City Manager Well Pleased With Work Being Done on Proposed Water System for City.

The plans of the survey for the proposed water supply system of La Grande, as well as the profiles, have been completed by Stevens and Koon, consulting engineers of Portland, according to George Garrett, city manager, who returned yesterday from Portland, where he had been on business for several days. At present the engineers' forces are working on the estimates and figuring on different sizes of pipe.

Mr. Koon, who was personally in charge of the field work done here, expects to return here again in a week or ten days to make the necessary reconnaissance surveys and survey other possible sources of supply than those included in his earlier surveys.

In discussing the work being done by Stevens and Koon, Mr. Garrett said: "There is no comparison between the work done last year by another firm of engineers and Stevens and Koon. All of the work done by the engineers this year has been very thorough in nature and whatever specifications and plans they draw can be relied upon as being accurate. I am well pleased with the kind of a job the city is getting."

IMBLER TEAM BEAT HARD

LA GRANDE MAKES NINETEEN TO VISITORS' TWO.

Roberts Pitched Good Game—Imbler Pitcher Lacked the Support of Team.

The Imbler apple-pickers went to the slaughter here Sunday afternoon when the spring La Grande team circumnavigated the bases for 19 runs, while Imbler was doing it twice. Roberts was on the rubber for La Grande and had liberal support, behind him all of the time. While the well-known pitcher of Imbler was puzzling at times, he nevertheless was hit hard and his teammates failed to prop him up. The same was not an overstatement to behold as the one at Baker the week before that. The line-up: La Grande—Workman, c; Crippen, p; Hickox, 2b; Thomson, 1b; Giverty, 3b; Wright, 4b; Childers, 5b; Roberts, p; Rosenbaum, cf; Messinger, lf.

Imbler—E. Condit, cf; Clark, c; Freeman, 1b; Hancock, 2b; Berry, 3b; D. Condit, 4b; White, p; Childers, 5b; Empire, 6b.

MILLION SPENT FOR INSURANCE

WESTERN UNION REPORTS TO EMPLOYEES.

Expense for Pensions and Insurance of Employees Mounts Into Large Sums.

Employees of the Western Union telegraph office received from the New York headquarters today a copy of the company's annual report to employees, showing that its expense for pensions, life insurance and health and accident insurance amounted during 1920 to $920,028.54, an increase of $140,000.00 over the previous year's disbursements.

It was estimated here that practically the whole income of the Western Union from the state of Oregon last year was devoted to paying the expenses of its employees' benefit fund.

Sickness insurance is the heaviest single item, with an expenditure of $414,749.00 for 3757 cases of illness. The next in size is the cost of pensions, 588 employees being carried on the Western Union's pension roll; then $109,000.00 for life insurance payments, averaging $1000.00 in each case, and $116,000.00 for salaries and medical expenses of injured employees. Only $11,000.00 was paid for state compensation insurance premiums, as the company's own plan is said to give the employees more liberal benefits than the state compensation laws.

Employees Help Manage Plan.

The Western Union makes these expenditures from a fund of $1,000,000.00, which it restores each year to the full amount. Steady increases in the number of employees have resulted in using almost the entire million dollar fund each year.

The full expense is carried by the company without deductions or collections from its employees, but the fund is administered co-operatively by a joint committee of officials and employees.

Company Springs Surprise.

Local employees recall that eight years ago, when this system was established, the company announced that a fund would be created to provide either free life insurance or free sickness insurance, and ballots were sent to all employees to name their choice. After all the ballots had been returned to New York the Western Union settled the "choice" by announcing that both life insurance and sickness insurance would be given, and in addition a pension plan and provision for accident insurance. Since that date the company's expenditures for these benefits have amounted to a total of $4,295,734.42, says the report.
