PAINT HEART NEVER WON

FAIR LADY WIFE! To say that heart never was fair lady, but Bryant Washburn in "The Gypsy Trail" proves conclusively that all such adages are susceptible to refutation. In this new Paramount picture, his first starring vehicle for Paramount, Washburn plays the part of a devoted lover, jacking those sticking pictures to the height of a god. But he has sterling qualities, not the least of which is his fidelity. He tries proposals of various sorts, but in one instance he fails to move the heart of the girl who thinks she is romantic, who is after all quite commonplace and conventional. There enters a young vagabond of the Irish temperament, who almost carries off the process to his castle. However, marriage is hardly in his scheme of life, and he balks at the altar which would literally be a "haltar" to his roving disposition. Then he rides away—and the faithful swain in a spirit of heroic self-sacrifice, goes to bring him back to the girl who is apparently fading her heart out for love for the nomad.

But when he comes back, bumptious and self-confident, she experiences a change of heart, realizes the true worth of her first lover and repudiates the man who dares to follow "the gypsy trail." So faint heart wins fair lady in the end—and isn't quite sure at that, how he did it. "The Gypsy Trail" will be shown at the Arcade theatre Thursday. Wanda Hawley supports the star.

Three to one—so the odds were even—despite the thronging in "The Eight of Western Stars" at the Arcade Friday and Saturday.

One Thing You Can Do—

With a driving hailstorm headed your way what could you do to save your crop? And after the storm had passed and beaten down everything you had spent the entire season in raising, what could you do about it, and where could you look for the year's income that had disappeared under your very eyes?

Would you try to preserve your crop from damage? You could not.

Could you replace the crop or get it back into good condition. No.

Could you recover your lost season's income? Certainly you could—if you had the best out hail insurance with the WORLDWIDE INSURANCE ASSURANCE CO. This is the only insurance that gives what...

MODART CORSETS
Front Laced

WHY LOOK OLDER THAN YOU ARE?

It is astonishing how many women through lack of attention are wearing corsets that give a more mature appearance to the figure than it should have, and consequently they appear to be five or ten years older than they are.

It is possible to readily improve that condition if you will come to our corset department and get a trial fitting of the MODART front laced corset.
