Mrs. Fred Schilke accompanied the members of the University of Oregon Girls' Glee Club when they left this morning for Baker. Mrs. Schilke's daughter, Miss Friedrick, is a member of the club, and Mrs. Schilke also expects to accompany the club to Pendleton, where they sing tomorrow evening.

Manager of Girls Here—
Don D. Davis, who is assistant manager of the girls' glee club of the University of Oregon and the only man accompanying the club on its tour, aside from the director, is registered at the Foley. One woman is too much for many men to handle, but Davis feels big enough to have something to say to twenty-two.

Doctor O'Connor in Town—
Dr. O'Connor, who owns one of the most important residence additions to La Grande, is over from Union today and will remain for a few days attending to business matters. The doctor says everything looks good to him, that the present troubles mean little for the general affairs of the nation will be all right as soon as the vacuum cleaner is applied in all departments.

Poultrymen Meet—
A meeting is being held this afternoon in the city hall of poultry producers of the county. An organization will probably be effected for the purpose of working in the interests of the poultry industry in the county. One of the features that is being discussed today is the arranging of a number of culling demonstrations throughout the county for the purpose of making the flocks more efficient.

"Smallpox—I had 'Em," Says Joe—
Joe Jones is on the street again after having been tied up with what he terms the worst mess of smallpox that has infested this country since General Lee surrendered. "Those people who think the smallpox is a mild, lady-like disease ought to have seen my eyes for several days," said Mr. Jones. "I tell you, these are the old-fashioned kind of smallpox, and they don't respect a fellow a bit when they tackle him from the scalp clear down to the soles of his feet." Joe is getting in good shape again, and when it was mentioned that once upon a time there was a fellow nicknamed Three Star Hennessy, he smiled in the good old-time manner.

Attends Meeting in Spokane—
A. C. Hampton, superintendent of the La Grande schools, left yesterday evening for Spokane, Washington, where he will attend the session of the Inland Empire teachers. Mr. Hampton expects to return Saturday.

Dog Licenses Must Be Secured—
The police department will be kept busy rounding up licenseless dogs after April 1 if owners of dogs do not come into the treasurer's office to pay the annual dog license before that day. Last year over 200 licenses were issued and dozens of stray dogs were disposed of by the police. This year the records show that only 55 have been issued. The fee is $1 for males and $2 for females.
