How Discharged Soldiers May Secure the Sixty Dollar Bonus on Release

Section 1406 of the Revenue Act approved February 24, 1919, authorizes the payment of a bonus of $60 to officers, soldiers, field clerks and nurses of the army upon honorably separation from the active service by discharge, resignation or otherwise. This bonus is not payable to the heirs or representatives of any deceased soldier.

Those who are discharged hereafter will receive this bonus on the same roll or voucher upon which they are paid their final pay.

Those who have been discharged and have received their final pay without the $60.00 bonus, should write a letter to the Zone Finance Officer, Lemon building, Washington, D. C., stating their service since April 6, 1917, the date of their last discharge and their present address which they desire their bonus check to be sent and enclosing with this letter their discharge certificate or military order for discharge and both, if both were issued.

Upon the receipt by the Zone Finance Officer, Washington, D. C., of this information and the soldier's discharge certificate, this officer will cause checks to be drawn and mailed to the claimants in the order in which their claims were received by him. The discharge certificate will be returned to the soldier with the check.

It is estimated that at least one million and a quarter persons have been discharged from the service who are entitled to the benefits of this act and while payments will be made as expeditiously as practicable, time to write and mail this many checks.

AMERIA BARR LIVES TODAY

ever written. I have lived all my tragedies since then. In my books I have put all the happiness that I could imagine."

Tragedies came early in her life. She was born in Ulverstone, Lancaster, Eng., in 1851, with the name of Amelia Huddleston. As a little girl, she lost three young brothers in quick succession by death. Then came straitened finances for the family. She set out as a teacher to earn her own livelihood. Finally settling in Scotland, she met and married at the age of 19, Robert Barr, a young Scotch mill owner. Barr soon lost his mills and money.

The young couple came to America in 1853 to start life anew. They lived and worked in Chicago, Memphis, Harrisburg, Texas, Galveston, and Austin, Mrs. Barr helping out by teaching school.

They were living in comfortable circumstances in Galveston in 1867 when yellow fever swept the city, and during the epidemic Mrs. Barr lost her husband and three sons—all the male members of her family.

She turned to literature for a lifetime with three daughters and little money. Her attempts at self-support proved fruitless in the Texas city. At the age of 40 she arrived in New York. "I had $5.18 in my purse," she said, "and was absolutely alone in the battle of life, but confident that God and Amelia Barr were a multitude."

She turned to literature for a living. Henry Ward Beecher employed her on the staff of his new journal, The Christian Union. This led to an acquaintance with many of the leading literary men of the day. Working day and night to support her family, she soon established a market for her literary wares.

"My expenses at the time," said Mrs. Barr, "were $80 a week. I had to make this. Sometimes I made less, and sometimes more."

When 50 years old and confined to her room with illness, she began to elaborate a short story into a novel. The result was her first novel, "Jan Vedder's Wife." From that day until her death Mrs. Barr wrote novels, short stories, poems and magazine and newspaper articles constantly, and, as she once said, "I never wrote a story which I was unable to sell."

Most of her famous characters were created at her beautiful home, "Cherry Croft," at Cornwall, overlooking the Hudson river, where she lived for more than 30 years.

"It is commonly said that authors are their own worst critics," she once remarked. "Nevertheless, I think that 'The Lion's Whelp' is my best book. I read 124 volumes to get the facts. It scored a financial loss. But I had the satisfaction of learning that President Cleveland liked the book so much that he read it three times before laying it aside."

Mrs. Barr was keenly intellectual. She believed in suffrage for all, and she believed in "the old-fashioned religion contained between the two covers of the Bible." She was an ardent believer in re-incarnation.

"It is not in a way, a belief," she explained. "It came to me all at once. That was 30 years ago, and I put my idea of the gradual purification of the soul through successive re-incarnation into the book that I was writing at the time 'Souls in Passage.' And in every book since then I have dropped some little seed that conveys the re-incarnation idea."

INQUIRY ON K. OF C.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 11.—Albert G. Bagley, head of the Knights of Columbus war activities on the Pacific coast, has started on a tour of the fifteen army camps and navy posts under his jurisdiction with a view to finding out whether or not there is a call for the permanent continuation of K. of C. welfare work in the army and navy.

During the past two months Bagley has been in receipt of numerous communications from army officers and men urging that the work be continued as a permanent feature. The matter is now being given consideration by the supreme council of the organization in New Haven, Conn., and Bagley, after consultation with army officials and the forty-two K. of C. secretaries on the Pacific coast will advise that body regarding the sentiment in this section of the country.

Already he has visited Camp Lewis, Vancouver barracks and Bremerton navy yard in Washington and Fort Stevens, Ore. Within the next few weeks he will make visits to all California camps and posts and Camp Harry Jones at Douglas, Ariz.

Bagley will also consult with grand knights along the Pacific coast regarding the membership drive of the Knights of Columbus, by which it is expected that the present total of 500,000 will be doubled during the present year. The quotas of the nine western states in the drive are as follows: California, 10,000; Washington, 14,000; Oregon, 10,000; Utah, 8,000; Wyoming, Arizona and Montana, 3,500 each, and Nevada 2,500.

Reports of the work carried out in the different posts will be filed in Bagley's annual summary of K. of C. work on his return.

New MOON Six-36

—thoroughly in keeping, however exclusive the surroundings may be—designed, fitted and finished to bear comparison with its popular big brother, Moon Six-66. Substance all through for smooth-running, stand-up qualities—equally at home under stress of racking hill roads and long usage.

Built to meet the demand for six-cylinder riding and driving superiority at the price of an ordinary Four—has the after-economy of a tire and gasoline saving light car.

Here are some of the Six-36's specifications: 114-inch wheel-base—Continental motor—sweeping double-cowled body and high honeycomb Federal radiator—windshield set at smart angle—beautifully finished, solid walnut instrument board, front and rear—Spicer joints—Timken bearings.

But "seeing is believing." See this car, itself—let us demonstrate for you.
