LOW SALARIED SUFFER MOST

Labor Department Compiles Statistics in Cities That Show Expenditures.

FOOD AND RENT COME HIGH

The Lower Your Salary the Greater Proportion of It You Spend for Food and Shelter, Say Investigators.

Washington.—The lower your salary, the greater percentage of it you spend for food and shelter, according to the latest government cost of living investigation.

Tables compiled by labor department experts after study of hundreds of family budgets, show the actual cash outlay for food and rent is greater in families with the higher incomes, but in the average family the expenditures for these necessities does not increase as fast as the income.

In Baltimore, for instance, 13 families with incomes under $900 averaged expenditures of $382.45 for food and $120.44 for rent. The average was 46.5 per cent of the total income for food and 14.6 for rent. The families whose incomes were $2,500 or more, however, average 13.5 per cent less for food in comparison with total income and 11.5 less for rent.

Showing how much more cheaply the higher-salaried families get off in other cities are these differences:

Pittsburgh, food 15 per cent, rent 7.5 per cent; New York, food 6.7 per cent, rent 7.7 per cent; Boston, food 4.9 per cent, rent 5.2 per cent; Syracuse, food 4.3 per cent, rent 1.9 per cent; Scranton, food 3.7 per cent; rent 0.4 per cent.

How Spending Varies.

How families of varying incomes spend them is indicated by tables showing average expenditures of different groups for Philadelphia and Camden, N. J. The table deals with expenditures of 391 families of seven different income groups.

Four families whose incomes were under $900 a year averaged per year for food $365.40; clothing, $109.87; rent, $176.25; fuel and light, $93.01; furniture, $152.22; miscellaneous, $100.72. The average total expenditure per family was $821.26, and the average number of persons per family 4.3. Three families in this group reported surpluses which averaged $24.33 per family, while one had a deficit of $157.35.

Seventy-five families with incomes of $1,500, but under $1,800, reported expenditures that averaged for food $383.09; clothing, $473.53; rent, $200.94; fuel and light, $75.99; furniture, $76.92; miscellaneous, $106.60. Total expenditures per family averaged $1,320.77 for an average number of 4.7 persons per family. Sixty-two families ended the year with an average surplus of $125.68, nine experienced an average deficit of $103.81, while four balanced their books evenly.

Study Many Groups.

Other families with an income of $2,500 or over averaged in their expenditures for food, $916.42; clothing, $475.39; rent, $274.56; fuel and light, $61.19; furniture, $127.33; miscellaneous, $204.41. The total average expenditures per family, was $2,062.29 for an average family of 4.6 persons. All families reported a surplus. The average surplus was $106.22.

Similar studies have been prepared by the labor department for groups of representative families in Baltimore, Boston, Bridgeport, Buffalo, Chambersburg, Pa.; Dover, N. Y.; Fall River, Mass.; Johnston, N. H.; Lawrence, Mass.; Manchester, N. H.; Newark, N. J.; New York city, Pittsburgh, Portland, Me.; Providence, R. I.; Rutland, Vt.; Scranton, Syracuse, Trenton, Westfield, Mass.; and Washington, D. C.

The death of Robert Laing, a highly respected and well known of Umatilla county, occurred suddenly at his home in Pendleton yesterday morning. He passed away while sitting in his chair. Mr. Laing was born in Clarke, Ontario, Canada, September 19, 1841. From there he moved to New Zealand in 1869. He was married in New Zealand in 1866 to Mary McDonald. Sheep Shearers Do Well

Sheep shearers in Lake county are making all the way from $20 to $35 for a day's work. They are receiving a price of 22 cents a head in Central Oregon and one hundred head a day is only a fair day's work. The record number is said to be 207 head. The shearers have formed a union and no one not a member of the union can find work. They start work in the early spring in Arizona and New Mexico, working gradually northward and finding altogether six months' employment in their line of high wages, aggregating in many instances from $3,000 to $4,000 in wages in the course of the shearing season.

Tourists from Montana

The Observer received a letter this morning from Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Holm, who left in their car some time ago for Battle Lake, Minnesota, where they will make their home again. Mr. Holm was connected with the Hug Grocery of this city. An extract from the letter, which was mailed at Fremont, Mont., reads: "We are a promising week in Montana with friends and relatives. Have had a fine trip so far. Our Maxwell is humming as good as ever. We have seen nothing that looks better than La Grande or the Grande Ronde valley. Montana is burning up on account of the lack of water. We are having a splendid trip."
