RANCHERS BUYING NEW SILO

EDWIN MORRISON MAKES STUDY OF CONDITIONS.

Selling H. L. F. Silo to Eastern Oregon Ranchers—Many are Bought

The search for a silo that meets requirements of this section of the country is at end, for Edwin Morrison, one of the good ranchers of the valley, has found the very silo fitted for conditions here. It is the H. L. F. made over in Washington and possesses features that no other silo thus far has shown.

Instead of the round effect being carried out which required the bending of lumber, the H. L. F. is made so that the lumber remains natural but the turn is made so gradual that it has all the merit of a perfectly round silo and yet has none of the defects of the octagon.

When Mr. Morrison ran across this silo he was much interested, so much in fact that he made a thorough and exhaustive investigation with the result that he has agreed to represent the company at this section of the state.

Already the following ranchers have ordered: Hugh Huron on the Sam Brooks farm, one 50-ton; Duncan McDonald, one 96-ton; Mike Royce, one 72-ton; Simon Woodell, one 50-ton; Miles Woodell, one 50-ton; George McDonald, one 120-ton.

That the silo is to be the great benefactor of the valley no one doubts, but it had been a hard question to find one suitable to the wind and winter. To the H. L. F. all such obstacles are overcome and it looks very much like in a very short time these silos will be on almost every farm.

ESTATE TO BE $8,000,000

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—John Jacob Astor, the 6-year-old posthumous son of Colonel John Jacob Astor, will have an estate of more than $8,000,000 when he becomes of age, instead of the $3,000,000 left him under the will of his father, who sank with the steamer Titanic in 1912. Mrs. Madeline T. Force Dick, his mother, yesterday filed an accounting as his guardian.

The report said Mrs. Dick spent no part of the income from her son's estate in 1918 and it was explained she had decided to support him from her own independent fortune, leaving the income on his inheritance to be added yearly to the principal.

BUSINESS WOMAN DOESN'T EXIST

"There's no such thing as a consistent business woman," says Mabel Normand, who ought to know, at the Sherry theatre, last showing today, as she stars in Goldwyn's "The Venus Model," in which she stands at the helm of a prosperous business and steers it to success.

"By that I mean no girl ever forgets herself completely in the responsibility of business, as men do," the star went on. "She is a woman first of all, and I have never seen one that didn't remain so, no matter how important her work in the business world might be. Her clothes, her manner, her little vanities all proclaim her sex. She never becomes impersonal, as men do."

Asked why she did not portray a sublimated business woman—a mere automaton in feminine attire—in "The Venus Model," the sprightly star shot an amused glance at her questioner as she replied:

"Because, as I said before, there isn't any such thing. Even though Kitty O'Brien—that's the character I assume—is the head designer in the bathing suit manufactory, with no end of cares and problems, she is just a girl—and in love, too. Her business instinct and her heart's promptings are constantly at war. You see, Kitty is in love with a man who is supposed to be under her supervision, and the poor girl has a hard time trying to be strict and exacting and at the same time warm hearted and appealing. She wouldn't have the man know she cares for him, yet she wouldn't dream of exercising her authority to make his work hard for him. She is just a girl, as I contend every woman is in business or out of it. So why should I make Kitty O'Brien unlike other girls?"

Mabel Normand, herself most feminine and piquant, would have a hard time being anything but the favorite of a public which loves her for those qualities.

1,500,000 French Killed.

An Atlantic Port.—France in four years of conflict to preserve her own liberty and that of the world, according to Andre Tardie, French high commissioner to the United States, has lost 1,500,000 men killed and as many wounded. America owes France an enormous debt of gratitude for this heroic outpouring of her life's blood and also for the reported saving of thousands of lives in this country and throughout the world through the discovery by French peasants of a perfect remedy for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, which, it is said, has relieved incalculable suffering and prevented thousands of surgical operations.

Geo. H. Mayr, prominent Chicago chemist, imports the ingredients and sells this remedy in America under the name of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Sold by all druggists.—adv.
