The girls' basketball team gave a banquet in honor of the boys' basketball team at the high school last evening. The guests including the members of both the first and second boys' teams and the first and second girls' teams. The guests of honor of the evening were Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hampton, Mr. and Mrs. John Stoddard and Earl Reynolds.

The banquet was to be given in the new domestic science department and Miss Hazel Magnuson, head of the domestic science department, used her advanced class to prepare and serve the dinner. The dinner was beautifully put on and speaks well for the thoroughness of the domestic science department of the La Grande high school.

The table decorations were also the work of the girls, and the guests spoke in words of high praise of the artistic manner in which the decorative scheme was carried out. The decorations were appropriate to the spring season—freesias, daffodils and pussy-willows being used to give the affair an atmosphere of the spirit of spring.

Huge pedestals of daffodils and freesias loaded down the tables, which were arranged in the form of a hollow square. In the center a large basket of pussy-willows on pedestals radiated the glory of the awakening of nature. Streamers of purple wisterias were draped from the centerpiece to the corners of the tables.

A novel feature was the place cards. Miniature basketballs with a picture of the guest who was to occupy the place were used as place cards.

Miss Faye Armstrong, coach of the girls' basketball team, acted as toastmistress. She called on the following for toasts: Frank Black, captain of the boys' team; Marjorie O'Brien, captain of the girls' team; John Stoddard, coach of the boys' team; Earl Reynolds, who acted as referee during the entire season, and A. C. Hampton, superintendent of schools. When the time for serving the dessert arrived, Miss Armstrong was forced to call upon herself for a toast—her toast being an announcement that that course would be omitted because the dessert had been stolen several minutes before the time for its serving arrived and could not be replaced immediately.

During the evening the members of the girls' team surprised Miss Armstrong by presenting her with a beautiful ivory brush and comb in appreciation of the splendid work Miss Armstrong did this year, which resulted in a team that could carry off the championship of Eastern Oregon and was defeated but once, and that time by but one point. The presentation was made by Myrtle Harlan, manager of the team.

Covers were laid for the following: Misses Faye Armstrong, Marjorie O'Brien, Frieda Klopfenstein, Bernice Lofland, Myrtle Harlan, Winona Lyman, Mildred Hoyt, Betty Gay Sanders, Catherine Eaton, Geneva Smith, Norma Mayger, Ruby Shirley, Alladen Scroggin, Mrs. A. C. Hampton, Mrs. John Stoddard; Messrs. Frank Black, A. C. Hampton, Bud Theison, Grant Bean, Wright Christian, Clifford Horstman, Myron Chandler, Milo Blokland, Murray Kingwell, Ray Lynch, Tige Larson, Waldo Stoddard, Clarence Woodell, Earl Reynolds and John Stoddard.

The Mission in Bible Class, which has been making an extensive study of foreign missions during the past several weeks, held their last session on Thursday, at the home of Mrs. E. P. Mossman. The class enrollment was composed of members of the Presbyterian Missionary Society and the Westminster Guild, and any others who were interested.

The class has been meeting twice a week, and Monday was "Guest Day." A delightful program had been prepared, the members of the class assuming that the Bible had been taken from the earth. They showed wherein it would be possible to reproduce the Bible by means of law, literature, music, architecture, paintings and from memory. Those taking part in the program were Mrs. A. S. Duryea, Mrs. William Miller, Mrs. R. F. Murphy, Mrs. J. K. Wright, Mrs. James A. Smith and Miss Harriet Short. All were costumed like the figures to be found in the frieze on the wall of the Boston Library.

Following the program, dainty refreshments were served. At the close of the study on Thursday afternoon, the members of the class presented Mrs. E. P. Mossman, at whose home all the meetings have been held, with a beautiful bouquet of spring-time flowers in appreciation of the work she has done for the class.

The social committee of the Country Club has announced that the next big dance for this organization will take place on March 28, at the Club House. This will be the first big party since the opening of the club house, and plans are being made for a delightful party. The committee in charge is composed of Charles Biggner, chairman, Mrs. H. M. Bay, Mrs. W. H. Talbot, Harley Richardson and Lester Stoddard.

"Phonograph" dances are held each Tuesday evening at the club house, and now that the roads between here and the club house are in a 100 per cent condition, a large crowd is expected out this coming Tuesday evening.

Miss Bessie A. Dwyer, who has been visiting with Mrs. George T. Cochran of the past month, will leave tomorrow night for Washington, D. C.

