BURGLARS LEAVE BEDS AND STOVE

BAKER, Mar. 29.—Upon his return to this city Tuesday from his ranch at Pleasant Valley, A. L. La Vier was surprised to find that sometime during the past week burglars had entered his home and had removed everything excepting the beds and cooking stove. Mr. La Vier was called to Baker by neighbors who reported that the windows of his home were open and that they suspected robbery. The tracks of a heavy wagon were found in the yard by Mr. La Vier but aside from that there were no clues upon which the police officials could work.

HUNGRY CHINESE EAT CORN COBS

That a steady diet of sound corn cobs and sweet potato viles is not conducive to an ideal physical condition is attested by Miss Marie Rustin, graduate nurse, well known in Oregon, who is now in charge of the Taylor Memorial hospital, under the management of the American Presbyterian Mission at Paotingfu, China.

In a letter written by Miss Rustin less than eight weeks ago to the members of the Sangrael Christian Endeavor society of the First Presbyterian church in Portland, Miss Rustin tells of the appalling conditions throughout North China, where 45,000,000 men, women and children are confronted with starvation and where 15,000 are dying daily. Miss Rustin has been at Paotingfu for about three years and for many months past, like all other mission attaches and relief workers in China, has been concentrating all efforts on the task of lessening the suffering of the famine victims.

While Paotingfu is on the outskirts of the great drought-ridden famine district, just south of Peking, Miss Rustin writes that even there all the missions and relief stations are literally swamped with the supplications of many thousands of men, women and children who are half-dead in thin rags, weak from undernourishment and struggling desperately to keep alive on roots, bark or anything that offers sustenance. The situation in the heart of the famine section, she says, is simply beyond the imagination.

"We are doing all we can," writes Miss Rustin, "here in our hospital trying to build up the weakened bodies of famine sufferers who come to us in frightful condition. We're getting patients who have been trying to live on ground-up corn cobs and sweet potato viles. We have all been asked to give until it hurts, and now that it has grown so cold we do not dare to think of freezing, starving thousands right at our door. In going to a soup kitchen where we feed 670 people twice a day, I was surrounded so by the poor creatures that I thought they would crush the life out of me before I could get in and coming out it was the same way. They are so hungry and cold they are desperate. Personally I have gone without $3 worth of milk a month that I used to use, do not eat butter at all and have only eaten bread once a day for the last three months, in order to give to the famine poor. Through this personal sacrifice I have the joy of knowing that three girls who might have been sold have been saved from a life of shame and misery and that one man will be kept alive for five months.

"A friend sent me a check the other day and I was able to save a girl from being sold and she will be put in school. Things are being started to help these poor souls, but there is a long, hard pull until the harvest time. You can all help by giving to the China famine fund and share in the great opportunities of saving life and opening the way for Christianity, for the Chinese people will surely be interested in what we have to tell them of the gospel if we are good to them now in their great trouble."

State Manager J. J. Handsaker, in charge of the executive work for Oregon for the combined China-Near East campaign, 606 Stock Exchange building, Portland, says the situation is no less serious in the near east than in China, and liberal funds must be raised for both causes if wholesale death by starvation is to be prevented, or even lessened.

Family of Seven Die Together.

Because they could no longer stand the agonies of starvation, a Chinese family of seven committed suicide. The father and mother first bound their five children together, then lashed themselves to the children, and all leaped into a river. The seven bodies, all bound together, were seen by L. V. Lewis of Portland, who recently returned from the famine section in North China.

"With 45,000,000 starving, the situation is a colossal tragedy," said Mr. Lewis, "and rather than see their children suffer any longer, parents all through the famine lands are killing their little ones and then themselves. There are millions of scant, emaciated, half-naked men, women and children roaming the famine lands, chewing roots and bark, and hanging tenaciously to life, in the effort to pull through until spring. The relief organizations are struggling against the overwhelming situation, and are saving some of those on the edge of the great famine district. Surely every man, woman and child in Oregon will want to give something towards the China Famine Fund."

