Social and Personal

Earl Chapman, of Milton, filed his homestead entry this morning at the local land office.

Dr. McAllister, of Hot Lake, was in town this morning, returning on No. 6 to the sanatorium.

Mrs. Minnie E. Davies, of Portland, visited in La Grande today and transacted business at the land office.

Mrs. J. H. Keeney left this morning for Pendleton, where she will spend a couple of days visiting with friends.

C. H. Gram, of the Bureau of Labor at Salem, is in the city today looking after matters of interest to the labor section of the state house.

Harrison Latham, who knows a good steer when he sees it but writes insurance for pastime and attends to state duties as special agent, is here today consulting Charles Reynolds on local insurance matters.

J. T. Loughary, a old-time resident of Union who now lives at Stanfield, came in this morning on No. 6. Mr. Loughary is on his way to Elgin, where his mother lives, word of her serious illness having been sent him yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Crane of Portland are in the city for a few days while Mr. Crane takes a look over the highways of Union county presumably with an idea to bidding on highway construction when the matter comes up to that point.

Ed Wright, formerly county clerk of Union county, is in La Grande today. Mrs. Wright has been here for several days and the Wright family has determined to locate permanently in the Willamette valley. They sold their home on Fourth street to E. J. Conrad.

Rev. T. S. Strawbridge, of Los Angeles, Calif., will preach in the Baptist church in this city on Sunday morning and evening. Rev. S. C. Lapham, who has been the preacher here for the last few weeks, is unable on account of illness to take these services. Rev. Mr. Strawbridge is visiting Eastern Oregon points, looking for a suitable field in which to work.

Claude Pomeroy, who was wounded at the battle of the Argonne, got home recently from Camp Lewis where he had been for the past month. He is visiting his father in town. Mr. Pomeroy had been overseas just a few days short of six months. The Argonne was the first battle of importance he was in and as a piece of shrapnel wounded him in the side of one leg on that occasion, it was the only big scrap he saw. He spent six weeks in a hospital in France and shortly afterward got his opportunity to return to this side of the Atlantic.

James A. Cook, who fought in France with the 91st division, was in La Grande this morning on his way from Camp Lewis to his home at Lostie. Mr. Cook was wounded last fall during the fighting on the western front and after spending some time in a hospital at Bordeaux, France, he was returned to the States. He landed at New York December 11th, and spent the next two months in a hospital in that city, having his wounds treated. He was then sent on to Camp Lewis for demobilization, and after a month there has reached home.

THINGS OTHER THAN BATTLE AND BOMBS IN THIS PHOTOPLAY

A war picture need not be all of battle and bomb, shrapnel and shooting, to be effective. This is proved by Cecil B. De Mille in his latest Arctcraft special production, entitled "Till I Come Back to You," which comes to the Regie theatre today and tomorrow. The story is by Jennie Macpherson and it is one of the finest pieces of dramatic writing and construction, according to report, that has been seen on the screen in a decade.

Bryant Washburn has the male lead; Florence Vidor is the heroine and G. Butler Clonbough is the villain. Winter Hall gives a Rembrandt picture of Albert, King of the Belgians. The story concerns the efforts of the American to destroy a lot of liquid fire and the failure when to save the life of the woman he loves and half a hundred little Belgian babies in her care, an American officer cuts the wires which shall explode the ammunition stored beneath the enemy supplies of the deadly chemicals.

Mr. Clonbough has a thankless role in this picture. He plays von Krutz, a polished German of the most subtle and dangerous sort who can practice refined cruelty with a skill that is uncannily horrible.

Mr. Clonbough, who is an accomplished actor and director, adds his own special personality in this character and makes the figure entirely hateful. It is a masterful piece of work, deserving of the utmost praise.
