FAMOUS DUTCH PLANT

TO APPEAR HERE
Carl Bond, the brilliant Dutch pianist, is the headliner in the Academy theatre vaudeville tomorrow afternoon and evening. Mr. Bond was a featured attraction at the Pan-Pacific International exposition held at San Francisco. His playing was highly praised by the press during his appearance.

The act starts with a film of one and a half minutes, showing the pianist in black silhouette on screen, followed with an announcement on film of his previous work as society entertainer and that he will give a magnificent vaudeville musical.

The act opens with a brilliant piano solo in one, which goes with enormous speed.

The act finishes with a brilliant piano and harp number, ending with Bond's "Star and Stripes" which turns a beautiful finish.

there are many more applicants than positions in professional, technical, clerical and kindred lines just now. There is some demand for male stenographers, however, at from $100 to $125 per month.

Help Wanted in Mills and Woods.

Little change has taken place in the line of employment during the past week. Orders are on file with the U. S. Employment Service for 200 men to work in the lumber mills and the woods. The wage rate for common laborers being $4.00, and that for hook tenders, high climbers and a few others going as high as $8.00 per day.

Women and Girls to Pick Berries.

The Women's Division of the U. S. Employment Service has openings this week for 2000 women and girls in the strawberry fields. The price established for picking is 11 to 13 cents per carrier of six boxes. In most of the cases, the growers supply shelter for pickers. An order also has been placed for 1400 loganberry pickers although the harvesting of this fruit will not begin for three or four weeks. However, the superintendent of the Women's Division is making every effort to encourage women and girls who contemplate going to the berry fields, to register at the office of the Lewis Building, corner Fourth and Oak streets, Portland, with the least possible delay.

CARRIED THEORIES INTO WAR

Famous French Commander Made Good Use of Strategic Maneuvers He Had Taught.

Like President Wilson, General Foch was a college professor before the war according to Howard Wheeler, who took to him in Everybody's that "Foch taught military strategy, to be sure, but he was a teacher, a theorist, and when he became a commander in actual war he did not drop his theories. He practiced them. Many of the leaders under him had been his students. He called upon them to do in the field in the face of a savage, clever enemy, what he had asked them to recite in the academy. One of his staff, Colonel Requin, told laughingly one day how some of these other generals, practical men, were shocked at orders he took to them from Foch.

"It was a common experience of mine," he said, "to take an order to a division commander in the very crisis of a fight, directing him to perform at once a well-studied, typical maneuver. The troubled, busy general would take the order, read and reread the clean, careful writing, and then turn to me and exclaim: 'Impossible! Why, that would be hard enough to do in maneuvers, but in battle—Here? Now? My God, it is impossible!'

The general, of course, would perform the movement, automatically, under fire. 'And,' said Colonel Requin, 'when he tried it, it worked out. And it was those things that won the battle that won the war.'

THE POLICE FORCE OF THE BODY

DAY and night—without ceasing—a struggle is going on in your body between the germs of disease and the white blood corpuscles—the police force of the human body.

If this police force weakens, disease germs gain a foothold—sickness follows.

Constipation is the most common and dangerous way of corrupting the human police force. Food waste, remains too long in the intestines—decays—poisons the blood—and opens the way for attack by the germs that cause tuberculosis, diphtheria, pneumonia and a multitude of other ills.

The culpable habit of using salts, pills, mineral waters, castor oil, etc., to force the bowels to move, makes this condition even worse, as constipation returns almost immediately.

Nujol is entirely disease free from drugs as it does not force or irritate the bowels.

Nujol prevents stagnation by softening the food waste and encouraging the intestinal muscles to act naturally, thus removing the cause of constipation and self-poisoning. It is absolutely harmless and pleasant.

Nujol helps Nature establish easy, thorough bowel evacuation at regular intervals—the healthiest habit on the globe.

Get a bottle of Nujol from your druggist today and keep your police force on the job.

Warning: Nujol is sold in bottles bearing the Nujol Trade Mark. All druggists insist on Nujol. You may prefer the substitute.

ALL HUNGRY FOR CHOCOLATE

War Children of France Actually Had Never Tasted That Delicious Confection.

Children born in France since the beginning of the war have just made their first taste of chocolate. They have tasted chocolate. In a connected number of pages, writes an Associated Press correspondent, a line stretching for more than 100 miles waited a chance to enter a grocery store. Four policemen were keeping order among the crowd and women were actually struggling for a piece in the line.

"What are they fighting for?" a policeman was asked.

"The store is selling a quarter of a pound of chocolate to each one," replied the officer. "That is the reason you see so many women bearing their children in arms; they are allowed half a pound each."

The correspondent asked one of the women who had with her a fine child and was stubbornly holding her place on the slippery, slushy sidewalk, whether she thought it was worth while to risk pneumonia in order to get half a pound of chocolate.

"You see," she replied, "this baby has never yet tasted chocolate."

Wife Doctor.

For weeks she had been ailing. At last the poor husband willingness to assume the expense rather than suffer the unknown pain of the eminent physician.

The doctor viewed her tongue with alarm. He abandoned the notion of her pulse. He asked all the questions in the entire arsenal of medical lore.

"What's the matter, doctor?" your wife needs a change." The poor man looked up at his doctor and allowed two large blue drops to race to the tip of his nose and down his face.

"What sort of a change, doctor?"

"Her four nerves have finally given way under the strain of listening to the same old talking machine records. Buy her some new ones and we'll soon have her on her feet." The man

Then the great doctor left the happy home, hurried to a telephone and calling up the photographer, told them to be on the look out for a smallish, brookish looking man with a pale bald head who would be in about one hour and out about $15.

Transparent Mystery.

An Englishman returned from India bringing a native boy with him as a servant. The boy knew nothing about ice, and one winter morning he came running to his master with a large piece from a bucket in the yard.

"Look, master," he said, "what a large piece of glass I have found!"

His employer said it looked very wet and looking told him to put it in the back of the stove to dry. He did so, and presently came running back with the partly melted ice in his hand.

"Master, it's the queerest thing I ever saw, the more I dry it the wetter it gets."—Boston Transcript.

DEPEND TOO MUCH

AMERICAN RELIEF

LONDON, June 9.— Relief work in the Trans-Caucasus, where there has been untold suffering should be taken from hands of the Armenians as far as possible and wealthy Armenians, of whom there are many, should be compelled to bear some of the financial burden in the opinion of an American observer who has submitted a report to official quarters in London. He does not attempt to belittle what the Armenians have suffered and will suffer, but suggests that Armenians who are in a position to help their countrymen have depended too much on relief from America.

In Syria and in the Eriwan republic, Armenians themselves would prefer that Americans handle all relief work, but the report adds, that is impossible with the number of Armenians in that section of the world. The relief committee has been compelled to employ many Armenians.

The report indicates that the Armenians and Georgians of influence, the Armenians in particular, are more interested in entrenching themselves before the final peace decisions than in looking after relief. An instance is given of this in respect to railway equipment. Georgians paint out Armenian lettering on Armenian cars and appropriate them and the Armenians retaliate in the same manner. As far as actual ownership is concerned neither had a right to the cars in the first place as they belonged to Russian railroads.
