BY JOHNNY KILBANE, Featherweight Champion

Jack Dempsey has more good fights in his system than Georges Carpentier. The reason I think so is because he hasn't been milling as long as the Frenchman.

Carpentier will go in the ring at Jersey City July 2 entering his 14th year in the prize ring. Dempsey has been fighting but a little over 6 years.

Fourteen years in the prize ring before getting a crack at the world's title is a long time.

Ruby Bob Fitzsimmons fought for 17 years before he met James J. Corbett for the heavyweight belt and won it in 1897. Fitz held the title for two years, losing to James J. Jeffries. Ruby Bob boxed on for five years longer, making a total of 24 years spent in the prize ring.

John L. Sullivan began boxing in 1878. Four years later, in 1882, he won the world title from Paddy Ryan. His total ring career covered 18 years.

James J. Corbett had been boxing 7 years before he defeated John L. for the title in 1892. Corbett held the title five years, losing to Bob Fitzsimmons. His entire ring career extended over a period of 18 years.

Jeff Came Fast. James J. Jeffries came fast. He began boxing seriously in 1896. Three years later he was the world's heavyweight champion after beating Fitzsimmons. Jeff was through in 1910 after Jack Johnson knocked him out at Reno.

Jack Johnson began fighting in 1899. It was 11 years before he beat Jeffries when the big fellow tried a comeback. Johnson is still boxing while serving time in Leavenworth prison and will essay a comeback on his release, which comes in July.

Jess Willard began boxing in 1911. Four years later in 1915 he took the belt away from Johnson at Havana. Jess is not through yet. He wants

JOSH WISE ON THE FIGHT

BY JACK RAPER
A WORD FROM JOSH WISE: Everybody's callin' Carpentier th' man av mystery. That's what they used t' call Ponzi.

Jack McAuliffe, a champion of years ago, looked over Carpentier and then remarked: "He has a pasty look." Most of the fighters nowadays have a dough-y look.

From what we can learn from the newspapers, the busiest man in the Carpentier camp is the cook.

Our own idea of a prizefighter's menu is that it should be selected from this list:

- Fish, pike preferred—fine for roasting.
- Round steak.
- Chops.
- Hash—it's generally made of scraps.
- Duck.
- Beets.
- Cauliflower.
- For dessert—Pound cake with whipped cream, sponge cake, punch or claret.

Jack Dempsey is doing light work at Atlantic City. That's what Thomas A. Edison is doing at Orange, N. J.

They're beginning to talk now about who should be the referee. We have no candidate for the job, but we think J. P. Morgan should be holding the stakes.

Dempsey is said to be doing just enough work to keep from getting

Somebody wants to know what kind of a dog Carpentier brought over from France. Foolish question. A pug dog, of course.

DEEP MYSTERY PICTURE AT ARCADE ON SUNDAY

That crime will out, no matter how deep the mystery, though modern police methods, if the police only get a fair start with the criminal, is demonstrated in "The Blue Pearl," a thrilling mystery screen play, to be seen at the Arcade Sunday only.

From the time the blue pearl disappears from the neck of its owner in a crowded room, the method of the police in ferreting crimes of this nature is shown. And when the pearl is finally produced from its hiding place by the police commissioner in person, it comes from a source none in the audience has suspected.
