Costume tableaux that vividly pictured the history of costume design, were presented with a great deal of care and elaborateness at the Neighborhood club Tuesday afternoon, to a crowded auditorium. The leadership for the day was in the hands of Miss Blanche Clark. She had as her first number a delightful talk by Miss Agnes Dwyer, a recent resident of the Philippine Islands. She discussed women's club work in the Islands, telling how the ladies work hand in hand with the government. Her talk was especially interesting.

One of the popular numbers was a minut by eight little folks from Miss Emogene Russell's room. They were costumed in harmony with the early colonial period. The dancers made a decided hit. Mrs. T. J. Scroggin and Mrs. H. M. Bouvy sang "Long, Long Ago," and were costumed in colonial fashion. In their second number, Mrs. George Birnie was included, and she very pleasingly sang the old, familiar song, "Juanita." A very interesting and instructive paper on "History of Costume Designs" was read by Miss Margaret Anson. Following these numbers came the costume tableaux. Mrs. Lee Warnick and Mrs. E. W. Logan carried on the conversation while rummaging through an old album, and as they turned the pages, the characters in the album were paraded before the audience in tableaux by numerous cleverly gowned ladies. The costuming and the general scheme of the tableaux were prepared with an immense amount of work and splendid success. A study in "lines" gave Miss Clark a fine opportunity to discuss correct dress and in tableaux, again, she visualized the various correct and incorrect lines of ladies' gowns.

A rare collection of antiques had been assembled under the direction of Mrs. H. S. Brownton, Mrs. Vincent Palmer and Mrs. J. K. Wright. The appeal for these antiques was generously responded to and the collection was very instructive. Another very unique feature of the afternoon was a silver tea, with Mrs. T. J. Scroggin in charge. Some beautiful old silver had been collected for the table, and the decorations were in harmony with the spirit of the day.

Mr. O. B. Silvertorn and Mrs. George Palmer, beautifully costumed in colonial fashion, made a striking appearance while pouring tea, and the ladies assisting in serving were also daintily costumed, which included the Mesdames, C. D. Putnam, W. H. Talbot, J. Donald Meyers, H. B. Bouvy, and Miss Bertha Wallinger.

Announcement was made that the next program would be held in the Star theatre, which will be "Motion Picture Day," under the leadership of Mrs. George Cochran. This program is to be for the public and no admission will be charged. Further announcement will appear in Saturday's paper.

Miss Hilda Anderson was a delightful hostess on Monday evening for the members of the Westminister Guild. During the business meeting, the annual reports of the officers and chairmen were given, showing the wide range of work which this organization has accomplished during the past year. The reports were most complimentary to the executive committee, who have been doing excellent work along missionary, intellectual, and social lines, the three aims of the Guild. During the past year, La Grande has given over $110 to missions, foreign and home.

Officers were elected for the ensuing year as follows: Mrs. J. L. Ingle, president; Mrs. Lynn Bohnerkamp, vice-president; Miss Amy Miller, secretary; Miss Gertrude East, treasurer. Patronesses for the Guild this year will be Mrs. E. P. Mosaman, Mrs. A. T. Hill, Mrs. H. J. Ritter and Mrs. C. M. Humphreys.

Following the business meeting, Mrs. Ray F. Murphy and Miss Hattie Short staged a debate on the question "Resolved, That the Translations of William Morrison Have Been More Effective in a Missionary Program Than the Translations of Robert Casey." Delicious refreshments were served during the social hour which followed.

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Central School will meet Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. A number of excellent programs have been given by this association during the school year, but the program for the Friday afternoon bids fair to be one of the best thus far, as Miss Agnes Dwyer, for sixteen years in the Philippines, and Mrs. Faye Catlin, executive secretary for the Red Cross, will speak. These meetings are for all mothers and fathers, as well as teachers.

There will be a musical skit by the second and third grades, and two vocal solos by Mrs. Ray E. Fuller. Mrs. P. A. McDonald was hostess.

Yesterday afternoon for the members of the Eastern Star Social Club. Six tables were arranged for Five Hundred, Mrs. Donald L. McKay winning high honors. Following the card games, a dainty luncheon was served by the hostess.

The Evening Study Class of the Bible in Art Class held their fourth meeting last evening at the home of Mrs. E. P. Mosaman. Mrs. H. H. Cleaver was in charge of the program for the evening, and gave an excellent talk on the fundamentals of art, and the works of Jean Baptiste-Camille Corot, the noted French landscape painter. The members of the class decided to continue the class on Tuesday evening, at 7:30 o'clock for the present.

Miss Lena Stein left this morning for Seattle, where she will visit with friends for a short time. Miss Stein was formerly with the O. W. office of this city.

The Happy Hour Dancing Club gave a pleasing surprise to Mr. and Mrs. H. C. McEwen at their home, 2816 Second street, Tuesday evening, March 1.

The evening was passed in dancing, until a late hour when refreshments were served and all returned home well pleased with the evening's enjoyment. This club has been organized for some time, but not until recently was the name of the Happy Hour Dancing club adopted.

Those present last evening were, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Moss, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Noah, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Ringo, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Douglass, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Weeks, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McCarthy, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. James O'Neal, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde W. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Williamson and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McEwen.

A pretty home wedding was solemnized Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. C. S. Shultz, 1904 East N. avenue, when Georgia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Dolbow, was given away in marriage to Carl W. Keltz, of La Grande.

To the strains of the wedding march, the bride entered the room on the arm of her father, followed by Miss Nina Rutledge as bridesmaid. They were met by the groom and Mr. Elton Schilling, as best man, under a beautiful bridal arch of pink and yellow daisies, where the ceremony was performed by Rev. J. H. Hutton. Little Milton Shultz, dressed in white, was ring-bearer and carried the symbol on a pink rosebud. The bride wore a beautiful white gown.

Smart Millinery for Matrons with slightly drooping brim of braid, has a "candy" cloth crown encircled by a handsome wreath of flowers and fruit. The braid hat with bell crown, shown at the lower left, is almost universally becoming. It has a sash of ribbon and a wreath of flowers and fruit in lively colors; for the matron no longer has a somber and sedate headwear, at any rate not before she graduates into the class of the aged. For the youngest members of the matron class a spiraled hat like that at the upper left of the group has several things to make it satisfactory. The shape of silk, with soft crown mounted on a bandeau, the accuracy of a group of tucks, the fine handwork that appears in workroom-made bows of silk finished with redwork, the adaptability of lines to the face—all are factors which women of ripe judgment appreciate.
