La Grande Woman to Hear Address by Mrs. Castner
Mrs. Charles H. Castner, of Hood River, president of the federated women's club, will visit La Grande Saturday and will give an address that afternoon at the Neighborhood Club rooms in the library building in all the women and club members of this city. Mrs. Castner's address will be in the afternoon talk on the various measures which are on the ballot for election June 3rd. She will explain these thoroughly so that every woman who a voter will have exact knowledge of them all. Every woman in the town who is interested in these matters is invited to be present. Mrs. Castner, who is a prominent social worker of the state, was appointed by Governor Olcott yesterday as a member of the advisory board of the state industrial school for girls.

"WE ARE LIKE ANIMALS," SAYS DOROTHY PHILLIPS.

Dorothy Phillips, the emotional star, while not a Theosophist, has a pet theory that the human race is not so far removed from its brute ancestors but that in every man or woman can be traced a resemblance to some lower animal. She does not believe that departed souls return in the form of beasts of the field or birds of the air, but her idea is that every human being has a series of traits which lean him or her up definitely with similar traits of either some one domestic or wild animal.

In "The Mortgaged Wife," her newest Special release which comes to the Star on Saturday and Sunday, Miss Phillips persuaded her director, Allen Holubar, that her theory could be worked out on the screen. To further the well-known star Holubar did so, and each of the four principal characters is portrayed as an animal.

Miss Phillips as the bride of a defaulting bank teller is seen as "The Lamb"; her speaking, worthless husband as "The Coyote"; the master financier, to whom she is mortgaged to make good her husband's $50,000 defaulting, as "The Panther"; and his secretary, who is in reality a German spy, is designated as "The Fox," because of his shrewd cunning.

New York critics who saw this picture in preview have commented favorably on this sensational innovation, and Miss Phillips is happy over the fact that her theory has been partially proven, on the screen at last.

"The Mortgaged Wife" shows Miss Phillips in an entirely different sort of a role from her past roles, and promises to add greatly to the prestige she already enjoys in the world of films.

THE WOMAN WHO GAVE
Evelyn Nesbit gives rich proof that she is a dramatic actress of high ability in her first William Fox photoplay, "The Woman Who Gave," which will be at the Sherry theatre today and tomorrow.

The story treats in a unique way the problem of a famous beauty who is married by a titled foreigner merely for enjoyment, but finds in her charming. When a little son is born he takes the child for his claim upon the mother's love.

The mother, however, holds on to the husband's treatment to which her husband consents her and seeks refuge with the artist for whom she had previously posed.

How the mother protects her child against the father's claims of the most dramatic scenes that have ever been presented to the public.

The remarkable photoplay with the internationally famous actress and beauty will prove one of the greatest attractions of the season at this popular house. Miss Nesbit is duplicating the success she has made on the vaudeville stage for the past few years and "The Woman Who Gave" search told the story of the artist's model who grows to hate her own beauty, gives her modeling or continues to show her abilities in the most convincing fashion.

Also a comedy.

"BIG BILL" HART DOES EXCITING STUNT
Bob Hanks is puncher from the southwest. He got into Manhattan a few days ago and was employed by Mr. Harrington, the millionaire railroad man, to undertake to tame young Larry Harrington, his son. The brightly lighted districts of the metropolis have known Larry for some time past as a spendthrift, who has no regard for his father's millions, and who can fight like a demon.

But Bob started in by kicking his charge and then tried to help him collect some letters. He finally got ten to a pretty little waitress. But Bob felt for the lady himself and then Harrington, Sr., called in a private detective to get the evidence. The latter got away with the papers, but Bob borrowed a mounted policeman's horse and fol-

You Cannot Afford to Lose Happiness
It's the most valuable thing in the world. Every day you live in a rented house is a day of lost comfort and contentment.
If the world owes you a living, as you say it does, it also owes you a happy, worth-living home.
It's coming to you—you ought to have it, and you can at a very modest cost.

lowed the fleeing taxicab. Overtaking it, he got the letters and returned with the young millionaire to the girl. Then he learned that she didn't care a bit for Larry, but was strong for himself. Now they are going back to Arizona, where Bob says he has come to tell where he wants to and where there is space to ride without bumping into cars and policemen every ten feet.

Above is the outline of William S. Hart's new Artercraft picture, "Branding Broadway," which will be presented at the Arcade theatre tomorrow and Saturday. C. Gardner wrote it and Hart did the directing. They say it is a different Hart picture—and the public will agree when they see it. Seena Breen is Mr. Hart's leading woman in this production.

MODART CORSET Front Laced

WHY LOOK OLDER THAN YOU ARE?
It is astonishing how many women through lack of attention are wearing corsets that give a more mature appearance to the figure than it should have, and consequently they appear to be five or ten years older than they are.
It is possible to readily improve that condition if you will come to our corset department and get a trial fitting of the MODART front laced corset.
