$1,000,000 Worth of Highway Bonds Are Refused Commission

SALEM, Or., Oct. 15.—The state board of control at a meeting today refused to grant the request of the state highway commission for the issuance of $1,000,000 worth of highway bonds.

The suit will test the Pean-Barrett law enacted by the 1917 legislature providing for the issuance of $100,000 worth of highway bonds to match federal aid for road construction in Oregon.

gon. Of the amount authorized, $1,200,000 already has been issued, and the board of control holds that the amount of the request submitted today would exceed the provisions of the law.

The highway commission contends that the Pean-Barrett law provided that the state should issue bonds to match federal aid, which since the passage of the bill has been increased and that in consequence the state can incur bonded indebtedness in excess of the prescribed $1,000,000 up to this constitutional limitation of 2 per cent of the assessed valuation of the state, or $20,000,000.

Car of Union County Shorthorns Good Sellers

(By Paul H. Spillman) The recent shipment of one car of pure-bred Shorthorn cattle by local dealers to the Sherman county fair, has proven that our cattle are appreciated.

The fair day of the fair at Moro, 17 head of Union county Shorthorns were sold at auction, realizing an average price of $267 per head. The average for female was $447, and for bulls, $200. The highest price paid for an animal was $700, the lowest $220.

Six head of Union county cattle were sold to Sherman county farmers this spring. They seem to appreciate our cattle and have already asked our breeders to make another consignment next spring.

The consigners for the last car load were W. W. Green, Union; Sherman and Hutchison, Union; W. J. Towley, Hot Lake and G. W. DeLay, Hot Lake.

UNIVERSITY TO HAVE BIG TIME

ing, the fundation of which has just been finished. Funds for the completion of this building are now being contributed by the people of the state.

At noon between 4000 and 5000 persons will be fed at the campus luncheon. The committee in charge has no fear of the number. "Let 'em come," they say. "We can take care of any number."

The festivities will close with the big dance in the Armory, the largest hall in Eugene, Saturday evening.

Committees have already been named for all the details of the Homecoming. The matter of housing has been arranged so that no graduate or former student need fear that he will not be looked after. Efforts are being made to obtain reduced rates on the railroads, and special trains from the more important points.

This week a contest is on for a slogan to be used in promoting the big week-end. The students are thoroughly organized and all pepped up over what they are going to do for their guests next month, and those who want to see the university under conditions that will warm those old cockles of their hearts are urged to be here for the Homecoming.
