Mr. Gibbs, who since he stepped from the pulpit to pick up the pen, has made a decided improvement in the Estacada paper, and only recently installed a new and improved press. His stay in La Grande will be short as he returns Sunday evening but is making a hurried call on his intimate friends here. But that in itself is quite a task for his intimate friendship list is just as long as his acquaintanceship in this man's city. Mrs. Gibbs may remain a longer period.
