Social and Personal

Come to the Christian church tonight. You'll have a royal time at the Old Folks' concert.

Who does not like the old time songs? Hear them tonight at the Christian church.—Adv.

Rev. T. Ironette, of Portland, will arrive in La Grande tomorrow and will occupy the pulpit of the Presbyterian church Sunday morning and evening.

No music is so popular as the old southern melodies, and the people in the Old Folks' concert can sing them. At the Christian church tonight at 8:00 o'clock.—Adv.

Edwin Koehrsitz, of Union, came in last night for a brief visit with friends in town.

Frank Attebury, of Baker, who was a member of the 4th C. A. C., recently returned from overseas, is spending a couple of days with friends in La Grande.

C. L. Shaw, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Baker, was in this city for a short time this morning. Mr. Shaw accompanied the soldiers on board the troop train that went through this morning and returned to Baker on No. 6.

Claude Wright, who had been for the past year in a training school at San Antonio, Texas, returned a few days ago to his home near La Grande. Mr. Wright was attached to the mechanical end of the air service.

Parker Wilson, of Joseph, who had been overseas with the 45th Coast

Artillery, came in last night from Portland, on his way home. Mrs. Wilson came from Joseph and they went out on the branch this morning.

Dr. Ulysses F. Hawk, of Seattle, arrived on No. 6 this morning and is the guest at the Methodist parsonage of his brother, Rev. N. Sherman Hawk, and Mrs. Hawk. Dr. Hawk, who is district superintendent for the Spokane district of the Methodist Episcopal church, is here to take a prominent part in the inauguration of the financial drive which the local Methodist church has undertaken. He is to give an address at the men's mass meeting and banquet in the Methodist church this evening, and will preach at both Sunday services in that church.

Harley Richardson is back among his La Grande friends once more, and this time to stay. He had discarded the "sergeant" prefix to his name and reverts again with pleasure, he says, to plain "maister." He is going back to his former position in Silverthorn's drug store. Mr. Richardson arrived this morning from Camp Lewis, where he received his discharge from the service a few days ago. He had been in Texas for the past year, and for some time had been in charge of the work of the pharmacy branch at Kelly Field, San Antonio. A couple of weeks ago he left his work there and came to Camp Lewis in charge of a troop train from the south. He stopped off at Denton for a couple of days, to visit relatives, on his way back to La Grande.

CLARENCE WOODS REACHES NEW YORK

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Woods have received a telegram that their son, Clarence, arrived in New York yesterday, and will go to Camp Merritt, N. J., for two or three weeks before coming home. Clarence sailed for France last June with the quarter-master corps and while in France he was assigned work on building tennage for railroads. He has been in the hospital for some time and was invalided home.

Remember the Old Folks' concert in the Christian church tonight. There will be an entertainment for all. 8 o'clock sharp.—Adv.

MAN'S HEART IS WON BY A DANCE HALL GIRL

Would you trust your heart to a girl who made her living singing and dancing in a frontier drinking place? Do you think such a girl could be worthy of your friendship? In "Three Mounted Men," a masterful Universal feature in which Harry Carey appears with Neva Gerber, a man does this very thing, with full confidence in her worthiness.

Lola wasn't a bad girl at heart and she became a professional dance hall girl only so she could support her mother and herself. Her brother, Buck Masters, was a convict serving a term in jail.

One day Bill came back to the little frontier town and found Lola. He determined she must not sing or dance for drunken miners any more. He planned a stage coach robbery.

When Buck left the prison he was at odds with the warden's son over some dishonest manipulation of prison accounts. Soon afterward the warden's son sent Cheyenne Harry after him. Harry went to the little town where Buck's sister and mother lived. He met Lola and fell in love with her.

How the forger was apprehended through the efforts of Cheyenne Harry, but released by him later, is shown in "Three Mounted Men," which comes to the Star theatre Saturday and Sunday.

MASONS WILL CONDUCT FUNERAL

The funeral of the late D. L. Wyde will be held from the Bohemian chapel tomorrow (Saturday) morning at 10:30 o'clock. Members of the A. F. & A. M. of which deceased was a member, will have charge of the services. Friends of the family are invited.

"SHARK MONROE," FEROCIOUS

In describing "Shark" Monroe, the leading character in his latest picture story of the same name, in which William H. Hart is starred, in an Arctcraft picture produced under the supervision of Thomas H. Ince, C. Gardner Sullivan, the author, says: "Shark" Monroe. The name was known from Puget Sound to the Lyman channel; from Nome to the Aleutian islands and everywhere it was synonymous with the word "ferocious." In a land of hard men Monroe was a master, and many were the fearful tales told of him and his fleet-beaked sailing schooner, "The Gull."

"It was one of his favorite tricks to run in among the Russian seal preserves, perch brownly, and then play hide and seek with a puffing little Russian gunboat, finally escaping through an uncanny knowledge of the islands and waterways. A shark is the fiercest inhabitant of the seas and Monroe had been christened 'Shark' by men familiar with the sea."

"But when a beautiful girl from the east came into the Shark's life, he proved himself a man capable of great sacrifice and love, and he went through stirring adventures to prove his love for her."

"Shark Monroe," which will be shown at the Arcade theatre today adds one more to the long list of sharply-etched characters that Hart has depicted on the screen. By many critics it is said to be his masterpiece.

NOTICE TO EASTERN STAR

DOROTHY PHILLIPS CRIES AT SELF ON SCREEN

Can an actress be so affected by her own emotional work that she can cry when she sees herself on the screen?

Dorothy Phillips, star of "The Heart of Humanity," which had a long run at the Broadway theatre, was caught crying when she attended the opening performance of the picture in New York City. She was asked to explain why she should be so.

"It isn't my acting that affects me," she declared as she wiped away a tear. "It's the story. I believe I forgot it was myself on the screen. You see, an actress is subject to her director. Of course we can't help but learn something of the story, but it is only the director who knows the entire details. He places us within a certain scene and tells us to smile, to walk, to cry, or whatever the story calls for. The characters are not in all the scenes. Consequently, we have to wait until the picture is entirely completed before we get the full worth of the story.

"An actress must have imagination. That's why it is I forget I am looking at myself. I see on the screen only the characters I portray. It isn't emotion, I assure you. I've cried more over Mrs. Mann's work in the elderly mother role than I have over my own."

This wonderful production will be presented at the Arcade, starting Sunday, for a three-day engagement.

Separates Cream With Half the Labor

Lalley-Light electric power actually saves half the labor of separating cream.

This is only one instance where Lalley-Light economizes work on the farm.

It is one of the ways in which it soon pays for itself in the average establishment.

On wash day, on ironing day, on cleaning day, Lalley power is ready to cut the work in half.

Every day it saves steps and toil by furnishing the power to pump water into the house.

The safety and comfort of electricity for lighting is a big feature of Lalley-Light.

Its labor-saving power is equally important.

We will be glad to have you call on us for a demonstration of Lalley-Light that will put you under no obligation whatever.
