MORE WIRES FOR WESTERN UNION

EXPENDITURE OF TWO MILLION AUTHORIED ON COAST.

Six Additional Transcontinental Copper Wires Will Be Installed Between N. Y. and West Coast.

The Western Union Telegraph Company announces receipt of a decision to proceed with immediate construction of six additional trans-continental copper wires from Pacific Coast points to New York and numerous additional wires between principal centers in Washington, Oregon, California and neighboring states. It is understood that the new facilities touching the coast will alone involve an expenditure of about two million dollars and add sixteen thousan miles of wire to the present plant in addition to new construction being favorably considered throughout the United States.

Belief is expressed in local business circles that this investment in essential trade facilities to the Pacific Coast is evidence of extensive plans for resumption of normal business conditions, as the Western Union system of wires over eight transcontinental routes is understood to be ample for all present requirements of traffic running into millions of telegrams monthly.

Western Union officials here said today that, while the new circuits would possibly permit attainment of further increase in speed, the chief purpose of the new wires is to keep ahead of a heavy telegraph business which is expected to result upon the complete recovery of normal conditions and to meet the present trend of commercial concerns to carry on business at a faster pace. It is declared that this tendency has developed the telegraph into a large volume of communications formerly sent by mail and that all contemplated plans for the future are being estimated accordingly.

STOOP AFTER MORE APPLES

PENNY APPLE STORE IN PORTLAND ON PAYING BASIS.

Westenslow Apples Find Market and Manager Is Back After Two Carloads More.

L. A. Stoop is spending a few days in the city buying and gathering together two carloads of apples for shipment to Portland, where he is operating a penny apple store.

"I have had an awful seige getting this store on a paying basis, and it has been the worst deal I have ever tried to put over," said Mr. Stoop this morning. "I wouldn't try it again for anything." Mr. Stoop first opened his store on Washington, but when the Stanley Hotel burned, the fire ravaged his store, and he has about $400 worth of goods. "We are now located in the very heart of the market district—169 Fourth street—a fine location. Ours is the biggest apple retail store in Portland."

Mr. Stoop reports that the apple market in Portland is now much better than it was a few months ago. His last big deal was the selling of two cars of apples to one man.

The store was opened with the idea of selling the apples owned by J. L. Westenslow, of Imbler. Mr. Westenslow had contracted his apples to an eastern market early last fall, but the fall in prices came, and the eastern firm cancelled their contract, leaving 7,000 boxes of fine apples on Mr. Westenslow's hands.

"The apple store has been on a paying basis for just the last two weeks," said Mr. Stoop, "so you can see what a worry it has been." The former real estate man reports that hundreds of boxes of apples are sold to the working men and women alone, as the persons come by, purchase 25 apples at a penny apiece, take them to their rooms, and when the apples have disappeared, they come back for more. This way, the apples are not to spoil, allowed to wither and Mr. Stoop sells hundreds of boxes in this way.

Mr. Stoop expects to return tomorrow evening to Portland.

SALEM, Jan. 19.—The senate unanimously voted to reconsider the Upton resolution providing for the appointment of a special committee to consider bills relating to redistricting of the state, which was defeated yesterday. President Roy Ritner asked Senator Farrell to take the gavel and made a motion for the reconsideration of the bill, which was seconded by Lachmund and Thomas, who were the most bitter opponents yesterday, in denouncing the resolution. They declared that, because the sentiment that the battle yesterday was a reflection on Ritner, they wanted to reconsider. Senators Lachmund, Thomas and Joseph said that Ritner had been entirely fair and impartial and disclaimed their intention to reflect upon him.

KAMELA PEOPLE ENJOY SKIING

Scandinavia and the Alps have nothing on the residents of Kamela when it comes to winter sports according to a number of railroad men who pass through on mountain city several times a week. Skiing is being enjoyed to its fullest on the mountain. A half mile stretch down Sandy hill provides the place for skiing. Many of the mountaineers, however, are confining their pleasure to merely coasting, not desiring to attempt the jumping as yet. There was a two-foot blanket of snow on the mountain the past week end.
