

HOPE OF RUSSIA IS IN SUCCESS OF KOLCHAK

Left to Bolshevik Country Will Return to an Autocracy

LONDON, (Correspondence of the Associated Press).—Colonel Jean Kolchak, who returned from Siberia, where he commanded a battle of the Bolsheviks in his last days, is the success of Kolchak in the land question shows that he is not the reactionary he has been represented. He sees clearly that the distribution of his estates among the peasantry cannot be interfered with.

It is proposed that those landowners who have survived Bolshevikism shall be given compensation for the land they have lost but there is no idea of restoring the land to them. Kolchak stands up for the poor peasants against what Lenin has been called the "village of bourgeoisie."

"It is found that well-to-do peasants had murdered many of the landowners, given a measure portion of the poorest land to the poor peasants and joined the bulk of the estate to their own holdings. Kolchak, with the advice of representatives of the Allies, decided to secure for the poor peasants a fair distribution of the land. When this was known the comparatively wealthy peasants, who had secured the biggest share of the land raised the cry that the old state of affairs was to be restored. In some cases they stirred up the peasants to revolt and caused disturbances which had to be put down by force.

"To know what Bolshevism is you should have been with me at Perm when the ice on the river was melting and the bodies of many who had been murdered by the Bolsheviks were revealed. I, myself, saw fifty of them and among them were the bodies of a number of women and children. At one place there was a wash-house built over the river. The Bolsheviks cut a hole in the floor through which they dropped their victims into the deep waters beneath. Bolshevism means the end of democracy. I am certain that if Russia is left to the Bolsheviks, it will ultimately return to autocracy.

NOT SURPRISED BY STAND ANNOUNCED BY D'ANNUNZIO

PARIS, Oct. 5.—Dr. Milenko R. Vesnikich, one of the Jugo-Slav delegates to the peace conference, told the Associated Press Thursday he was not surprised at Capt. Gabriele d'Annunzio's declaration that he considered himself in a state of war with Jugo-Slavia. "It is only a continuation of his cinematograph procedure," said Doctor Vesnikich. "As far as the kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes is concerned," he said, "it does not know Capt. d'Annunzio, and consequently has no reason to take notice of his declaration."

REVISION PROPOSED FOR EPISCOPAL PRAYER BOOK

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 4.—The proposed revision of the Book of Common Prayer of the Episcopal church, which is to come before the triennial convention, opening here October 5, embodies changes in the marriage service in recognition of "the new status of woman in the life of the world—that of full equality with man." It is proposed to eliminate the word "obey" from the woman's pledge in the marriage service, making the promises of man and woman the same, while the words, "With all my world goods I thee endow," in the man's pledge, would also be stricken out.

It is stated by church leaders that the proposed revision would not only enrich but "modernize and humanize" the Book of Common Prayer.

It is proposed to eliminate from the burial office of the liturgy all expressions that tend to represent death and sickness and disaster as the direct acts of God.

The meetings of the 3000 delegates, the clergy, the house of bishops and the various auxiliary organizations are to be held in half a dozen large churches of several denominations and in large halls.

The largest convention hall in the city has been engaged for the evening inspirational meetings which will be addressed by leading churchmen and nationally known figures.

WELSH TO INVESTIGATE TINPLATE INDUSTRY

LONDON, Oct. 4.—The Welsh tinplate industry has sent to the United States a technical delegation with instructions to make special inquiry into the systems used that country for the intensive production of tinplate. The delegates will represent the South Wales and Monmouthshire Tinplate Industrial Council, an organization made up of employers and employees. Thirty years ago such an inquiry would have been received with blank amazement for the industry at that time was scarcely established in America and Welsh tinplate makers led the trade of the world.

ENGLISHMEN ARE CRAZY FOR STYLE

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Shops in Jermyn and Bond streets, which cater to London's ultrafashionable men's trade are displaying fantastic arrays of dressing gowns—gowns whose gorgeous colorings and barbaic patterns baffle description. Demand for these garments is declared to have been unprecedented in former seasons. They are being offered in the most flimsy of gossamer fabrics or more substan-tion but quite as highly-colored, washable silks—at prices which vary from $10 to $35.

One writer, commenting on the vogue of these garments, declares "the bathroom parade at fashionable hotels is going to be worth the entertainment tax."

It is Deposed. Trace up! Some people are ground down on the millstone of life. Others are polished up. It just depends on the stuff you are made of.

TIMBER MEN TO MEET

Forest Industry Conference to Open on October 6.

PORTLAND, Oct. 3.—Federal income tax as it affects forest industry, lessons of the 1919 forest-fire season, airplane patrol, wireless telephony and the formulation of a national forest policy are among the topics of discussion at the forest industry conference to be held at the Multnomah hotel October 6 and 7, under the auspices of the Western Forestry and Conservation association.

Timber owners and lumbermen from Montana, Idaho, Washington, Oregon, and California, as well as representatives of the western private, state, and government forest protective agencies and of British Columbia and the Dominion of Canada will be present. The first session of the two-day conference will be devoted to forest protection. An interesting feature will be a practical demonstration of the wireless telephony as developed by the United States forest service for use in reporting fires. A moving picture of forest-fire work also will be shown. Principal speakers will be R. L. Flewelling, of Spokane, president of the association; C. S. Chapman, chairman standardization committee, and H. S. Graves, chief forester.

WE know, and probably from experience you know also, that a big percentage of dissatisfaction with heavy cars is due to the inability to stop and start quickly, and to slow response to steering effort, especially in congested traffic.

Therefore, it is no mere coincidence that thoughts of safety bring about thoughts of a light car.

Looking for assured safety in a light car has led many a motorist to the Franklin—the scientifically constructed light-weight car. Past experience enables you to instantly recognize in the Franklin what you anticipated in other cars—but didn't get.

Fundamentally the much-talked-of safety of the Franklin is due to the less momentum of light weight, to the road-holding quality of flexible light weight, to the ease of moving and guiding light weight.

You will do well to seriously consider safety when examining the Franklin and other cars. Undoubtedly it will eliminate much after-aggravation—if you choose wisely.

HILTON'S GARAGE

That Air of Distinction

Nothing contributes more directly to this feeling than the wearing of the proper model in the proper kind of corset.

MODART CORSETS

Style is an essentially a part of MODART CORSETS as health and comfort. It has its foundation in the corset and there can be no stylish construction of the outer garments without the proper corset.

A MODART trial fitting is the most convincing argument of the value of a MODART Corset. Then the style lines are seen—then beauty of outline is noted—then comfort becomes apparent. Our experience corroborates "at your service."
