NEW BOSWELYN CAPTAIN IS OF OPINION NOTHING IS WON BY LOT OF ARGUMENTS

Zach Wheeler, new captain of the Boswelyn club, and champion leader of the National Rifle club, says his head is all swathed up over the many things he has to do, but he is going out there to do his bit to the best of his ability and go by all the means.

The way for her escape with the painter is not beautiful and convincing, and in a counterplot of film craft. Also a comedy.

HOW LAPLAND GOT ITS NAME

Danish Chronicle of the Twelfth Century First Used Term "Lappia" From Which It Is Derived.

The origin of the term "Lapp" is obscure, according to "Through Lapland with Skis and Reindeer" by Frank Rogers Butler. The Swedish historian, St. Johannes Magnus, writing in the sixteenth century, called the land Lapponia, following Suetonius, the Greek writer, called it by the Latin name, Lapponia. In the fourteenth century the region was known in England as Lapland, in French as Lapponie, in German and Norwegian as Lappland or Fiedmaria.

Several historians recognized have been suggested, both in ancient and modern times. Some derive the name from the Swedish Lap, from their bear-like features, coming from Swedish, which means "the bear-like people." Others from the Swedish word for the bear, from which still in Swedish is used the word bear by way of name.

NO DANGER OF IRON FAMINE

Methods of Extracting Ore Will Keep Pace With Demand That Is Bound to Be Enormous.

That iron is the very basis of our industrial civilization will be admitted by the thoughtful, and many of our greatest supplies of iron ore are being rapidly depleted because of the increased per capita consumption of iron throughout the world.

It is a very common point of view, however, that the amount of iron in the earth is so vast that the probability of our ever becoming a victim of iron famine is a thing of the future.

The iron ore of the world is estimated to be about 100,000,000,000,000 tons, and it is estimated that the world's consumption of iron is about 10,000,000,000 tons per year.
