ETIQUETTE

Walking in Public.

A lady, unless she is infirm or elderly, does not take the arm of a man when walking on the street by day. After nightfall, she may, if she wishes, accept his support, though in these modern times she is apt to avail herself of it only in crossing a crowded thoroughfare. If she does so, she places her hand just in the angle of his elbow; she does not hook her arm through his, as is too often the ungraceful habit. When two women are escorted by one man at night, only one of them takes his arm. The women should walk side by side, not with their escort between them.

At all times a gentleman walks on that side of a woman companion on which he can afford her the greatest protection from danger or obstacles. Thus, in crossing a street he is able to give her the right or left arm as he wishes. No habit is in worse taste than that of too many well-meaning men, of grasping a woman by the elbow to guide her awkwardly over every crossing and puddle; but quite as bad as this is the practice of reversing the proper order, and the man's thrusting his hand through the woman's arm.

SNOW CLEARING IN NEW YORK

Heavy blizzards during the winter of 1919-20 brought traffic to a standstill in New York and throughout the eastern and northern states; heavy snowfalls tied up business completely for days. Man-power, shovels, teams, wagons and trucks were all tried, but these methods proved inadequate to clear the streets. The City of New York alone spent over six million dollars trying to keep the streets clear, not only for general traffic, but for the general safety. Officials realized the extreme danger from fire, particularly in the congested business district, because the accumulated snow and ice on the streets practically rendered helpless the city fire-fighting equipment. By good fortune, no serious fires occurred during this period, but the city fire department, street cleaning department, and other officials appreciated as they never had before the extreme importance of being equipped and prepared to quickly dispose of snowfalls occurring during that winter.

Realizing that a fleet of "Caterpillar" Tractors equipped with proper snow plows would solve this problem, The Holt Manufacturing Company brought these machines immediately before the serious consideration of New York City officials. The project was thoroughly investigated by engineers connected with the department of street cleaning, fire department, also mayor and other city officials, etc., and appropriations were made for extensive purchases of this class of equipment.

GAVE UP HOPE OF ALL RELIEF

Now Well and Strong Again. He Says Tanlac Has Made a New Man of Him.

"I simply cannot fully describe what I suffered for five years from indigestion," but I now feel like a new man and give Tanlac all the credit for my relief," said Carl Olsen, a well-known mechanic of Woodburn, Oregon.

"My stomach was in such a disordered condition that nothing I ate agreed with me, and I ventured to eat certain vegetables or anything sour or highly seasoned, was formed and bloated me up until I nearly suffocated, and I had such pains in my stomach I could hardly stand it. I got to where I didn't know what to do, for if I ate I suffered and if I didn't eat I suffered and felt perfectly miserable all the time. I was habitually constipated and constantly taking something for that as well as for indigestion, but nothing gave me any relief. I was as yellow as a pumpkin, my tongue was always thickly coated and I woke up in the mornings with a mean, sickening taste in my mouth.

"I had tried so many things without getting any help that I almost despaired of ever being well again, but after taking Tanlac, I was soon on the road to health. So I just kept on taking it and kept on improving until now I am entirely free from indigestion and can eat just anything I want. My complexion has cleared up and I no longer have a bad taste in my mouth; I have gained ten pounds and feel fine all the time. I just can't say enough in praise of Tanlac, for it has given me back my health, which I thought was gone for good."—adv.

LADD CANYON FARMERS BUSY

LADD CANYON, May 7.—(Special)—Farmers are busy getting their spring plowing finished and grain sown, since the ground has had a chance to dry up so they can work.

Roy Peebler, of Waitsburg, Wn., is here on a visit to home folks, and especially to visit for a few days with his invalid sister, Helen, who has been confined to her bed for so long a time. Roy expects to return to Waitsburg today.

Mrs. Geneva Childers returned to her home in Oakland, Calif., after spending a month with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Butler.

Mrs. Allie Winburn and children came out to visit home folks this week. Florence is slowly improving after her long spell of sickness.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Couch spent Thursday afternoon at Hot Lake. They went to consult Dr. Phy in regard to their little son, Wilbur's health.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Drumsmith returned home Friday from Pendleton, where Mr. Drumsmith has been for the past two weeks in the hospital. The trip home made him very tired, but it is hoped he may be able to be out again soon.

Miss Amy Miller is enjoying a drive home each night, for a while during the nice weather.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Matot are visitors at the Drumsmiths. Mr. Ma-tot has been assisting with the work during Mr. Drumsmith's sickness.

The patrons of our school were invited to a program Friday afternoon, given by the Busy Bee Sewing Club of girls, assisted by the school and a display of their work for the year. The program was an interesting one, consisting of recitations, dialogues and music. The display of work was indeed gratifying to those interested. It was neat and tasty and showed that they had accomplished as much as could be expected of children of their years. Miss Ruby Emmitt sang a solo, "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling." Mrs. Clyde Happle played a piano solo and Mrs. Adolph Peebler sang "Daisies Won't Tell." The music added to the children's program and gave a very pleasant afternoon to all present. The girls and Miss Emmitt served punch and cookies. School closes in another week, owing to the County Exams, coming next week, so they thought best to get their entertainment of this week. Miss Emmitt has done good work with this class.

Business Picking Up.

The summer business at the Soda Fountain is looking up somewhat. All seem to be good and ready for it. That is what we notice at Al Cain's. Palace Confectionery Co.
