Race of Red-Heads.
The possibility of red-headed people being "a separate race" was mentioned at a recent meeting of the Royal Anthropological Institute in London. According to F. G. Parsons, the average number of red-headed people is, roughly, four in each 100, and it is quite an aristocratic color. In London 6.1 per cent of the upper classes have red hair, as compared with 4.3 per cent in the lower classes. There is, says Prof. Parsons, an abnormal amount of red hair among the beauties of the southwest of Ireland.

A Hair Problem.
On the average head there are a thousand hairs to each square inch. Find out the number of square inches in your scalp and you will soon know the approximate number of hairs on it. That is, if you have a normal head of hair.

Moved to Profst.
Floyd's mother had kept him busy keeping the chickens out of the yard for quite a while. He was beginning to get disgusted with the job. Going to his mother he said: "What do you think I am—a chicken shepherd?"

How Lampreys Lay Eggs.
Lampreys are out-like residents in the ocean that run into the fresh water at the mouth of rivers in the spring and build the nest in which their eggs are deposited. They pick out the pebbles in the bottom of the river, using the suction power of their large mouths to dislodge the stones and deposit eggs in the spot selected.

For a Disordered Stomach.

When the stomach fails to perform its functions the bowels become deranged, the liver and kidneys congested. The important thing is to restore the stomach and liver to a healthy condition and for this purpose Chamberlain's Tablets are excellent. Give them a trial. They only cost a quarter.—Adv.
