Owl's Digestive Apparatus.

Owls have a peculiar method of eating. They eat everything they want, whenever they find it, and swallow the "whole works"—whole. The idea would be the same if you sat down to dinner and consumed the beefsteak, plates, napkins, tablecloth, knives, forks and spoons. After the owl has had this conglomeration in his department of the interior for some time, and it has been digested for all the nutrition there is in it, his organisms inside permit him to drop the refuse out through his mouth in the form of a hard, round pellet.—Omaha World-Herald.

Great Writer's Wondrous Cane.

One of the famous canes of the world was that of Balzac. It gave him, according to one of his observant contemporaries, "a rapture of self-satisfied vanity." It was as big as a drum major's staff, and was ablaze with rubies, diamonds, emeralds and sapphires. On it was a huge gold knob containing a lock of hair of a lady admirer. Balzac never appeared in public without that stick, and all the jewels that he bought or had presented to him be put into the cane.

"Safety First."

Two recent cases of fainting in the bath recall the advice that the late Sir William Hingston, M. D., of Montreal was wont to give his patients. "Fill the bath," he used to say, "pull out the plug and then get in. If you faint in the bath the water will run out before you drown."

Achieving Success.

Success in life depends more than anything else on "animated moderation," on a certain combination of energy of mind and balance of mind, hard to attain and harder to keep.—Walter Bagehot.

United States' Right in Panama.

The United States did not acquire by the isthmian canal convention of November 18, 1903, any title to territory in the republic of Panama, but merely a perpetual right of occupation, use and control of and over a zone of land ten miles in width. For this privilege it paid to the republic of Panama the sum of $10,000,000 and undertook to pay the sum of $250,000 annually so long as such occupancy continued, such payments beginning on February 26, 1913.

Arctic Nights.

Viewed solely as a matter of optics the arctic night is as dark as any night. Explorers in high latitudes say, however, that there are many alleviations of the obscurity. The stars flash keenly, the moon comes along in a regular succession of phases, the snow surface relieves the gloom under conditions of the utmost absence of light and the aurora borealis is the finest kind of illuminant. Explorers all agree that their men pass the winter night without much difficulty if only there are means of amusement.

World Owes Much to Jenner.

May 17 is the anniversary of the birth, in 1749, of Edward Jenner, the doctor who rid the world of the scourge of smallpox by vaccination. The first public vaccination occurred in 1796. Jenner received large money grants from various cities as reward for his great discovery.

See Others' Point of View.

Half the troubles and miseries in this life would be smoothed away, if we would put ourselves in other people's places, and try to see things from their point of view. It is the great blank wall of self that hinders us.
