LOCAL HAPPENINGS

Kiddle Goes Near Heaven

"When Senator Ed Kiddle, was in Washington, D. C. a few days ago he got a special dispensation from the war department and was taken up by a trained flyer in one of the army planes. He describes the incident as one of the finest trips he has ever had in all his life. When a mile high the air man shut off his engine and he and the senator had a good old fashioned visit a mile in the air. They sailed up and down the Potomac, over the capitol building around the monument and inspected a large stretch of country in the vicinity of the capital city. After he had finished with the airplane the senator hunted up the man who keeps the submarines and went into one of them.

Chautauqua Princess Here

Miss May Fudlayson, commonly known in chautauqua circles as "Sister," has arrived to take charge of the Junior Chautauqua. She already has a goodly number of little folks, who anxiously meet with her in the morning to play games, listen to and tell stories and do many other interesting things. People who do not own tickets, or are not camped there, are especially urged to send their children. It is something they will never forget. Miss Fudlayson is an extremly talented young lady and has already made a host of new friends She will be here as long as chautauqua lasts.

Wallowa Trains Loaded

Trains for the branch line are loaded each with fishermen and people who are seeking the mountains during the warm weather. This was especially true on July Fourth, for the number that wanted to fish in streams was such that extra cars had to be added to the branch line train

A Busy Day for Fire Department

The fire department was called out on five different calls yesterday, none of them however, with possibly one exception, doing much damage. At 9:15 a. m. during the parade, the upper story of the 2-door rooming house was partially destroyed the fire presumably being caused by defective wiring. The building is insured for $2000 and the furniture for $1500, loss not yet estimated.

At 5:30 p. m. the 2nd call came for a grass fire near Sacred Heart Academy. It was put out before doing any harm. The next call came from the property of Mrs. Esther Anson, on Pennsylvania avenue. This was also a grass fire and was soon extinguished. The fourth call came from near the round house and was caused from firecrackers. It was subdued before gaining any headway.

A grass fire in front of Ray Logan's home called for the assistance of the fire department at midnight, but was under control before anything serious resulted.

Town Should Have Bought Plane

Harold Grady, late of the air service of the U. S. army, was struck by a bright idea a few days ago that he is sorry did not hit him and hit him hard a month or so ago. The failure of Baker and La Grande to get an airplane for the aerial exhibitions they desired for their celebrations brought forth the suggestion. Mr. Grady suggests that if the Ad Club had put in a bid to the government a few weeks ago for a plane they could have secured one at a reasonable price and could have made the price of it here in a few weeks. There are several first class mechanics here whose army experience was mostly around the "innards" of airplanes, and Mr. Grady and David Soddard both are experienced fliers. The idea may bear fruit another time.

O.-W. Dance

The O.-W. R. & N. band gave another one of their popular dances last Friday night at Rex hall, which exactly hit the spot. The crowd was one of unusual pep and enthusiasm and when the music started the floor was filled to its utmost capacity. When the "Home Sweet Home" was played, everybody in the hall left, wondering when there would be another just like it. Recently the O. W. dances have been very popular and needless to say, its the exceptionally good music that accounts for that.

Large Farm is Sold

Geo. H. Currey reports the sale of the Fred Eames 200 acre farm at Telocaset, to John H. Clark of Alicel. This is one of the best improved stock farms in that vicinity, about 150 acres is in fine fall grain. Mr. Clark takes immediate possession. He will move his family this week.

Mr. Eames has not definitely decided just what he will do but will in all probability purchase a small farm near La Grande. The consideration which included considerable stock and implements exceeds $30,000.

MIKE KEEYS CUTS HIS OWN THROAT

MAN POPULAR WITH LOGGING CREWS COMMITS RASH ACT.

Although His Throat Is Badly Slashed, Attending Physician Is of Opinion He Will Live.

Becoming despondent for the moment, Mike Keeys slashed his throat with a razor last night about 10 o'clock in his room at the Elite hotel on Jefferson and Chestnut streets. When aid was summoned he was rushed to the Grande Ronde hospital where his wound was dressed by Dr. Ray Logan, who announced that, while the cut is a very bad one, he believes Keeys will live.

Just why Mike Keeys should mutilate himself is not clear to his friends. For he has been employed in the woods of Eastern Oregon and is probably one of the best known and one of the most popular woodsmen in this section of the state. So far as his friends are aware he has no troubles weighing on his mind. He is without family and is well known to all timber workers.

With other timbermen he was laying off for the Fourth of July vacation, having celebrated in La Grande.
