Understanding Each Other.

Those who fancy themselves not understood by the people with whom they have to associate might find some consolation in the fact that they themselves are not taking any great trouble to understand others. We are really not so complex or peculiar as we often imagine, and perhaps we are not worth so much study as we demand.—Exchange.

Putting Off the Dark Moment.

Robert had been arriving home late from school. At nighttime his mother told him if he repeated the offense she would punish him. When he came home that evening it was five o'clock and supper was ready. Upon seeing his mother he thought he might coax her into forgetting and said, "Mamma, I'm nearly starved—let's eat first and talk business later."

Don't forget the reception to be given in La Grande by the Army and Navy Auxiliary to every boy in Union county who is entitled to wear a uniform. Watch for the date. 4-28-5t

It is earnestly requested that each day, young and old, in Union county who has worn the uniform of Uncle Sam be in La Grande one hour before the hospital unit train comes late this week and all such men participate in the parade. 4-28-5t

The picture work at Silverthorn's, where prompt service is an object with them, will be sure to please you. Why not let them do some enlargement of pictures for you? 5-1-5t

Barometric Violin.

Abram Moses, a violinist of Baltimore, is the possessor of what might be called a barometric violin. Some time after Mr. Moses bought it, he noticed that at certain times it exhaled a strange and subtle fragrance, like an aroma of Oriental incense. Later, he observed that this fragrance was noticeable only when the weather was about to become damp. He obtained the violin in Paris some years ago when he was studying there.

Once Tried--Always Favored

Silently but surely, myriad particles of grimy dust are continually wafted into even well-kept homes; dusting, sweeping only serves to set them in motion to gather elsewhere. Curiously enough, the very air that once carried them about is now modernly employed in their removal; safe-guarding home furnishings against the ravages of dust and dirt, AIR is now electrically harnessed to suction clean where toilet-sweeping was once a mockery. The highest development in this type of home aid is recognized in the APEX Electric Suction Cleaner.

Most conspicuous and universally appreciated, is the exclusive be-lined nozzle. It cleans under low furniture, pokes under radiators and tables, renovates all those hard-to-reach places impossible to clean by any other methods.
