BAKER INVITES LA GRANDE FOLKS

So pleased with the excellent automobile show and merchants' exposition, which has been on in Baker for several days, the people of that city wired the Observer today asking that La Grande people make arrangements to visit the show tomorrow. All exhibits and displays will be in place, also demonstrations will be given. There will be no program because of the Sabbath day, but the entire exposition may be viewed by the La Grande people who take advantage of the kind invitation extended by Baker.

FILLING STATION OPENS ON MONDAY AT 1703 ADAMS

Five dollars will be given by Howard F. Richardson to the lady offering the most acceptable name for his new filling station at 1703 Adams avenue, which will open for business on Monday morning.

Richardson will carry a full line of gasoline and oils, two lines of oils being carried, the Monogram brand and a complete line of the Standard Oil company's products.

Air and water will always be on tap and these will be free to all motorists, whether they gas up and oil up or not.

"BRUTE MASTER" IS FEATURE AT ARCADE TODAY AND SUNDAY

Hobart Bosworth, whose latest starring vehicle, "The Brute Master" will be shown at the Star Theatre Saturday and Sunday, has in the title role of this picture what critics and Mr. Bosworth himself, declare to be better suited to him than any role he has thus far essayed.

As "Bucko McAllister," the brute master who rules the crew of his weather-beaten old schooner, and at others with whom he comes in contact by sheer force of his giant-like strength, the popular star does work that for convincing realism has seldom been equalled on the screen. Indeed, so true does the characterization ring, that in viewing this picture one has great difficulty in believing that it is acting, and not the "brute master" himself.

LA GRANDE NEWS 28 YEARS AGO

From the files of the weekly La Grande Gazette, for September 23, 1892.

John Howard, wife, Lulu, and their dog, who passed through La Grande after leaving Seattle March 10 to walk to Chicago, by the 15th of September, on a wager of $5,000 arrived at their destination August 31, having accomplished their feat with half a month to spare.

A young son of George Hammock died in this city last Sunday morning of malaria fever.

Judge Knowles and J. M. Berry are doing the metropolis this week. They will take in the exposition before returning.

A trainload of horses numbering 500 head were shipped from here Tuesday evening, Kansas City being the objective point.

The newly married couple, Mr. L. B. Thomas and bride, were tendered a serenade by the La Grande band Tuesday evening.

Uncle George Webb, who has been to Maryland on a visit, was last heard from from Hannibal, Missouri. He is on his way home and expects to arrive here about the first of the month.

The second annual fair of the Grande Ronde Valley Agricultural Society opens one week from next Monday. The pavilion has been enlarged, and additional stable room provided, and a very successful meeting is anticipated.

While on a hunting trip last Sunday, G. M. Richey succeeded in bagging a good-sized coyote. "Mac" is becoming quite an experienced hunter, and with "Mine leetle vee tog" at his heels he wages war on anything that crosses his path.

S. A. Gardiner is erecting a residence on Fourth street.

Mr. George Brown, one of the directors in the Grande Ronde Lumber company, has gone to Hot Lake to try the efficacy of the water there.

J. W. Eckley, a brother of F. L. Eckley of the Chronicle office, arrived in La Grande Monday evening. He has been spending the summer in the Willamette Valley, and previous to last spring, the brothers had not seen each other for fifteen years.

Australia's Great Butter Country. Australia produces about 200,000,000 pounds of butter annually, at a value of $30,000,000.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

La Grande Treatment Cure—Robert E. Zimmerman spent a couple of days in La Grande the last of the week having his eyes treated. He is again able to run the adding machine in the office of the E. M. & M. Co.—Enterprise Record-Chief-tain.

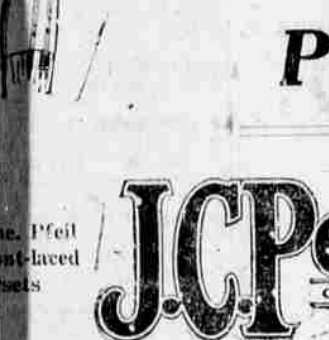

Leaving for Portland—Mrs. Mary Clark is leaving for her home in Portland this evening, after having been visiting with her parents, and her husband, whose work keeps him stationed here.

Roads Generally Good—Roads leading to La Grande are in comparatively good condition, with the exception of the Minam road beyond Elgin and the road west, much snow still being encountered on the mountain. The Cove road is passable, and the road east is in good condition all the way to Baker and beyond.

Snow Still too Deep—Although one car bucked the snow and crossed over the Blue Mountains this week, tourists are not rushing over the mountains very rapidly. Five cars arrived via train on Wednesday, all of which had tried to get across but when they got above the snow line on the west slope they gave up and shipped via train.

Traveling services in various parts of the city are being circulated now and will probably be presented to the city commission at next Wednesday's meeting. One calls for grading and graveling two blocks on Cherry and two on Pennsylvania. Residents out that way state that the rats are nearly knee-deep in places and machines cannot get over the streets during the winter months.

