ONE HUNDRED AND ONE YEARS OF DALHOUSIE UNIVERSITY

Dalhousie University, in Halifax, Nova Scotia, held its centenary celebration this fall. It fell due in 1918, but was postponed until this year on account of the war. Men from all parts of the world returned to do honor to their Alma Mater and classes as far back as 1867 were represented. Young men were there, too, most of them having served overseas with the gallant Canadian armies. The reunion had particular significance for them, as since 1914 there has been no time to go back and revive memories of college days. The roll of the younger graduates of Dalhousie has thinned greatly in the last five years, but those left will help her "carry on" all the more devotedly for the sake of those that can help no more.

The Wise Man. He is the wisest man who would have the least to do with the multitude. It is not for the wise man to be much affected with the censures of the rude and unskillful vulgar, but to hold fast unto his own well-chosen and well-fixed resolutions; every fool knows what is want to be done; but what is best to be done, is known only to the wise.—Joseph Hall.
