CONTRACTOR IS HIGHLY ELATED

Portland Man Declares He Can't Say Half Enough for the Wonderful Good Feeling and Him

"What I needed was just an all around building up and Taylor has done that very thing for me," said E. P. Frentress, well-known contractor, at 214 Russell street, Portland, Oregon.

"The fact is I hadn't felt well in four years. I had no appetite and when what I did manage to eat did not seem to do me any good. I was constantly suffering with severe headaches, and although I managed to stay on the job I was losing strength right along and had little energy for my work. I could not sleep well, either, and was in a wretched run-down condition.

"A number of my friends had seen Taylor with such splendid results that I began taking it myself. I have an excellent appetite now and eat a good square meal every time I sit down to the table. The headaches have all disappeared, my sleep is sound and refreshing and I have regained my strength and energy. I just can't say half enough good of Taylor for what it has done for me, and will always give it my highest endorsement."

THE SCREEN "LYING LIPS" SHOWS AT ARCADE

Selecting as the theme for his spectacular drama the two most vital and mysterious elements of human existence, life and love, Thomas H. Ince has created in "Lying Lips," his latest production for the Associated Producers, a photoplay which, it is stated, surpasses the most monumental of all his works, the unforgettable "Civilization."

The new special, in which House Peters and Florence Vidor are featured in an all-star cast, the feature attraction of the Arcade Theatre today and Saturday.

E. W. HORNUNG'S "DEAD MEN TELL NO TALES" COMING TO STAR

"Dead Men Tell No Tales," which will be shown at the Star Theatre Saturday and Sunday, is a visualization of the famous novel by E. W. Hornung, author of "Raffles." An all-star cast, under the direction of Tom Terriss, made the story into an unusual picture.

Location finders spent many weeks securing sites that were in keeping with the action. Many magnificent studio sets were constructed at an enormous cost.

"THE GREATER CLAIM" SHOWING AT SHERRYS

That Alice Lake, the adorable Metro star, always excels her previous screen performances, was demonstrated yesterday at the Sherry Theatre, where her latest starring vehicle, "The Greater Claim," had its first showing, as the feature attraction for a run of two days.

There was nothing short of perfection in Alice Lake's interpretation of Mary Smith, the Follies Beauty, "Chuck," twenty and rich, married Mary, but the honeymoon is spoiled when the bridegroom is kidnapped.

Also showing "Lightning Bryes," Episode No. 3, "Perilous Trails."

Many Substitutes for Tea.

There are more than 20 plants used in different parts of the world as substitutes for tea. One of them comes from the dried leaves of a fragrant shrub, a parasite like the mistletoe, and allied to the well-known yew. The Africans have long used its leaves as medicine, and the infusion of them as a drink. Its taste is something between vanilla and bitter almonds.

Snake No Match for Ants.

That ants should be able to kill a snake may seem incredible, at first. When an enemy is spotted the alarm is given at once and the whole community of ants arises in a body. They set upon the reptile, striking their stingers into it at thousands of points. The attack is made with such enormous numbers that the snake has no chance of escape. When the snake is dead the ants will tear off the flesh in small pieces, taking all away with them except the bones and skin.

At The "B. R. Z"
Margaret, I obliged to spend a night with her mother at the Y. W. C. A. I was compelled for lack of a glass and fountain to make a drinking cup of her hands. Margaret, very much impressed, frequently recalled the incident and several months later astonished us by asking: "Mother, why don't you ever let me drink out of your hands like you did that night at the B. R. Z?—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Effective in Ancient Warfare.
Among types of sword famous in the past must be mentioned the great two-handed affair swung by the Germans in tournaments, who were much liked up in the French religious wars. So large was it, it could not be carried at the side in a scabbard, but had to be swung across the back. When the tournaments went into action they had to be stationed a good distance apart, in order to reduce the casualties to the enemy. Each took his stand, started the old scything and developed quite a squire of influence.
