

L. H. S. FOOTBALL PROSPECTS GOOD

Never played football in La Grande, but has shown his worth on the baseball diamond, will enter school with his speed should be able to make an end or half back position. Grant Brown, of the famous athletic Brown family, will be back in school to again represent the family and support the local colors. He should make a valuable line man. There are rumors of several new men who will venture for courses in the high school, but nothing can be counted upon until they have put in their appearance and enrolled. Grant Cottle, of Cove, has been one of these and if he should decide to enter La Grande, would no doubt be a valuable man as he has plenty of weight and speed. School opens Monday and a week from then the first practice will be held, and while some of the men will not be able to register by that time, a fair line up should be assembled and a better forecast possible as to "what the prospects" are.

K. O. M. PICNIC TO BE SUNDAY

eral Y. M. C. A. secretary. Among other numbers on the program will be a monologue by M. L. Carter, songs by one of La Grande's best mixed quartets, a piano solo by Jay Shaw, a comparison of Kansas and Oregon by one who "has been," an instrumental solo by Audrey Woods, a piano duet by Misses Stella and Della Benishadler, solo by Miss Ethel Huffman, monologue by J. W. Redwood, a song by Misses Mabel and Thelma Hugg, and a reading by Miss Lottie Benishadler. The officers of the organization request that it be emphasized that any persons (and their families), who come to Oregon from Kansas, Oklahoma or Missouri, is cordially invited to attend the picnic, and "sit" in on the basket dinner and partake of the free coffee, cream and sugar, and ice cream that the annual dues of the Association provides; but, and here the emphasis is especially placed, the general public is invited to attend and listen to the afternoon program, which starts at 1:30. Of course, anyone is free to picnic in the park all that day if they desire, and then become part of the audience after the dinner hour.

Riverside Park has witnessed and will witness plenty of occasions of this kind, but for the good old spirit it counts some that on these annual meetings of the former representative of these three states. The attendance has increased each year and those who have the "pass word" are missing something if they do not avail themselves of the same and join the pow wow.

Whether or not you are an old time resident or a recent arrival in the Grande Ronde valley, you will no doubt meet at these reunions some of your friends or relatives whom you did not know was a neighbor. The reunion looks like to be the means of bringing together many old time acquaintances. So die it is. In "picnic basket" you again (you can't die in the old rule or you mean that once they've got you to the picnic—back there—and even at the present price of shoes you can afford to wear 'em all the way and all day) and K-O-M.
