"A MAN OF HONOR" IS A CLEVER ROMANTIC DRAMA

"A Man of Honor," the last Screen Classics, Inc. production in which Harold Lockwood will be seen, and which played at the Sherry Theatre yesterday, is a thrilling adventure drama of arresting strength and beauty. It is a screen version of Henry Mitchell Webster's popular novel.

It tells the story of David Smith, a virile young American who is sent to a tropic island by a clique of unscrupulous men to conduct a false report on property lines in swindle thousands of unsuspecting stockholders.

How David refuses and how he determines to retrieve the determined property and make it pay is shown, as are his many adventures and hair-breadth escapes while accomplishing this seemingly impossible task. Mixed with the daring of his undertaking is the romance which unexpectedly comes into his life on this remote island, and how a wealth of pirate gold and treasure is also discovered by the happy pair.

One of the unusual and interesting incidents of the play occurs when Mr. Lockwood is seen in the handsome, dandy-like lieutenant, Captain Jack. This is brought into the story through the imagination of the girl he loves, who, through her own life in this tropical land, at the treasure of the sea.

Dramatic action of a high order and thrilling value are combined in the latest offering "The Law of the North," the latest starring vehicle featuring Charles Hay, which is to be shown at the Lyceum Theatre today and tomorrow. The story was written by Ella Stuart Caplan and the photography directed by Lewis J. Willat, under the supervision of "Tommy" Hay, whose name is prominently featured on the program.

There are no common, ordinary scenes in this gripping photoplay of the North which made it one of the best in which Mr. Hay has been seen in many months. Mr. Hay plays the part of a strong man known as "The Hunter" the son of the commander of a trading post on the "Top of the World." When his father is murdered by an enemy of the post who has been the only sister of the "Hunter," scenes of intense action and suspense ensue. Mr. Hay, who in 1908 with his daughter of the marriage of his own father, and this complete affairs of Heaven dispose of the matter in a novel manner.