Spreading over North China, with the speed of a hurricane, is a horribleness of suffering and starvation, of pestilence and death—all due to the most terrible famine the world has ever known. The following cable from Admiral Tsai Ting Nan, paints the gruesome picture:

"Five northern provinces are famine-ridden. Whole districts living on weeds and leaves. Selling or drowning children. Whole families committing suicide. Children suffer most. Calamity so colossal is hard secure funds for adequate relief. Epidemic feared in spring."

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy—Nothing So Good for a Cough or Cold.

"Everyone who has used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy speaks well of it," writes Edward P. Miller, Allentown, Pa. "People who are used to this preparation are seldom affected with any other. It is excellent for a cough or break up a cold."—adv.

"MY LADY'S GARTER," TOURNEUR PICTURE, A MYSTERY-ROMANCE

Maurice Tourneur has made a thrilling motion picture out of Jacques Futrelle's well known mystery-romance, "My Lady's Garter," which is being shown at the Sherry Theatre today only.

The story centers around the pursuit of a baffling international thief, known as "The Hawk," and involves the love affair of a young Englishman who was for some time suspected of being the criminal and the daughter of a railroad magnate. The plot is spirited in the extreme and involves such thrilling scenes as the near-crash of two railroad trains, an exciting pursuit on the water in yachts, and the escape of "The Hawk" by a leap from a second-story window and his final end in motorboat explosion.

Also showing a comedy and "Movie Chats."

"IF I WERE KING" ENDS RUN TONIGHT

Never have the patrons of the Arcade Theatre been better pleased with a picture than with "If I Were King," in which William Farnum plays the part of the swaggering vagabond, Francois Villon.

This picture more than lived up to the advance notices. It will be shown for the last time tonight at the Arcade Theatre.

VAUDEVILLE AT THE ARCADE WEDNESDAY

Tomorrow, Wednesday, at the Arcade Theatre will see the return of the regular four-act vaudeville shows that have been absent for several weeks. After much re-arranging, cussing and discussing, the acts have been routed through the territory a little differently and the booking office has produced a better grade of acts than have been appearing here in the past. Every Wednesday the vaudeville acts will appear at the Arcade Theatre.

This week's bill is made up of a trio, two teams and a single and contains a little bit of everything.

Two complete shows will be given at night, starting at 7:15, and a matinee at 3:15.

THE PNEUMONIA MONTH.

March is a typical pneumonia month and usually gives a high rate of mortality for the disease. After a long and hard winter, the system loses much of its resistance and people grow careless. When every cold, no matter how slight, is given prompt and intelligent attention, there should be borne in mind that pneumonia is a germ disease and breeds in the throat. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is an expectorant and cleans out the system of mucus and not only cures a cold but prevents its resulting in pneumonia. It is pleasant to take. Children take it willingly.—adv.

Pleasure of Writing—

Letters to be answered. Use the right kind of stationery. Writing a letter on poor stationery is just the same as rudely breaking into a conversation. When your message is written on the proper kind of stationery it gets a better introduction, a quicker hearing, more willing ears and more consideration. Your personal correspondence paper should be of the very best, and that's the kind we sell. A big assortment and many different kinds ready for your selection. Prices right.

And get more genuine chewing satisfaction, when you use this class of tobacco.

This is because the full, rich, real tobacco taste lasts so long, you don't need a fresh chew nearly as often.

And a small chew gives more real satisfaction than a big chew of the ordinary kind ever did.

Any man who uses the Real Tobacco Chew will tell you that.

Good Weather is Ahead

Last month—about the time the Groundhog was poking his head out of the hole to renew the ancient controversy about his prophetic ability—close observers of business conditions received an infinitely more trustworthy forecast of good business weather ahead.

The size of one of the largest nationally circulated publications was increased from 115 to 148 pages to accommodate national advertisers who offer the public articles of everyday need.

This indicates returning confidence, and proves that business men are going after business with renewed energy.

Our patrons among local business men have always had confidence in this Institution to co-operate with them in their efforts to hasten the return of good business weather.
