RU-BER-OLD and MALTHOID
READY ROOFINGS

Built-in Quality

The only way to know the quality of ready roofing is to put it on your house, barn, or other building and wait for two or three years. You can't tell the good from the poor merely by looking at it or feeling of it. It is the hidden qualities that count. Ready roofing must be carefully made from the best materials if it is to stand the test of time and weather.

Ru-ber-old and Malthoid have attained their position as the standard of ready roofing because quality has been built into them. The Paraffine Companies, Inc., with their complete organization, scour the world for the best materials. We make our own felt from carefully selected rags. We maintain our own refineries in order to get the highest grade of asphalt and similar products. The manufacture of Ru-ber-old and Malthoid is carried on from beginning to end within the one organization.

No effort or cost is spared in manufacturing Ru-ber-old and Malthoid. Experts constantly supervise every process. Tests are made continually to see that all material is kept up to the high standard which has been set.

As a result, Ru-ber-old and Malthoid have those hidden qualities which give them an exceptionally long life. They will not dry out or rot. They are the best quality roofings that can be made. If painted regularly, they will last for years.

When you think of building, remember Ru-ber-old and Malthoid.
