DOUG FAIRBANKS IS AT ARCADE TODAY

When Douglas Fairbanks began the filming of "His Majesty, the American," says the management of the Arcade Theatre, where the big picture will be run today, he broke away from every production tradition that he knew. This new film was to be Douglas Fairbanks' first release via United Artists Corporation—the "Big Four"—and inasmuch as it was to be his bow as a genuine independent producer and distributor, "Doug" took the "lid off the cash box."

From every standpoint of production—settings, atmosphere, players and mechanical equipment—"His Majesty, the American" is reported to outshine anything that Mr. Fairbanks has heretofore attempted.

The story which was prepared by Joseph Henabery, Mr. Fairbanks' director, with the assistance of Elton Banks, was worked over for eight weeks. It deals with the adventures of a young New Yorker who lives on excitement. His unquenchable thirst for new thrills, leads him across two continents and the settings necessary for the portrayal of the story have cost a tidy fortune.

A Mexican village was built in the hills surrounding the Fairbanks studio in Hollywood. In another place a complete French town was constructed and in another section of the studio a New York tenement street was erected. A French railway line was needed, so one 1500 feet long and of standard continental design was laid, the carriages being the exact duplicate of the type in use abroad.

The interiors, like the exteriors, are said to be a revelation, both as to magnitude and beauty. Although the new stage of the Fairbanks studios is among the largest ever built, it was not large enough for a tremendous interior of a palace. So one end of the gigantic stage was removed and 90 feet of flooring added to give the proper proportion to this beautiful and imposing scene. From the back of the main floor to the camera measured 330 feet, which makes this probably the largest interior ever used in a motion picture.

to fall into the river. Later it was recovered and dragged back on the bridge. Local undertakers said they would not touch it. It is expected the coroner will dispose of it.

Important arrests of alleged J. W. W. leaders and sympathizers were made in and about Centralia yesterday.

They included Mrs. Marie McAllister, warden of the Rodgers' hotel building, an abusive and unprovoked quarrel with the J. W. W.; John Lamb and O. C. Bland, both of this city, who, the police say, have confessed they rented a room in the Arnold rooming house, facing Tower avenue, and took rifles with them, intending to shoot but who claim they did not shoot into the parade; Harold Johnson, 31 years old, who, the police say, is an ex-convict, who is an organizer of the J. W. W. and who has much inflammatory radical literature in his pockets; W. to Marvols, 23 years old, a Fern, who, police say, confesses he is in J. W. W. and who was arrested with Harold Johnson near Wenlock both have been taken to the Lewis county jail in Chehalis for safe keeping and investigation.

At present the "Y" maintains buildings at each of the four forts on the island of Oahu. One at Schofield barracks, 23 miles from Honolulu and one at Fort Kamehameha at Pearl Harbor. These "huts" are very popular with the service men. Williams report showing that with an average of 7,000 men on Oahu from Sept. 1st, 1918 to August 31st, 1919, each man visited a Y. M. C. A. building more than eighty-five times.

The Army and Navy "Y" maintains a large group of buildings at Honolulu, the old Royal Hotel which stands in a two-and-a-half acre garden, was purchased by the "Y" and is a most attractive place where twenty-five thousand men congregate to and from the Orient and Siberia on U. The recent government ruling placing all welfare organizations back to their pre-war basis, does not effect any posts except those on the mainland. At the request of the government the Y. M. C. A. is continuing its work, in the Islands, Siberia, Russia and all places where it operated prior to the war.

More than 13,000 men are building your Maxwell

IMAGINE 13,000 men devoting themselves to a single Maxwell. Yet that is the picture which a little journey through the eight great Maxwell plants supplies.

If they built but that one car in a day its cost to you would represent a king's ransom.

But they are so well organized, their work so very definite, they are so expert in the special one thing they do, and they are aided by so many thousands of uncanny and superhuman machines, whose accuracy is down to 1/1000 of an inch, that you pay but a small price for a Maxwell.

A great aid to the economy of manufacture is the use of many many millions of dollars so that a 10-cent piece saved on a bit of material often runs into amazing figures.

Thus the big staff of purchasing experts for Maxwell become your purchasing experts and the saving goes on to you in the price.

$985 is indeed a small sum to pay for a great value in a great car like Maxwell.
