QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Attending Church

If a lady is accompanied by a gentleman she does not take the aisle seat, and when seated, she merely loosens her wraps. If in winter and she wears a heavy fur coat she removes it and either places it under the seat or folds it carefully over the back of the seat. A gentleman when wearing an overcoat folds it and lays it under his seat with his hat.

When one has no certain pew it is an act of ill-breeding to go forward and take a pew uninvited. A lady or gentleman will remain in the rear until an usher leads them to a seat.

In recognizing friends or acquaintances in the congregation it is proper to bow in recognition. At the close of service and after reaching the vestibule friends may converse in passing to the street.

Dear Friends of our Fountain:

To know the fullest pleasure good soda drinks can give make the "tastest" with one of our chocolate combinations.

There's a difference in chocolate—you will never know how big a difference until you taste ours.

We serve chocolate in more ways than other fountains do, too (an excellent chance to let your fancy roam in choice.)

The richness of flavor of our chocolate is repeated in all drink flavors we serve; each is full flavored, rich, heavy, true—as fruity as nature provides, as flavorful as fresh fruit can be.

You can go the limit in choice of kinds, combinations and fancies; we have reached the limit in flavor, purity and deliciousness.
