Yesterday. The quartette had the honor of singing on the program Sunday afternoon last, when Mayor Hanson, of Seattle, addressed a large audience in the Municipal Auditorium. Their number on that occasion was well spoken of and they afterwards sang at different times during the course of the convention. At the Sunday meeting they had the great pleasure of listening to three songs by Miss Marguerite Carney, of La Grande, who is known in Portland as the blind soprano. Miss Carney has a voice of exquisite sweetness and she gave such pleasure to her hearers that she was twice called back after her first number.

OREGON BANKERS IN CONVENTION

He recommended the adoption of a uniform system of handling assigned invoices on lumber shipments and outlined a plan under which his suggestion might be carried out. Referring to the prevalence of late bank robberies and burglaries in the smaller towns of Oregon and Washington, President Crawford advised against the leaving of but a few employees on duty at lunch periods and of leaving doors unlocked and curtains down after closing hours.

TRY TO PREVENT ANOTHER STRIKE

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 13.—Moral support of the strike called for June 10 by the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, which includes the bulk of union telephone operators throughout the country, Thursday was voted by the American Federation of Labor, which unanimously adopted a resolution favoring such a provision.

The resolution also provided that the convention appoint a committee to cooperate with a committee of the electrical workers, both going to Washington to try to secure an agreement with Postmaster General Burleson as a means of averting the walk-out.

During the debate Postmaster General Burleson was termed a "tyrannical official" by delegates who thought any attempt to obtain "justice" from the postal executive would be utterly futile. In this connection reference was made to a resolution which will come before the convention later, in which, if it is passed, President Wilson will be requested to remove Mr. Burleson.

Sponsors of the strike support resolution accused Mr. Burleson, during the debate, of turning back operating control of the wire systems of the country as a means of "getting out from under."

Ever since August, 1918, the resolution read, the telephone employees have been trying "to secure a working understanding with the postmaster general, who promised to establish a working arrangement, but failed to do so and has now turned back the operation to private control."

Prior to the taking over of the wires by the government, it was recited, the electrical workers had agreements with the company, "but the postmaster general persistently refused to renew agreements upon their termination or to make any provision to care for electrical employees," and it "therefore became an urgent necessity to safeguard the rights of the membership involved."

The resolution also stated that the "officers of the brotherhood have at all times during the prosecution of the war refused to call a strike, attempting at all times to assist the government."

RING STOCK SHOW NOTES

Many interesting things transpired at the Union show on the opening day, but probably the most interesting and the one that caused the most excitement, was when Albert Hunter stole Floyd McKeanon's goat. Said goat had been the pride of Floyd's young life, and Albert stole it, halter, the chain and all. Said halter and chain were brand new and Floyd had him securely tied to his string of four trusty drafters. But the wily Albert was too much for our friend and now he is shamelessly parading about the grounds with Floyd's pride and joy. These tragedies will happen but who would have thought Albert could be so brazen and bold.
Said goat was captured but we will admit that if Mr. Hunter had as much trouble in capturing other showmen's goats in the grade drafter class it would keep him busy several years to get together a string that could do such a stunt. In fact the class of grade drafters shown yesterday afternoon was a string that would make any show feel proud of having an even dozen such excellent animals in the ring at the same time. And though Mr. Hunter won the first three places the entries of Floyd McKeanon, W. R. Ledbetter, J. E. Reynolds and H. McGoldrick were a splendid lot and show what the well bred stallions that have been used have done for this section.
The judging of the horse class was practically finished yesterday and the judging of the beef cattle will begin today. With over one hundred head to pass upon the judge has a big task before him and it will keep him busy the entire day and the greater part of tomorrow.

Beauty of the Dawn
It is at dawn that the world awakes rosted and refreshed from a night's sleep as a man awakes rested and refreshed from good slumber. The breath of the world is sweetest at dawn, its face is fairest then, its voice more musical and harmonious. The dust and the grime of the day have been brushed from it.
