Monthly Stake Meeting
The regular monthly stake priesthood meeting of the L. D. S. church was held yesterday afternoon at the tabernacle. Announcement was made at the meeting that the stake quarterly conference would be held June 21st and 22nd next.

Harnden Driving a Dodge
Giles Harnden, who works this section of the state for the Tru Blu outfit company, is scouting around in a new Dodge machine the last few days. Mr. Harnden's company bought him the machine. The trusty old Ford will be retained in service for emergencies, says Mr. Harnden. He regards it as too valuable a worker to be parted with.

Moved to Jerome, Idaho
Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Broeze, who have been connected with the Valley Creamery the past year, have taken their departure for Jerome, Idaho, where they will continue in the creamery business for a company in the Idaho town. For the present Joan Enlish, of Walla Walla, has charge of the local creamery following the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Broeze.

Ball Players Wanted
Baseball practice will be held on the park grounds at 10 o'clock this morning, when all men in the city who would like to try out for the team are asked to show up. Next Sunday will see the first game in the league which was recently formed between La Grande, Cove, Baker and North Powder. Cuts will play at La Grande on that day and a team must be chosen and whipped into shape by that time.

She Is a Happy Mother
Miss Gilbert, manager of the Oregon Welcome Committee, today wired Mrs. George H. Curry that her son, Albert H. Curry, has arrived in New York with the hospital boys. This wire was in response to a letter from Mrs. Curry desiring notification as to whether or not he had been returned to his company in time for debarkation. For the past few months Albert had been assigned in the headquarters garage at Coblenz.

Telegrams from the Boys
Telegrams are beginning to come from the members of the hospital unit who arrived in New York Friday. While this is by no means a complete list two have been reported to the Observer. Sidney Haggerson writes to his mother from Hoboken: "Arrived April 25th temporarily at Camp Merritt; well; writing." Mrs. George Curry received from her son Kenneth this message: "Arrived yesterday; am going to Camp Merritt, N. J."

Argo-Adams Wedding
Clarence E. Argo, a prosperous young farmer of Weiser, Ida., made a hurried but happy visit to La Grande yesterday and took from the city a beautiful young lady, Miss Myrtle K. Adams, for his wife. These happy young people left on the evening train for Weiser, where they will make their home hereafter.

John Bennett Buys Farm
John Bennett, who is with the retail department of the George Palmer Lumber company, has bought from Mr. Noyes the ten acre tract adjoining the county poor farm property on the west. This was successively owned by George Wagener and J. G. Snodgrass. Mr. Bennett has moved his family out to the place and their home in North La Grande has been rented. Mr. Bennett will continue his work with the lumber company and he figures that the suburban home will be a good, sunny place to live and rear his family.

Blind Soldiers Will Not Cheat

CAMP DIX, (N. J.), March 29.—"No Uncle Sam doesn't owe me $5,000 for an eye! I've lost some things—an apology, maybe!"

A surgeon on the board of review looked up in surprise at the young soldier who was so calmly requesting $5,000 to which, by all the records in the case and the rules of war risk insurance, he seemed assuredly entitled. The record by which he was maintained into service showed he had two good eyes, the record on which he was to be mustered out indicated he was entirely blind in one eye. So the board was ready to certify at least a 50 per cent permanent disability, anything the soldier to $50 a month for life.

"I got into this game to fight for the country; not to cheat it," the boy explained to the puzzled officer. "It was this way: I wanted to go at the first call, but I knew I didn't have a shot of a snow. Well, you know how I felt in such circumstances."

"Then, suddenly, it dawned on me I might camouflage the fact that I was blind in that eye. I have a quick vision. I learned to read and quickly memorized the letters on optical charts wherever I could find them. Then I looked up the bastard recruiting station I could find and—I put it over. The surgeons passed me as A. 1."

"I went through the whole war and when they sent me back, convinced from my wounds and I got well enough to get my discharge. I was caught off my guard by the surgeon who was giving me my final once over and was checked up as having lost the sight of one eye."

