12 WAR TANKS TO ADVERTISE VICTORY LOAN

Each Pacific Coast State to Get at Least One Tank to Aid Fifth Drive. Twelve tanks which have been assigned to the Twelfth Federal Reserve District for use during the Victory Liberty Loan drive opening April 21 have been assigned to the seven states in the district so that each state in the district will get at least one of the tanks to display during the campaign. The tanks have been assigned as follows: Two to Washington, one to Oregon, one to Idaho, one to Utah, one to Nevada, two to Northern California and two to Southern California and Arizona. The remaining two tanks are to be carried or special trophy tanks which will tour the district. Tanks in Sham Battle. Veterans of the American Expeditionary Forces who have seen actual service in France will be the drivers of the tanks during the campaign. Five are being distributed throughout the district for the opening of the campaign the tanks will parade in San Francisco and give a sham battle. All of the tanks are being shipped from the East direct to San Francisco. They are due to arrive there about April 6 when they will be taken to a four acre tract near the Southern Pacific freight yards and assembled by the men who are to drive them. Each of the tanks will be armed with a Starline machine gun or 37 M.M. smoke bombs with special pistols and lights. Display of War Relics. In addition to the tanks the special trophy trains will carry a complete display of relics which have been gathered on the battlefields of France and which have been shipped back to this country since the signing of the armistice. Accompanying each of the trains will be an American war hero who will speak for the Victory Loan. One of the trains will tour the Northwest and the other will travel through California and the Southwest.

Theaters BRISTLES WITH THRILLS

Mabel Normand, she of the extraordinary eyes and mad cap mood, comes to the Sherry theatre today and tomorrow, in another of her Goldwyn Pictures. This time it is "Back to the Woods" and the plot bristles with excitement and, as must be expected of Mabel Normand, wholesome fun. She is Stephanie Trent, daughter of a lumber king, who elects to go to a village as a poor little school marm that she may meet the sort of man she can love. Stephanie is weary of society beaux. And, of course she does meet him. He is Jimmy Raymond, outwardly a mountaineer, but really more than that. And Stephanie adores him at the start. Learning that he is in danger from the rough element, Stephanie goes to his lonely cabin, perched on a precipice, to warn him. Jimmy locks the door and laughs at her, declaring that he resorted to a ruse to get her there. Stephanie throws herself across the all of the open window and threatens to jump if Jimmy persist in keeping her there. Delighted, Jimmy declares that it's all right—he will use the situation in his next newspaper serial. Thus he releases the girl and she, angry and humiliated, promptly makes her identity known to her father's employer. A spirited fight follows in which Jimmy is wounded. Stephanie then pities him and he learns who she is, after nursing him to health. Nevertheless, the young fellow is firm in his resolve to use the story despite Stephanie's pleadings. What follows forms a surprising and delightful climax to a story refreshingly different. Also a big comedy.

REOPEN PRIVILEGE FOR CONVERSION OF LIBERTY BONDS

Indefinite Extension of Time Granted by Secretary Glass on Earlier Loans. The privilege of converting Liberty Loan bonds of the first and second issues into bonds of the later issues bearing a higher rate of interest which expired November 9, 1918, has been reopened by the secretary of the treasury for an indefinite period, which may be ended at such date as may be fixed by the secretary on six months' public notice. This conversion privilege applies to 4 per cent bonds of the first and second issues into 4 1/2 per cent bonds. The conversion may be made by surrendering the bonds now held to the Federal Reserve Bank at San Francisco, accompanied by a "request for conversion," on an application blank which will be mailed from the Federal Reserve Bank. Winnipeg's Great Growth. It is forty-nine years since Louis Riel, self-styled "president of the provisional government at Red River," took possession of Fort Garry, appropriated its contents, and began his ten months' reign of anarchy over a considerable portion of southeastern Manitoba. This was Riel's first gamble for power. It ended in flight. The second ended on the scaffold. There was no city of Winnipeg forty-nine years ago, a fact that reminds one of the energy and industry put forth by the Canadians who went West a generation or so ago, and of the richness of the country to which they went. MARGARET CLARK IS FINELY SUPPORTED

There is a notable staff of players who appear in support of Marguerite Clark in her newest Paramount photoplay, "Out of a Clear Sky" which will be the principal attraction at the Arcade theatre tomorrow and Saturday. In this respect at least, this photoplay is one of the best shown at any theatre in this season. The leading man is Thomas Meighan, a popular screen actor who has been seen to advantage in numerous Paramount and Arcturart pictures. E. J. Radcliffe, a well known player has a strong role, while Bobby Con-