While here Miss Dwyer was the honored guest at many social functions. Mrs. Cochran and Miss Dwyer became warm personal friends while the two were in Manila. It is probable that Miss Dwyer will in the future make her headquarters in San Francisco, although her present official headquarters in her educational work on the Philippines are in Washington.

Miss Dwyer is one of the most accomplished women ever visiting here. She was formerly a lawyer and, for a number of years, was librarian of the Manila library, the largest in the islands. She has made an intensive study of the Philippine problem and the numerous talks she gave before schools, clubs and other bodies in Union county during her stay here were well received, whatever she had to say carrying much authority.

Mrs. Margaret Ingle is hostess this afternoon to the Clio Club. The afternoon is being spent in cards and conversation and Mrs. Ingle has prepared a delicious lunch, to be served before the departure of her guests.

Mrs. Robert Pratt entertained at dinner Thursday evening in honor of Miss Mary Jacobs, of Los Angeles, who was the house guest of Mrs. Pratt several days this week. The affair was a very informal one. Among the guests were Rev. Jas. W. Gunn and Miss Faye Armstrong.

The members of the Eastern Star Social club will be entertained this Tuesday, by Mrs. F. W. Parsons.

The Parent-Teachers' association of the Riviera school met at the school house yesterday afternoon and enjoyed a splendid program during the afternoon. The feature of the day's program was a talk by Miss Bessie Dwyer, who gave a most interesting lecture on the Philippine Islands. Miss Dwyer held the attention of her audience from beginning to end and all declared that she speaks with remarkable authority on her subject.

Several musical numbers rounded off the afternoon's program. Refreshments were served during a social hour following the program.

A progressive dinner will be given this evening by a number of La Grande's social leaders. The affair will be very informal in nature and each matron will contribute a course to the dinner, as well as a portion of the evening's entertainment at her home.

Those who will share the responsibility of the evening's pleasure are Mrs. John Theison, Mrs. J. Donald Meyers, Mrs. C. D. Putnam, Mrs. W. H. Talbot, Mrs. William Bollens, Mrs. H. M. Bouvy, Mrs. Robert Miller and Miss Bertha Walsinger.

Mrs. T. G. Read, of Farmington, Wash., is visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. R. Herman.

The Young Women's Educational Auxiliary met last Monday night at the M. E. Church parlors, which were very artistically decorated with palms, draperies, divans and pictures to resume an "Indian" atmosphere.

The study for the evening was the chapter on "India," each member of the committee, who were the Misses Faye Milligan, McAllister, Minot and McNeese, lead the discussion by turns.

In the green, mellow lights, with the incense burning, the members enjoyed a very fine program. The ladies quartette, composed of Mrs. Scott Wheatley, Miss Aveda Peterson, Miss Thelma Osterling, and Miss Cecelia Bollman, sang two very pretty sacred songs. Miss Mildred Bush rendered a beautiful piano solo. Miss Minot read a very interesting and instructive paper on "Doctors, Nurses and Medicines of India." The last number was a little Hindu play given by five of the Junior Missionary girls, Leta Pierson, Constance Cleaver, Liletta Leighton, Mildred Fox and Elizabeth Tayton.

Refreshments of hot tamales, India relish with a cube of coconut and tea were served.

Miss Mary Jacobs, of Los Angeles, provincial vice-president of the Girls' Friendly society, spoke at the local branch's meeting in Honan hall Wednesday evening. Miss Jacobson told of the origin and growth and aims of the society.

The world-wide scope of the organization, which functions for the benefit of the local communities, in which hundreds of branches are located, was a feature of the work that surprised many of the members present Wednesday evening.

Following Miss Jacobson's talk, a number of girls under the able direction of Miss Faye Armstrong, presented an old-time play, "Mistis Runaway." The play was presented on short notice and the presentation speaks well for the ability of the girls and for the coaching they received. It was enjoyed very much by all present.

The cast was composed of Cressa Wells, who played the part of Rupert, a young man; Naomi James, who took the part of Clarissa, the leading lady; Maurine Moore, who was the lady's maid, and May Dunn, who played the part of the landlady of an old-time inn.

Mrs. Richard P. Landis, president of the Young Women's Educational Auxiliary, has asked that as many members as possible meet with her immediately following the evening services at the Methodist Church tomorrow, for an important meeting.