"No, I don't want any insurance money. I can see as well as when I enlisted. I've had the satisfaction of doing my bit. I've had the time of my life!"

about seven weeks, is in the city for a few days organizing a circulation getting campaign for "Our Boys Magazine," a soldiers' publication. Mr. Bangs is accompanied by T. M. McCormick, also a returned soldier. Mr. Bangs was overseas with the 91st division and served in the intelligence department. It is some ten years since he lived here, as a lad, his father having worked on The Observer then. Mr. McCormick was overseas with the Canadians as a member of the Royal Air Force. He spent thirteen months across the Atlantic and has five Boches planes to his credit.

Community Chorus Practice

The regular practice of the Community chorus will be held Monday evening in the Presbyterian church at 7:30 o'clock. Business to be taken up at this meeting, aside from the regular practice work, will be the election of new officers. The chorus at its meeting last Monday evening adopted a new code of by-laws and officers will be elected as provided for therein. There are signs of a revival of interest since the appearance of the chorus at the Victory loan meeting last Wednesday night, its first public appearance in several months. It is expected that the attendance, which has been affected considerably by the long period of inactivity during the influenza epidemic, will soon be back to normal again.

County Work is Planned

W. P. Walter, county work secretary of the Y. M. C. A. for Eastern Oregon, went to Ontario yesterday to look into the situation there as regards possibilities for the carrying on of Y. M. C. A. community work in that district. The Y. M. C. A. is contemplating an extensive branching out to the smaller centers of the state, to take the work of the Y. M. C. A. into districts where there is no institution established and work for the development of community life and interest, inaugurating community games, etc. These matters were the chief subjects discussed at the recent conference of Eastern Oregon men held in this city, when A. E. Roberts of New York and I. B. Rhodes of Portland, two of the most prominent "Y" leaders, attended. As a result of this conference a campaign for the financing of the project is to be undertaken at an early date.

Joe Reynolds, former high school athlete and now attending O. A. C., has been elected chairman of a committee of Union county students which has for its purpose the advertising of Junior week-end. Invitations are issued to high school students throughout the state to be guests of the various fraternities and societies on the campus during the three days of college fun.

The Junior week-end is an annual event at O. A. C. The program this year will include freshmen symposium, basketball tournament, Pacific coast intercollegiate track and field meet, complete track meet and other games, women's stunt show and fraternity and society open house.

May 2 to 4 has been set as the date for the Junior week-end.

SOLDIERS WANT FARM INFORMATION

Of the 39,000 soldiers asking for information by reclamation and land settlement, 200 are Oregon men. The federal reclamation service complies Oregon on its program for clearing for returned soldiers and a allot for these measures are favorably acted on in the June session, a long step will have been taken in solving the problem for Oregon, declares J. W. Brewer, O. A. C. and federal rural help specialist.

"EDITH CAVEL"

The woman the General shot. Star Saturday Sunday.

ORIGON AGRICULTURE COLLEGE, Corvallis, April 24.—The good prospect taken advantage of the growing season preferred by the different garden crops, and plants such in its best season. The law already cleaned up, fertilized and plowed most of his spring garden land, and prepared and planted the rows devoted to these crops that flourish best in the cool season.

"Get good seed or crops, transplant for those early crops," says A. G. Bouquer, professor of vegetable gardening. The young plants will have to stand some pretty stormy weather and should be given a strong start. The difference in the cost of good seed and poor is almost nothing in comparison with the difference in the value of the crops they produce."

Shows the plants to be in the ground are peas, lettuce, early cabbage, kale for the vitamins, radishes and turnips, onion sets and possibly the first sowing of seed onions, beans and a little early cucumber to go with it, a lot and last making water crops. The time sowing of beans should be about according to level. See the 24th page, "Early the last results of the O. A. C. family—has been, had, and will be and turnips—only grow best in cool, moist weather, but stand a better chance to be large enough to get the danger stage before the maggot flies arrive in quantity.

Tender plants from the hot bed—tomatoes, celery, peppers, egg plants and such—are not field-set till danger of heavy frost is past. Professor Bouquer advocates about May 15 for field setting of tomatoes in the Corvallis district. "Better leave them in the hot bed to grow rapidly than put them in the field so dwarf and possibly get killed," is the recommendation.
