good of the whole county, and establishing the early ambitions of the club that it build up for all sections. The chairman has kept in mind the good of the county rather than of La Grande alone, and the spirit of good fellowship now existing is evidence of much good work along this line.

City Planning—C. B. Miller.

The past year has not developed any great amount of action but we have been ready at all times to help with any proposition that would tend to systematic or beautiful city.

We had for our guest this year, Mr. Cheney, who is recognized as one of the leading city planning engineers of this country, and from his talk before the club the members have gained a wider knowledge of the great needs for early planning in our city. Civic Affairs—Dr. Ray F. Murphy.

This committee has worked diligently on all civic affairs undertaken. The most important of these was the placing before the commissioners of the city and county the proposition of having a police matron. This did not develop fully, due to the shortage of funds that would be sufficient to attract the proper women for this position. Other matters have been handled from time to time as they were placed before this committee.

Entertainment—Dr. E. P. Mossman. If all committees of the club had functioned as has this one, the results of the year's work would be even more striking. The chairman and his committee have been hitting a fast pace this entire year, and the greatest undertaking was the entertainment of the Portland Chamber of Commerce on their trip into Eastern Oregon, and the Armistice Day dinner to the American Legion.

At almost every meeting of this club the committee has been called upon for the feeding and entertainment of visitors, and we feel that we have met every occasion successfully. Education—A. C. Hampton.

This committee has fulfilled its duties upon all occasions, and stands
