FIRST PAVING UNIT FOR ENTERPRISE

Twenty Blocks in Business District Included—Other Streets to Be Improved Later.
(Record-Chiefman)

By unanimous vote, the city council of Enterprise Monday night passed a resolution creating one paving unit, consisting of the streets in the business district. Beyond this, the councilmen failed to agree. Proposals for the creation of added units on River street and on West Second, leading to the depot, were discussed but not brought to a vote. The difficulty arose from the different opinions as to the proper method to follow in disposing of the funds of the E. M. & M. company, which is so far above grade that it must be lowered before River street can be improved. This has been a bone of contention in town for years, some holding that the company should stand the expense, and others arguing that the cost should be borne by the city.

Contracts can be let for that part of the work later it was stated. Petitions asking that both be paved have been signed by the greater part of the frontage in each street, so they stand in the same position in this respect.

City Attorney T. M. Dill will draw up the ordinance for the $25,000 bond issue to pay for the street improvements and present this at the next meeting of the council. At the same time Engineer E. M. Billings is preparing his estimates of the cost which is to be assessed against the property, which will be met by other bonds. Specifications for the different kinds of paving on which bids will be asked have been drawn up by the engineer, and all parts of this preliminary work will move along together.

As the city wishes the telephone and electric poles moved from their present positions in the gutters, the attorney was directed to write the state public service commission, asking that orders be issued for the desired change. The city would prefer that the poles be taken entirely off Main street and moved to alleys

SOCIAL HYGIENE LECTURE SOON

WOMEN AND GIRLS TO HEAR HEALTH LECTURES

Dr. Louise Richter, former Government Lecturer, to Visit La Grande This Week.

Dr. Louise Richter, until March 1st government lecturer to the women and girls of the country, speaks here under the auspices of the Oregon Hygiene Society on Thursday, April 3 at 8:00 p. m. and on Friday, April 4 at 8:00 p. m. in the Star theatre.

During the war millions of the young men of our country have been in military service in the cleanest army in the world.

This army has been clean because of the educational propaganda carried on by the medical department of the U. S. army. Every boy who entered the service was thoroughly instructed in the cleanliness and the benefits of clean living.

But the government felt that in educating these millions of young men it was doing only half of what it might do to mitigate the social evil. In order to obtain the greatest possible results in clean lives and happy homes the women must be educated equally with the men.

Therefore, the government organized a corps of one hundred and fifty of the country's leading women physicians to take a social hygiene message to women and girls. These physicians were specially instructed in their work by the best authorities and they came before the country as the most competent group that could be obtained for the delivery of their message.

Oregon has had three of these physicians at different times during the past few months but the influenza epidemic has prevented their reaching very large proportions of the women and girls of the state. On March 1st, the commission to which they were attached went out of existence and it seemed that the message they have would never be brought to many who would wish to hear it.

Very fortunately, however, the Oregon Social Hygiene Society has been able to arrange for Dr. Richter to remain in the state long enough to speak in the principal centers of population that have not previously had the benefits of her lectures.

Dr. Richter has been a practicing physician for twenty-three years. She is a good speaker and her lectures are interesting as well as highly instructive. Every woman and girl in La Grande who wishes to better understand herself or her relation to society should be sure to avail herself of the opportunity to hear Dr. Richter while she is here.

There will be no admission charge to the lecture and no collection will be taken.
