WALLACE REID HAS DOUBLE IN "ALIAS, MIKE MORAN"

Emory Johnson Counterpart of Star and Though Alike They Are Most Unlike

For an actor to make himself so that he presents a striking resemblance to some motion picture star is no small achievement. If it were easy there would be different editions of all the noted screen stars applying for work every day, convinced that if they can look just like a star, they too may be stars. But each individual star has some trick of personality, some mannerism or something all his own that no other player who doubts him has. That is why he has attained the heights of stardom. Something different! That's what we are all after.

In "Alias, Mike Moran," a new Paramount production starring Wallace Reid, which will be shown at the Arcade theatre today and tomorrow, Emory Johnson, who plays the part of Mike Moran, makes up so nearly like Mr. Reid that at a distance it is almost impossible to distinguish one from the other. In the story, Mike Moran assumes the name of Larry Young (the role played by Mr. Reid) and is drafted into the army in his grand, fooling even the war authorities. You will have to keep a sharp lookout when you view this picture, or you will be mixing up these two gentlemen indiscriminately, so nearly do they resemble each other.

The story is timely and is woven around a strong, convincing theme and the picture should be popular with all audiences. Ann Little plays the leading female role and the rest of the supporting cast are all excellent. James Cruze directed.

HALVEY, THE CURIOUS MAN

Halvey's Greater Mysteries was presented and is owned by R. M. Morris, a well known sportsman who for years has been spending money like water in the circus business. The expense of building an amusement attraction does not deter him because as manager of one of the greatest circus enterprises in the west he learned it is only by lavish expenditures of money that success can be obtained. Hence it is not surprising that Halvey's Greater Mysteries was the swiftest most expensive venture ever won by any manager, and also that it is one of seven acts of vaudeville in which Halvey's is not to be out-classed anywhere. The members of this intimate vaudeville act are the best trained of any troupe ever on the road. The result is the best entertainment with hundreds of would-be spectators who would go out of the woods to see it. It is impossible to find theatre large enough to accommodate the crowds who want to see Halvey's Greater Mysteries—come, buy your seats as early as possible.

They will be at the Arcade theatre Monday, September 22.

Order To Show Cause Why License Should Not Be Granted To Sell Realty

In the county court of the state of Oregon for Union county, In the matter of the estate of Albert Benson, deceased. Now on this 11th day of September, 1919, J. C. Henry, administrator of the estate of Albert Benson, deceased, having presented his petition under oath praying for a license to sell the following described real estate of the said Albert Benson, to-wit: Lot No. 7 (7) of Block 115 (15) of Park Addition to Bend, Oregon, to the payment of debts allowed against said estate, and allowances and costs of administration, for the reason that there is not sufficient amount of personal property in the possession of said J. C. Henry, administrator, balancing to said estate, to pay said debts, allowances and costs. It is therefore ordered that all persons interested in said estate appear before me at the hour above in the county court room in La Grande, Union county, Oregon, on the 24th day of October, at 10 a. m., to show cause, if any there be, why a license should not be granted to said J. C. Henry, administrator, to sell and convey, describe and receive to pay said debts and expenses. It is further ordered that a copy of this order be served upon all persons interested in said estate and upon all unknown heirs by causing the same to be published for four consecutive weeks in the La Grande Evening Observer, a newspaper printed and published in said county of Union, state of Oregon. J. P. FRY, County Judge. Duly Sept. 12-27-19; 10-4, 11.

CAT RIDES IN AIRPLANE

Pussy, Gussie Plum, Medford, N. J. To Eugene. "There's a little cat out at the aviation field that has it over all the other felines in the state and perhaps on the entire coast. This week all the way from Medford to Eugene in a hot air balloon. As Lieutenant Webb and Mechanic L. M. Weaver of the forest patrol near Medford regular round to Southern Oregon they stopped as usual at Medford. A cat had been kept at the aviation field there was taken aboard the ship by Weaver. When pussy looked over the side and saw the earth far disappearing she made a dive for water and for a long time kept her head covered below Weaver's coat. The white cat's probable was sleeping peacefully about the ship's cat disappeared. He looked everywhere and finally thought of the small room in which the cat was and he looked out and there he saw the cat peering along the railing of the ship at the end of the rope. Weaver picked it up and found it was the wrong cat for the expedition. Eugene Morning Register.
