TARZAN OF THE APES

The unusual film of Edgar Rice Burroughs' story was produced by National Film Corporation with the definite idea of placing before the fans every dollar that was invested to the tune of $200,000, shown on the screen.

Enid Markey, Elmo Lincoln, Gordon Griffith, Beanie Toner, George French, Kathleen Kirkham, Thomas Jefferson, True Boardman and Jack Wilson—all practically new figures, in so far as being featured in an immense picture play—are the principal personalities, and then in support are others comparatively as little known to the average playgoer.

"It is a peculiar picture, this 'Tarzan of the Apes.' Lions in combat with men, Leopards and jaguars attacking human beings, Apes and gorillas in fierce and primal struggles. Killing lions before the camera eye. Raiding a cannibal village, with an elephant or two taking the lead in the attack.

And intertwined are three romances. Three contrasting love stories which are flashed back to and fro with remarkable frequency, yet which dovetail into the tale with a picturesque intensity.

Now will come the discussion again as to whether others are necessary. The picture was made in the jungles of Brazil, far up the dreared Amazon River where primeval jungles fungus, overgrown and overrun with deadly snakes and insects, afforded the most remarkable atmosphere background imaginable. And the fact that a story thought by many to be impossible of transposition to the screen turns out to be one of the biggest hits in years proves again the lack of foresight on somebody's part.

Tarzan will be presented at the Arcade theatre, Saturday and Sunday.

Suits Have Come Into Their Own

Back of this spontaneous demand for the new Spring Suits there is quite a story—

Designers, for several seasons, hampered with restrictions in cloth, trimmings, etc., suddenly, found themselves permitted full reign—

New ideas sprung like mushrooms! Old lines were quite forgotten!

The new suits, some semi-fitted, some loose and flowing, with the narrow skirts, took hold instantly.

Soft serges, smart tricootines, splendid Poirer twills—these were just the cloths for braided-trimmed effects.

Oriental vest effect, touches of colors on the collar—combined with the new silhouette, made the new suits an instant "go" and we didn't hesitate to back our judgment.

HERE THE SUITS ARE ALL NEW.

Nothing old in this stock!

Buy by comparison, and you will buy here, we are sure. This is the store of Suit Values.
