A Mighty Industry at your Service

Over thirty-five years ago two far-seeing men established in Oakland, California, The Paraffine Paint Company, the parent of The Paraffine Companies, Inc. They had discovered that "black paraffine," as asphalt was then called, could be made into an excellent preservative paint. With that same broad vision which was the outstanding quality of the early Pioneers, Pierce and Beardsley, a chemist and an oil expert, planted the seed of a tremendous industry.

One of the Great Industries of the West

Today The Paraffine Companies, Inc., has grown into an institution which has made "P & B" and Pabco Products names known throughout the world.

Fourteen large plants have been welded into a single organization which ranks among the greatest industries of the Pacific Coast.

High Quality Built Into Pabco Products

From raw materials to finished products the process of manufacturing is contained within the one organization. This enables The Paraffine Companies, Inc., to watch every process with the greatest care in order to see that only the highest quality is built into everything that goes forth as a Pabco Product.

"Ru-ber-oid" and "Malthoid" Worldwide Names

Whoever has had anything to do with building construction knows that The Paraffine Companies' Ru-ber-oid and Malthoid Roofings, two of the most widely known of the Pabco Products, are the recognized standards for ready roofing.

All materials which go into their manufacture are gathered by the Company. Refineries are operated to produce the asphalt and associated products; rags and other materials of which the felt is made are gathered together from all parts of the world. Then, in one of the largest and finest equipped plants in the world, under the constant supervision of experts, Ru-ber-oid and Malthoid Roofings are produced.

Known Throughout the World

Ru-ber-oid and Malthoid are shipped to many parts of the world. Sheer merit has built their reputation wherever building goes on. They have become the standard of ready roofing on the Pacific Coast, in South America, in the Orient, in Australasia, in India, in South Africa.

With the constant growth of The Paraffine Companies, Inc., the highest standard of quality has always been maintained. Completely equipped laboratories keep constant watch over materials. Long experience and complete facilities have enabled the Company to turn out products exactly suited to every climatic or other condition.

This Organization is at Your Service

The advice and help of The Paraffine Companies' engineers and chemists are always at the service of those interested. Consult us freely.
