ETIQUETTE

Accepting House Party Invitations. In accepting or rejecting a house party invitation, promptness in replying is essential, especially where one is being counted upon to balance a given number of guests. Unless the hostess specifies just which train she expects her guest on, the latter should state exactly when and how she will arrive, leaving the arrangements open to change, however, should the hostess desire to do so. The following is a proper form of reply to an invitation from one with whom one is not intimate:

Covington Place, May the twenty-fifth, My dear Mrs. Reeves: Your charming invitation I shall be glad to accept. The cruise, I know, will be enjoyable and I thank you for including me in the list of those to meet your sister from London. If it is agreeable to you, I shall arrange to reach Five Points on the 4 p. m. train, and spend the entire week as you so graciously suggest. With kindest regards to you and Mr. Reeves, believe me, Sincerely yours, Sue Ann Carey.

Call in Saturday.

On Saturday of this week at the Palace Confectionery on your way home, stop and secure a special box, specially priced for the occasion and for Saturday.

"SEVEN BALD PATES" WILL SHOW AT STAR

With a regular payroll of nearly a hundred it is seldom that the Christie Comedy organization has to summon aid from the organization, but this had to be done in making "Seven Bald Pates," which comes to the Star Theatre on Saturday and Sunday. Bald-headed men were needed. One, and possibly two could have been provided from the organization, but seven of them were wanted. All seven of them add to the troubles of Bobby in his efforts to get married in the picture.

EARLE WILLIAMS STARS IN FILM AT SHERRY THEATRE

Action, adventure, comedy, strange events, love and athletic prowess blended into an intensely interesting story is "Diamonds Adrift," starring Earle Williams.

The magazine story so appealed to the star that when Albert E. Smith, president of Vitaphone, was at Hollywood Mr. Williams induced him to purchase the picture rights. The author made several additions to the original story, which greatly enhanced the pictorial value. The scenes are laid along the Pacific coast from Los Angeles harbor to Mazatlan, Mexico. The film was made in the exact locale of the story, special permission being obtained from Mr. Smith to carry the company into Mexico.

MR. FARMER!

Sunflower for Silage is being used more extensively each year in this inter-mountain section. It has passed the experimental stage, and progressive stockmen recognize the saving it means to their winter feed bill.

Sunflower has been grown successfully at an elevation of 6,000 feet, where the average rainfall is 10 inches. In the section referred to, in 1920, the wheat crop was a failure.

A carload of stock salt at less than wholesale cost:
50 pound sacks, per ton $22.50