SCANDAL ALWAYS PROVES INTERESTING

Everybody loves scandal—except those immediately concerned. Folks may not approve of gossip—but they usually listen! A men little story is easier to start going than a drive for charity funds, and it gains more undivided attention before it finishes than a home run by the local team. Everybody is interested, you bet, though many are too polite to cheer. Well, Maybell's floral kisses started this particular scandal going, though goodness knows the poor girl was innocent of any evil intentions. "Food for Scandal," starring beautiful Wanda Hawley, comes to the Arcade theatre Monday and Tuesday.

FIVE NOTED PLAYERS IN "KISS ME CAROLINE"

When a one-reel comedy star is so hard to find, it is certainly unusual to find five noted players appearing in a two-reel production, but this is just what "Kiss Me Caroline," a new Christia Comedy, which comes to the Star Theatre today and Sunday, accomplishes.

"Kiss Me Caroline" is called a "comedy of complications." It tells the story of two youths who are expelled from college because of their admiration for a couple of actresses. On their return home one is thrown bodily out of his home, and the other given thirty days in which to marry and settle down. They solve the problem, they think, by the homeless one impersonating the bride, but that is really the start of their troubles, especially when the groom's sister and her girl friend come to spend the week-end with the young couple.

Of the Family of Smiths. Its man who strolls his name with "J" and a final "e" is not the heroic Smith that many suppose; the name was originally spelled in this manner. Did not other Smiths of course, were you, the word "Smith" was a man who worked in bronze, a greensmith worked to lead. The word name "Smith" is thought to be derived from

on the law of 1907 creating the Court of Civil Appeals, the court—if any—to which the complainants contended the petition for the writs should have gone.

It has always been the policy of the Tennessee supreme court, the complainants contended, to construe the 1907 law as conferring jurisdiction on the Court of Civil Appeals in every case which does not clearly fall within certain exceptions, among which are cases involving the "statutes of Tennessee." The complainants contended the case was not one involving the constitutionality of a "statute."

Application Declared Improper

"If there was one instance above another made by the learned attorney general throughout the controversy over the passing of the proposed Nineteenth Amendment," the complainants counsel urged, "it was that of the legislature was not passing a 'statute' in dealing with the ratification resolution, and, therefore, the constitutional provisions relating to the passage of bills did not apply."

EUGENE O'BRIEN AT THE ARCADE SUNDAY

"World's Apart" is the title of Eugene O'Brien's latest Selznick Picture which the Arcade theatre will present as its principal photoplay attraction for Sunday only.

The story of "World's Apart" deals with the bitter disillusionment of a young man who is only saved from becoming a bitter cynic through the chance meeting with another who has suffered more than he. They join forces and the union leads to the untangling of a mystery and ultimately great happiness.

CLEANUP IS UNDER WAY

FIRE PERMITS NOT NEEDED NEXT WEEK

All Rubbish Will Be Hauled Away a Week From Today by City—Boy Scouts Aid in Work

No fire permit will be necessary during the coming week, clean-up week, according to announcement by City Manager George Garrett. All persons who build bon fires to burn rubbish during that week should, however, be very careful if the wind is blowing and no fires should be built when the weather is extremely windy.

Mr. Garrett said, regarding the clean-up campaign, "April 13 to 16 has been designated as clean-up week. It is desired that all people clean up their premises, burning all papers and rubbish possible. All other rubbish should be placed in the streets on Friday, April 15. This rubbish will be hauled away free of charge by the city. Whenever it is possible to do so this rubbish should be placed in sacks or boxes. All rubbish not placed in the streets before April 15, will not be carted away by the city, as we expect to have enough teams employed on Saturday to remove all rubbish. The boy scouts will aid in this work as much as possible and should be shown proper courtesy."

FORMER BANKER IS SENTENCED

MEDFORD, Apr. 5.—William H. Johnson, former cashier of the bank of Jackson, pleaded guilty today to the four indictments charging him with the wrecking of that institution. He was given an indeterminate sentence of ten years.

WORK AND SAVE, SAYS MR. DOBBIN

LARGE OPERATOR OF WALLOWA COUNTY PASSES THROUGH

Believes Conditions Are Better Because People Are Beginning To Economize

"There is only one way out of this present perplexing period," said Jay Dobbin, one of Oregon's heaviest operators in land and livestock, "and that is to work and save. I think things are a little better than they were for the reason that people are thinking more about economy than they did. This nation has had some periods similar but none quite like this one. However, the American people can do anything. If every home will begin to cut out the unnecessary expenses look how the wealth will begin to pile up. We could pay our war debts and every debt in a very reasonable time on the luxury money spent each month. I notice there is a change in the right direction. People are not spending the money they did. Things white-tighter, are safer and all are getting down to a realization of what must be done. Whenever people once realize what is needed to save the country, you can bet the country will be saved. That's the American of it. We are all right yet in this great nation."

Point Out Fire Hazard

Circulars were distributed this week among the children in all the county schools calling attention to the fire hazard of the forests. The circulars give the terrific signs by fire in the forests every year and also show how the majority of these fires could have been prevented. They were distributed through the county superintendent's office, the U. S. Forest Service, and the U. S. A. having provided the circulars.
