580 Acres For $7500.00

100 acres in good state of cultivation.,
60 acres more adjoining can be broken out.
Balance is all fine bunch grass pasture.
Small creek running through one corner; several springs; small, nearly new, house; on a main road; 3 miles from shipping station; 2 miles from school; all fenced and cross-fenced.

This is only $13.00 per acre, just a fair price for pasture land. The tillable land on this tract will yield as much per acre as the land in the valley that is now selling at $150 per acre.

This is one of the best and cheapest propositions we have ever handled. There is a mortgage on the property now for $3500, which can be assumed and the owner must have a good substantial cash payment for his equity.

"UNDER FOUR FLAGS" IS NEW WAR FILM

Third United States Official War Picture Gives Thrilling Close-ups of Battles.

With the presentation of the third United States official war picture, "Under Four Flags," at the Sherry theatre today and tomorrow by the division of films of the committee on public information, George Creel chairman, there will be shown for the first time on any screen in this country a series of thrilling episodes of battle operations of the four allied countries that bore the brunt of the fighting in the great war, America, England, France and Italy.

From the time of the council of Versailles, when it was decided to place under one command the operations of all allied forces, the picture carries the spectator to the several principal fronts and shows close-ups of a number of the principal battles that led to the turning point of the war. A clear idea of the fighting spirit of the American troops may be gained in viewing them in action in the vicinity of Chateau Thierry and along the Marne front. They are seen in close contact with the Huns and a view is given of them going over the top at 4:30 a. m. in the morning the began the action that will give them a place in history as the saviors of Paris.

In the British and French episodes the Poilus and Tommies are shown carrying out the operations that form a part of the strategic plans of Marshal Foch. Big guns are seen in action on many parts of the front; tanks are shown advancing in squadrons and scores of aeroplanes hover over the battle line. The success of the brilliant operations is attested by the streams of enemy prisoners pouring to the rear, passing the victorious forces of the allies on the same roads as they advance.

Among the thrilling views are those of the Italian episode which show the bitter fighting along the Piave and in the region of Mt. Grappa.

A two-reel Big V comedy is also shown.

VICTOR MOORE'S COMEDY

To see Victor Moore in a comedy is a delight. Mr. Moore has an excellent vehicle in "Snobs," which is the attraction at the Arcade Thursday only. In this comedy picture, Mr. Moore portrays the role of a milkman who inherits a ducal title with twenty millions of money and enters society. You must see this comedy to appreciate it to the full.

WALDO STODDARD WON MILE RUN LAST NIGHT

Yanks Keep Lead in High School Boys' Gym. Tournament at the Y. M. C. A.

By Waldo Stoddard and Roy Wilcox winning the mile run last night in five minutes and forty seconds the Yanks were able to continue in first place in the high school boys' gymnasium tournament which is being conducted by the Y. M. C. A. The Yanks are three points ahead of the Devil Dogs, who in turn are three and a half points ahead of the Tommies. The standing of the teams is as follows: Yanks 81¾, Devil Dogs 78¾, Tommies 75¼, Blue Devils 58¼.

The mile was run in fast time, considering that the boys ran on the hard pavement and that they had such sharp turns to make around the triangle. Stoddard set the pace so hard that on the fourth round there were only Lynch, Heidenreich, Theison, Wilson and Stoddard in the running. All the others had given it up. In the next turn Lynch dropped out and on the sixth Heidenreich got a pain in his side, and did likewise. The race was then between Stoddard, Wilcox and Theison. Before the finish Wilcox gained a few yards on Stoddard, but Stoddard had such a lead that it was impossible to beat him. Theison took third place in the race.

With the finish of the mile run last night the track events of the tournament were completed. The basket ball season will continue until April 21, when it will be decided who the winner of the tournament will be and the beautiful cup presented by the La Grande National Bank will be awarded to the victors by F. L. Meyers, cashier of the bank.

The basket ball games were fast and the scores in the first half were almost a tie, but in the last half the teams got their players doing team work and the Tommies and Devil Dogs won with ease. The Blue Devil team was defeated by the Tommies 13 to 23. In this game the shining lights were Bell and Oliver, the fast guards for the Blue Devils, and Theison, Heidenreich and Henderson for the Tommies. The score of the Devil Dogs-Yank game was 23 to 11. Willis Holmes, of the Devil Dogs, by hard playing was able to hold Geddes to only one basket throughout the whole game. Proctor, Brandt and Keeney did their regular good work. For the Yanks Stoddard did good work, but his shooting was poor. Lynch, the Yank captain, is developing into a first class guard and good floor man.

A Standard Test for Gasoline

The third of a series of three statements

War needs made prominent the question of a standard test for gasoline. On July 31st, 1918, President Wilson ordered a committee appointed under the United States Fuel Administration to establish specifications and standards of test for gasoline supplied to the Government. This committee consisted of the United States Fuel Administration and representatives of the War and Navy Departments, the United States Shipping Board, the Director General of Railroads, the Bureau of Mines, and the Bureau of Standards. Standards were adopted for aviation gasoline (export, fighting and domestic) and for general motor use on land and sea.

The Gravity Test Discarded

The Government's Committee on Standardization of Petroleum Specifications stated in its report: "It will be noted that there are no gravity limitations in the specifications for aviation gasoline, nor in the specifications for motor gasoline which are given later, for it has been found that gravity is of little or no value in determining the quality of gasoline." The standards adopted by the United States Government are based on boiling points.

Boiling Points the Real Test

Gasoline is known to the refiner as one member of the petroleum family. He distinguishes each member of the family, not by gravity, but by boiling points. Gravity is a fleeting standard of test, but boiling points are unchanging in their value and always determine the quality of the product. Knowing them the refiner can keep his product uniform and reliable.

What Is a Boiling Point?

A boiling point is the temperature at which a liquid will begin to boil or vaporize.

In distilling a given quantity of gasoline the refiner ascertains at what point each 10 per cent will boil, until the entire quantity is evaporated or distilled. In this way he determines what is known as the initial boiling point, as well as all intervening boiling points in the chain, up to the maximum, high boiling point.

Boiling Points Tell the Story

Boiling points determine the vaporizing and combustive qualities of gasoline. They decide the action of the gas developed from gasoline. They are the only true measure of gasoline value.

An ideal gasoline has boiling points in a continuous, uniform chain. There must not be too many low boiling points, otherwise the loss in storage by evaporation would be great. There must be just enough low boiling points to vaporize freely and give easy starting. The higher boiling points are necessary for quick acceleration, high power and long mileage.

As combustion starts with the lowest boiling points and flashes on through the gas, the continuous chain of boiling points—from the low to the high—is necessary for instantaneous, full-powered combustion. Only a straight-distilled, all-refinery gasoline can have the continuous, uniform chain of boiling points.

The United States Government Standard Specifications for Gasoline

The United States Government standard specifications for gasoline are based on boiling points—not gravity. Drafted as they were by impartial Government experts, they are generally considered, in the light of conditions today, as the most practical standard for gasoline. They insure an efficient and satisfactory gasoline and at the same time have due regard for the best utilization of our petroleum resources, and the maintenance of reasonable prices to the consumer.

Red Crown Gasoline Conforms to United States Government Standard

All Red Crown gasoline now being supplied in the Pacific Coast States is refined to conform to the United States Government Standard specifications. It is straight-distilled, all-refinery gasoline having the full, uniform chain of boiling points necessary for full-powered, dependable gasoline: Low boiling points for easy starting, medium boiling points for quick, smooth acceleration, and high boiling points for power and mileage.
