The Best Man," by Grace Lutz; "The Well in the Desert," by Adeline Knapp; and two animal stories by Jack London, entitled "Jerry of the Islands," and "Michael, Prother of Jerry."

New fiction may be kept one week only, and is not renewable. The list of new fiction includes these titles: "The Clarion," by S. H. Adams. A newspaper story.

"Our Square and the People in It," by S. H. Adams.

"Our Admirable Betty," by Farnol.

"Dumb-Bell of Brookfield," by J. T. Foote.

"The Leatherwood God," by W. D. Howells.

"The Castaways," by W. W. Jacobs. This is a humorous story.

"Over Here," by Ethel M. Kelley.

"Miss Haroun-al-Raschid," by Jessie D. Kerruish.

"The Eyes of Asia," by Kipling.

"Unfinished Portraits," by Jennette Lee.

"Our Next Door Neighbors," by Belle K. Maniates.

"A Reversible Santa Claus," by Meredith Nicholson.

"The Amazing Interlude," by Mary Roberts Rinehart.

"The Dark Forest," by Hugh Walpole.

"An American Family," by H. K. Webster.

"In the Heart of a Fool," by William Allen White.

"Great Modern French Stories," A collection edited by Wright.

A number of popular books which are new to this library, although old publications, are:

"Work," by Louisa M. Alcott. This was written at the time of the Civil war, but still retains its human interest.

"Looking Backward," by Edward Bellamy. One of the most popular of "Utopia" stories.

"The Making of a Marchioness," by F. H. Burnett.

"In the Sargasso Sea," by T. A. Janvier.

"Mutiny of the Elsinore," by Jack London.

"Gordon Keith," by T. N. Page.

"Bob Hampton of Placer," by Randall Parrish.

"Festivities of Oliver Horn," by F. H. Smith.

standard fiction, both English and American, a number of titles by Scott and Cooper have been added, together with these:

Burneys "Eggleston." This story of a young girl is quite as amusingly humorous today as it was a hundred and forty years ago.

Charles Reade's "Foul Play" and Wilkie Collins' "The Woman in White" are old-time "thrillers."

Hawthorne's "Twice-told Tales." Charlotte Bronte's "Shirley" and "Villette."

Reade's "It is Never Too Late to Mend."

When you can't go home to lunch, why not drop in at Silverthorn's fountain and have them serve you one of their mid-day lunches, such as hot chocolate or coffee with whipped cream and muffins, or a hot malted milk. They also serve chili con carne, eschallades and hot tamales. Their ice cream sundae are always just right. 2-10-31

La Grippe Coughs—
Stop those ugly hard la grippe coughs that weaken the system and lower the vital resistance to more serious ailments, by taking Foley's Honey and Tar.
Some victims of la grippe never fully recover the health of the lungs and the cough that "hangs on" is the cough that threatens.
Foley's Honey and Tar helps from the very first dose. It puts a soothing, healing coating on the inflamed surfaces, relieves the tightness and soreness, raises phlegm easily, and gives comforting feeling of ease and warmth. It is also good for bronchial coughs, troublesome night coughs, tickling throat and hoarseness. Do not accept a substitute.
"I had an attack of pneumonia, both lungs being involved. After recovering somewhat, my lungs failed to 'clear up,' and I suffered severe pain from coughing. I took one bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar, and it took all the soreness away and cleared my lungs of the congestion." Yours truly, J. D. Esterkin, Winston, Ga.
I was sick in bed with LaGrippe and had a very bad cough. I took Foley's Honey and Tar and it helped me so much. I kept on and it stopped my cough and I got better. So now I can around the house again. I am 75 years old. Mrs. Mary Kisby, Spokane, Washington.

A STATEMENT TO THE PUBLIC

Because the name Albers Bros. Milling Co., a corporation, has been mentioned in connection with that of Henry Albers in the newspaper reports of his recent trial, the stockholders, of whom there are ninety-five, feel the necessity of this statement, to avoid unjust reflections.

The company is in no way implicated and was not on trial, the case being strictly individual. Court proceedings repeatedly brought out and emphasized this fact. Henry Albers is in no way connected with the Albers Bros. Milling Co., as a stockholder or in any manner whatever. He was at one time an officer and stockholder, but even then held but 10 per cent of the stock of the corporation. These are facts of record.

This firm, as an institution, is entitled to its fairly earned place in public regard, and to be considered separate and apart from anything which has arisen in the Henry Albers matter.
